Parliament Honors Prince From Japan

Commons Ends Sitting To Greet Royal Visitors

Prince Takamatsu, Brother of Japanese Emperor, and His Bride Honored at Reception in Senate Chamber at Ottawa; Imperial Tourists Will be Guests at State Dinner This Evening

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 4.—Proceedings were slow in getting under way in the Commons this afternoon. Some minutes after the usual daily prayers, the chamber in camera discussed how long the House should sit in view of the reception in the Senate chamber at 5 o'clock for Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan. The reception was set to be followed by an official dinner this evening in honor of the Japanese Emperor's brother and his bride.

Finally the House decided to adjourn for the day at 5 p.m.

TALKS WITH REPORTERS

In the round of events which have marked the visit of the Prince and Princess since they arrived here Saturday, none was more striking as marking the changed conditions of the present day world than the Prince's interview with newspaper reporters. It had never been the royal customs to grant interviews; but feeling knowledge of Japanese life and ideals was necessary among peoples of other countries if mutual understanding was to be achieved, the Prince broke the rigid rule on this continent.

Political questions were barred at the talk with the reporters. Through Commander Yamagata of the Japanese Navy, his interpreter, the Prince said he preferred not to discuss political questions.

Trade relations between Canada and Japan were growing, and that gave him considerable pleasure.

The closer cementing of relations between Japan and other countries, particularly those of the Western Hemisphere, was a matter of the achievement of which Prince Takamatsu was bending his efforts, and the friendliness now existing between the Flowery Kingdom and the nations of the West was something which gave him the utmost pleasure, he told the group of newspaper men.

PLANES TAKEN OUT OF SERVICE FOR NEW TESTS

Thirty-five Fokker Machines Carry No Passengers in U.S. Till Certain Changes Made

Federal Aviation Officials Make Ruling as Result of Death of Rockne

Associated Press

Washington, May 4—Assistant Secretary Young to-day announced the Commerce Department aeronautics division had ordered discontinuance in passenger service of all Fokker F-10-AFI airplanes in use by four air lines.

The order, which affects approximately thirty-five tri-motor planes, grew out of the investigation of the accident a month ago in which Knute Rockne, Notre Dame University football coach, and seven other persons were killed when a wing came off a plane near Bazaar, Kansas.

CHANGES DISCUSSED

Young said the planes would not necessarily be kept out of passenger service, but that the order would be effective until certain matters of maintenance could be determined.

Anthony Fokker, designer of the plane, was in Washington to-day for a conference with department officials regarding things that must be done to keep the planes in condition.

TELEPHONE QUESTIONS FOR MR. BENNETT

Ottawa, May 4.—Immediately after the start of the sitting of the Commons this afternoon a number of questions were propounded to the government benches.

The first of a series put by Armand Lavergne, Conservative, Montagny, Que., asked: "Is the government aware the Bell Telephone Company has an exclusive monopoly in eastern Canada. Is the government aware the said company exacts excessive rates? What remedy, if any, does the government propose in order to relieve the ratepayers?"

AL CAPONE IS TO GO ON GRILL

Associated Press

Chicago, May 4.—The search for Alphonse Capone went on to-day, and officers served notice there would be no welcome if the gang chieftain should offer to surrender.

Recalling earlier occasions when the authorities have pursued Capone, Pat Roche, chief investigator of the state attorney's office, said:

"Capone is not going to dicker with us through his attorneys. He seems to think he can dictate his terms. We will get Capone ourselves and make our own terms."

Roche wants to ask Capone what he knows of the mysterious disappearance of "Mike de Pike" Heitler, notorious vice leader. A charred body found in a burning shack near Marrington, Ill., last week was identified tentatively as that of Heitler, though no positive identification has been possible.

Universal Income Tax Will Balance Budget Says Jones

Minister of Finance Reviews New Levy Before Chamber of Commerce; Huge Deficits to be Ended; Public Demand for Expenditures Blamed for Increased Levies; Loans Cost Three Dollars for Every Dollar Borrowed

"My time is pretty well taken up these days in explaining what I hope to accomplish by this new tax on incomes," said Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, in an address this afternoon before the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, held at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. The dinner was also attended by the Gyro Club while the orchestra of the Rotary Club provided music.

"A famous French economist once likened tax collecting to sheep shearing and said 'clip as closely as possible but do not draw blood.' That is my policy," Mr. Jones said, giving a review of the development of taxation through the ages. Taxes were necessary and ever would be, he pointed out.

"There are to-day two attitudes towards taxation, those of the 'tax imposers' and those of the 'tax payers'," Mr. Jones said. "The former sometimes regard taxation as a device enabling federal, provincial or municipal bodies to bring about a more equitable distribution of wealth and to compel taxpayers to make greater productive efforts. The taxpayers are inclined to regard even necessary taxation as a discouragement of thrift and a burden upon production."

BURDENSOME DEMANDS

"If we would only simplify our wants and cease making demands on our governing bodies there would be fewer tax burdens," Mr. Jones pointed out. He instanced requests from the Union of Municipalities in January, which involved taking over hospitals and doubled teacher's grants. The cost might have been more than $3,000,000, he said.

Mr. Jones reviewed the financing situation of the last twenty years, declaring that from 1912 to 1916 the government had deficits. In 1917 and 1918 increased taxation was imposed and from 1917 to 1929 deficits continued. In 1929 and 1930 a public demand arose for big road programmes.

Numasaki, Japan, May 4.—The first leg of a projected transpacific flight from Japan to the United States by way of the Kurile and Aleutian Island, the British Columbia coast, Vancouver and Seattle, was completed to-day by Seiji Yoshihara, young Japanese aviator, when he landed here at 3.25 p.m. (10.25 p.m. Sunday, Victoria time) after a 368-mile hop from Tokio.

Carrying goodwill messages from Premier Kakatsuki and others, Yoshihara began his flight at the Taneda airdrome, near Tokio, at 10.10 a.m., after an elaborate ceremony.

GRAIN PITS TO BE REGULATED

Ottawa Dispatch Says Stamp Commission Recommends Government Control

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, May 4.—The Winnipeg Free Press to-day published the following dispatch from Ottawa:

"Sir Josiah Stamp's Royal Commission on Canadian wheat marketing has recommended in its report, now in possession of Premier R. B. Bennett, continuance of trading in wheat futures on the grain exchanges, it was learned here to-day.

"It advises futures trading is necessary to the conduct of the grain trade and handling of the wheat crops of Western Canada.

"It proposes, however, some measure of control over exchange operations.

"The Federal Government is opposed to setting up a national wheat board to take exclusive charge of the marketing of Canadian wheat and demands for such action from western interests are likely to be rejected."

Bank Accounts Escape Sifting In New York Inquiry

New York, May 4.—Commissioner Seabury, special counsel in the approaching legislative investigation of the New York City administration, today said he had no present intention of sending out a blanket subpoena for the bank accounts of city department heads. Such conjectures, he said, were "premature and unwarranted."

James A. Higgins, commissioner of accounts, appeared to-day at the offices of the legislative committee, carrying two small bundles of records. He declined to discuss with reporters the significance of his visit. Several weeks ago Mr. Seabury subpoenaed all records of the commissioner of accounts back to January 11, 1926.

At Dortmund, Mazis engaged in a bitter fight with Republican Reichsbanner men. Seven were beaten and several went to hispitals.

Grain Marketing Plans Advanced By Conferees

Prairie Premiers and Co-operative Leaders Meet at Saskatoon and Debate Federal Board and Other Proposals

Canadian Press

Saskatoon, Sask., May 4.—A conference to decide on a plan for orderly marketing of the 1931 grain crop of the prairies was underway here to-day.

From the conference may come a united demand for the creation of a federal grain board, which would advance initial payments to the agriculturists of the plains and prevent forced selling in the fall.

The prairie premiers, Hon. John Bracken of Manitoba, Hon. J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatoon, and Hon. John E. Brownlee of Alberta, met representatives of the Canadian Wheat Pool, the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section; the United Farmers of Manitoba and groups representing proponents and opponents of the 100 per cent pool.

Premier Bracken last week proposed creation of a federal grain board. He would have the Dominion Government form a board similar to the 1919 organization, which would give wheat producers an initial payment of at least fifty cents a bushel, thus providing orderly marketing instead of a rush to sell as soon as the grain is harvested.

A resolution adopted at the recent session of the Manitoba Legislature favored the Dominion Government instituting a marketing board, but Mr. Bracken will not send the request to Ottawa unless he has the support of both Saskatchewan and Alberta.

GIRL ACCUSED OF MATRICIDE

Lucia Goulet, Seventeen, Held By Police at Rockland, Ontario

Canadian Press

Rockland, Ont., May 4.—Charged with murdering her mother, Mrs. Adelard Goulet, aged fifty-four, on Friday morning last, Lucia Goulet, seventeen, was arrested at her home here to-day. This startling development followed reopening of the investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Goulet, who was originally believed to have committed suicide.

The body of Mrs. Goulet was found in the kitchen of her home after the authorities had been summoned by Lucia. The latter declared she had made the discovery when she returned to the Goulet home in East Rockland after going on an errand for her mother. There were two deep wounds on the neck. A pair of large scissors was nearby.

All indications pointing to a clear case of suicide, the coroner of the district decided it would not be necessary to hold an inquest. But Mrs. F. Charbonneau of Hull, a married daughter of the dead woman, requested the police to conduct a full investigation of the case and to-day's arrest followed.

At a preliminary inquest held here on Sunday, medical examination re-

NEW U.S. BORDER CROSSING RULES DRAFTED AT CAPITAL

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, May 4.—The United States Department of Labor has completed revision of a set of regulations to govern border crossings at Detroit and elsewhere along the international line by persons who live in Canada and work in the United States. If these regulations are satisfactory to the Department of State they will be communicated to the Canadian Government.

The Labor Department's rules are the result of protracted negotiations between Ottawa and Washington. When some months ago the United States Government inaugurated a policy of severe restriction of immigration, authorities at Detroit instituted a rigorous campaign against persons living in Windsor and its vicinity and working in Michigan. It was charged persons who had a legal right to enter and work in the United States were prevented from so doing on small technicalities. The Canadian Government vigorously protested.

The Labor Department drew up a reply which the State Department considered unsatisfactory. It is now learned the Labor Department has completed a revision of its first draft.

CHARGES IN CLOTHING SUIT SCHEME; ALLEGED SWEEP TICKETS TAKEN

Three Men Charged in City Police Court on Alleged Scheme for Disposal of Men's Suits From Local Store; Chief Heatley Says Prosecutions Will Follow Seizure of Tickets in Tobacconists' Stores Saturday Night

Seizure of a number of alleged sweepstake tickets in tobacconists' stores and the appearance of two men in the City Police Court in connection with a drawing for men's suits were latest developments to-day in the city police campaign against games of chance, drawings and lotteries.

Three men are charged on an alleged scheme of suit drawing. They are J. H. Shaw, Bruno Hamel Cooke and Wilfred Briscoe, proprietors of a clothing store, who operated a suit club under which, it is alleged, a person could receive a free suit if securing the lucky number. They were remanded for one week. W. P. Maunsell is defence counsel

RAID CIGAR STORE

Under Inspectors John McLellan and John T. Boulton, police squads visited the shops of E. A. Morris Ltd., and C. A. Steele, 610 View Street, tobacconists, Saturday night and seized quantities of tickets and stubs, alleged to be for the purpose of a sweepstake on the English Derby. Chief Thomas Heatley said charges would be laid in police court this week.

At the Morris establishment 157 stubs with names and addresses on them and fifty-seven tickets were found. Four books of merchandise tickets were found at Steele's store.

SCHEME FOR DRAWING

Cooke and Briscoe appeared in court on the suit charge. Shaw was not present. The charge against the three is that between March 13 and April 27 they "did unlawfully conduct a scheme for the purpose of determining the holders of what numbers are the winners of property proposed to be disposed of."

The plan, it is stated, was one under which each person in the club paid $1 per week, receiving a number. After paying for so many weeks the holder was entitled to receive the suit for which he had paid but in the meantime, if his number corresponded with the last three numerals on the bank clearing figures for the week, he would be entitled to receive an extra suit.

No plea was entered for the defence and the case went over for one week.

Police, under Inspector McLellan, visited the premises, at the corner of View and Douglas Streets, on April 28.

While the new prosecutions have been launched, police are maintaining the search for Arthur English, wanted in connection with the "$1,000,000 lottery" seizure recently. Chief Heatley indicated to-day that his arrest was expected.

PLANNING MAIL FLIGHT ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

COL. JAMES FITZMAURICE

New York, May 4.—Colonel James O. Fitzmaurice, Irish co-pilot of the transatlantic airplane Bremen, to-day announced he would take off June 15 for Europe with the first pay-load of letters and packages in history. He plans to leave New York aboard his new Sikorsky plane and make stops in Newfoundland at Dublin and London before reaching the continent.

The companion of Capt. Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeldin conquering the Atlantic in April, 1928, will be accompanied by A. S. Stanford Jr., former United States navy officer.

On the continent visits are planned for several capitals. He then expects to visit the coast of Africa and fly back by way of South America.

IMPORTS OF RADISHES PAY HIGHER DUTY

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 4—Under the provisions of the Customs Act, Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, to-day fixed the value for duty purposes on importations of radishes at 10 cents a pound, the weight of the package to be included in computing the weight for duty value.

This was announced to-day in a departmental bulletin which, at the same time, carried a notice to appraisers cancelling that portion of the order-in-council of April 22 which fixed a duty value of six cents a pound on potatoes.

To-day's order says that "radishes shipped on consignment without sales prior to shipment, so as to evade the payment of special duty," will be subject to the same special duty as if the goods had been sold prior to shipment.

The order does not apply to radishes purchased bona fide on or before to-day and in transit to Canada on or before May 5.

TWO CYCLISTS ARE INJURED

May Findlay and Gordon Lee Injured To-day and Both Are in Hospital

Two cyclists were taken to the St. Joseph's Hospital this morning with injuries, following traffic mishaps.

May Finlay, 2616 Blanshard Street, suffered two broken ribs when her bicycle collided with the rear of an automobile on Douglas Street, near the intersection of View Street. According to the police report, she was proceeding south when a car in front of her stopped and she piled into the rear of it. She was rendered temporarily unconscious. Dr. A. C. Sinclair attended her in hospital.

When the front tire of his bicycle blew out while he was turning off Johnson Street to Walker's coal wharf, Gordon Lee was thrown over the handle bars of the machine and landed on his right knee, injuring it severely. Dr. John Moore attended him in hospital.

Curb Extravagance But Carefully Check Parings, P. B. Fowler Advises

Retiring President Reviews Conditions at Chamber Annual Meeting

While public bodies should closely examine their affairs in order to do away with unnecessary extravagance and purposeless expenditures, which always creep in during an era of prosperity, all parings should be carefully considered to ascertain that the end justifies the means, P. B. Fowler, retiring president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said in a thoughtful review of the year at the annual meeting of the Chamber this afternoon.

While there had been no marked improvement in business conditions during the last twelve months, he said, each month brought the world nearer an up-turn.

"Business in general has shown no marked improvement since our last meeting a year ago; indeed in various ways it has revealed new bare spots, and is associated in that respect with all major previous depressions. In any event each month sees us nearer an up-turn. We cannot expect a sudden jump back to good times; indeed, a gradual and hardly perceptible growth would be far more beneficial in results and would tend to build a more permanent era of prosperity," said Mr. Fowler.

"The best minds in the world have set themselves the task of endeavoring to unravel the tangle, and this is necessary as the present depression, owing to its wide-flung front, illustrates forcibly the economic interdependence of all nations under modern conditions.

UNWARRANTED CONTRACTION

"There is no doubt but that the psychological effect of the depression on the minds of the people had led to unwarranted contraction in all purchasing power, but while it is necessary for all business and public bodies to closely examine their affairs in order to do away with unnecessary extravagance and purposeless expenditure which always creeps in during an era of prosperity, all parings should be carefully considered to ascertain that the end justifies the means. In any event, the brakes should be applied

Business Leaders Urged To Aid Armament Cuts

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, May 4.—President Hoover, speaking at the opening of the sixth conference of the International Chamber of Commerce here to-day told 1,000 leaders of business in thirty-five nations that the present world economic depression was comparable in its depth and extent only to those which had followed about the same distance after the former great wars of modern history.

The President suggested limitation of armaments as a means of reducing the tax burden of the world. He pointed out the world expenditure on arms was now nearly $5,000,000,000 yearly and that there were 5,500,000 men under arms and 20,000,000 more in reserves, vast forces greatly exceeding those of pre-Great War period.

THEUNIS SPEAKS

The President's comment on the extent of the present depression and his remark, "It is needless for me to emphasize the high degree of economic interdependence of the world," found reiteration in the address of George Theunis, former Premier of Belgium and president of the International Chamber of Commerce, who made the keynote speech for the sixth conference of the chamber.

M. Theunis described the economic crisis as "of such depth and extent

SMUGGLING OF BODIES DENIED

War Graves Officials Say No Soldier Remains Exhumed in France and Sent to Britain

London, May 4.—Major Sir Fabian Ware, vice-chairman of the Imperial War Graves Commission, to-day emphatically denied stories published in The London Sunday Express declaring the bodies of British war dead were being smuggled into England from cemeteries of France and Flanders.

General Ware said the story "was entirely without foundation."

"Not the slightest incident which might substantiate the truth of such a tale has reached my office," said Major H. P. Chettle, director of the records. "Our gardeners surely would see the bodies being exhumed if such a practice were being carried out. The story is at least entirely improbable. In order to remove the bodies, the smugglers would have to evade the law on both sides of the Channel."

The London Sunday Express said bodies of scores of wealthy families who died in the Great War were being smuggled from Belgium to England for reburial. Smugglers, The Express said, landed the bodies on the Essex coast, and prices ran as high as $2,500, depending on the ability of the family to pay.

Blood-stained clothing was later found buried in the yard behind the Goulet home and in a number of the rooms in the dwelling small spots of blood were found on the floor. When she appeared this afternoon before Magistrate Z. T. Erskine a remand for one week was taken on the request of the prosecuting attorney.

TAX TEST IN BRITISH HOUSE

Snowden Moves Land Levy Resolution, Starting Big Political Battle

Canadian Press

London, May 4.—The opening skirmish of what is expected to be one of the bitterest political campaigns great Britain has seen in many years began to-day when Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moved his land tax resolution in the Commons.

It authorizes, for the financial year of 1933-34, and for subsequent years, a tax at the rate of one penny a year for each pound sterling of ascertained value of every unit of land in Great Britain.

"This resolution," Mr. Snowden said, "asserts the right of the community to ownership of land and declares private persons must not enjoy that privilege to the detriment of the common welfare."

SIMPLE TERMS

Mr. Snowden said his proposal was quite simple. The tax would not apply to agricultural land so long as the value of such land was no higher than its value for agricultural purposes. When agricultural land had a higher value, the tax would be levied on the excess above the agricultural value.

The unit of valuation would be every piece of land in separate occupation at the time the valuation was made. The cost of initial valuation probably would run as high as $6,000,000 or more, he said, and revaluations would be made every five years.

JAPAN FLIER MAKES HOP ON WAY TO THIS COAST

stop flight to the Puget Sound region, said it would be "almost a miracle" if Yoshihara succeeded, but he wished the Japanese aviator good luck. Yoshihara replied in kind, extending best wishes to Ash.

6,300-MILE FLIGHT

Tokio, May 4.—With the White House at Washington his ultimate destination, Seiji Yoshihara, the "Lindbergh of Japan," soared away from the Tanada airdrome here to-day on the first leg of a 6,260-mile flight to the United States by way of the British Columbia coast, with Numasaki, 368 miles north of here, scheduled as his first stop.

His route lies along the Kurile Islands, extending northeastward from Japan, and the Aleutian Island to Alaska, thence down the British Columbia coast to Vancouver and Seattle and on to San Francisco. He plans to make about twenty stops for fuel and supplies en route to San Francisco.

If successful, the twenty-seven-year-old flier will deliver to President Hoover messages of goodwill from Premier Wakatsuki, Minister of Communications; Koisumi Seiji Noma, Japanese magazine king and principal backer of the flight, and Mayor Nagata of Tokio.

CHEERED BY THOUSANDS

Yoshihara began his flight amid the cheers of tens of thousands who gathered at the airdrome to bid him farewell. The start was made after elaborate ceremonies, in which participated princes of imperial blood, important government officials and foreign diplomats.

After formalities and speeches were concluded, Yoshihara took a sip of sacred sake, a rice wine, from the Maiji Shrine, handed him by a Shinto Priest. A band then played the National Anthem, "Kimigayo."

Bowing many times to the huge throng, Yoshihara walked down a gangplank to his pontooned plane and donned his flying togs. Soon he was off, accompanied by a blimp and six other planes.

He carried a small quantity of food in the form of rice cakes.

WATER JUMPS

He hoped to complete the first stage of the journey to Numasaki to-day. The next jump would take him 297 miles farther north to the extreme tip of Hokkaido Island. Then his itinerary calls for flights over the Kuile Islands to Petropavlovsk, Siberia, over Bering Sea to the Aleutians and after several stops, to Seward, Alaska. From there he plans to fly southward along the British Columbia coast, the stops to include Vancouver and Seattle.

The young flier speaks English poorly, but is better versed in German. His ignorance of the language will prove no deterrent to his success, he believes, and he expressed confidence he would complete the flight without a mishap despite the gales which swirl from the Arctic Circle and the fog which during May obscures the Aleutian Islands more than a quarter of the time.

GASOLINE AT ATTU

Dutch Harbor, Alaska, May 4.—The steamer Kokussi Maru yesterday unloaded gasoline and other supplies at Attu Island, to be used by Seiji Yoshihara, Japanese aviator, on his projected goodwill flight from Tokio to the United States, by way of the British Columbia coast, the first stage of which he completed when he landed at Numasaki, Japan. Attu, at the extreme end of the Aleutian Islands, southwestern Alaska, was chosen as one of the stopping points of the Japanese flier on his transpacific flight.

A number of newspaper reporters also landed at Attu from the ship.

"I was examining my fur coat today." "How is the old rabbit skin?" "In the mink of condition, my dear."

FOURTH MURDER AT SAN DIEGO

Hazel Bradshaw, 22, Found Stabbed; Slayers of Other Women Still at Large

Associated Press

San Diego, Calif., May 4.—Beautiful Hazel Bradshaw, who, at twenty-two, was the principal support of her mother and nine brothers and sisters, in death to-day provided the fourth of a series of shocking murders which have stunned this city.

The body was found yesterday with seventeen stab wounds in it, lying near the adobe wall of the Indian village built as part of San Diego's Exposition of 1915.

Although the slaying was the fourth in recent weeks, police declared there was no link between her death and that of ten-year-old Virginia Brooks, whose body was found March 11, popular Louis E. Teuber, seventeen years old, hanged two weeks ago, or Mrs. Dolly Bibbens, strangled in her apartment. No clue to the slayers of Virginia Brooks and Miss Teuber have been found. A move to extrade a man from Pennsylvania in the Bibber's case is under way.

Shortly after the body of Miss Bradshaw was found and newspaper extras appeared on the streets, M. E. Garrison, thirty-five, walked into police headquarters and said:

"I hear Hazel is dead."

STEWARD'S STORY

Garrison, a steward in the commissary department of the San Diego and Arizona Railroad, for which Miss Bradshaw worked as a telephone operator, was the woman's suitor.

The man readily admitted he had been with Miss Bradshaw Saturday evening.

"We went to two movies together," he said. "We generally did that on Saturday nights. Then we walked through the park, past the merry-go-round and the Indian village to her home. Left her at the door at 11.55 p.m. and saw her enter before I ran to catch my street car home."

QUESTIONED BY POLICE

Police were not satisfied with Garrison's story and placed him under arrest for further questioning.

It was said Mrs. C. A. Bradshaw, Hazel's mother, did not hear her daughter come home.

Mrs. Bradshaw said she did not worry when Hazel failed to come home after work as she usually went to a show on Saturday evening, but when she did not come home after the show, she could not sleep. She lay awake listening.

There was a discrepancy in Garrison's story, too, police said. Garrison said he had bought candy for the girl, but the coroner's autopsy showed clearly she had not eaten during the evening. Also her watch, stopped apparently by blood, registered 9.43.

NO CLUES FOUND

A thorough search of the Indian village in Balboa Park, which now serves as headquarters for San Diego Boy Scout troops, failed to reveal anything of importance as a clue. No knife was found. A bottle was discovered a dozen paces from the body. It contained a small amount of red wine. A man's handkerchief had been stuffed into the mouth of the girl. No identification marks were found on it immediately.

"I had a premonition something like this would happen," Mrs. Bradshaw said when told of the death of her daughter. "I told Hazel she was so pretty and her men friends took it so hard when she disappointed them that she would have to be careful.

"She said: 'Don't you worry, mother. One of them did threaten me, but nothing happened'."

Police said they understood Garrison had threatened to kill Miss Bradshaw and himself if she should refuse to marry him.

Several other men were questioned, but all were released within a few minutes.

The father of the slain girl is in Pensacola, Fla., where Hazel's eldest brother, Charles, a sailor, was shot to death last December.

The Bradshaws came here five years ago from Logan, W. Va., their former home.

SOUGHT FOR TRIAL

Sacramento, Calif., May 4.—Extradition papers were issued at the Govenor's office here to-day for Henry Charles Yardley, under arrest at Uniontown, Pa., on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Mrs. Dollie Bibbens in San Diego April 15.

DO-X To-day At Bolama, Africa

Berlin, May 4.—Captain Friedrich Christiansen, commander of the big German flying boat DO-X, sent word to-day the plane had landed at Bolama, Portuguese West Africa, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon (7 a.m. yesterday, Victoria time).

The message said the trip, which was one of the longest yet essayed by te Dornier plane, had been made without incident. The craft had flown to Bolama from Villa Cisneros, in Spanish Rio de Oro, a distance of about 950 miles. From Bloama it is hoped to begin the ocean leg of the long-deferred flight to Brazil.

The flight to Pernanbico, Brazil, is almost twice the distance covered in yesterday's hop. Whether the DO-X will attempt a non-stop flight or will make an intermediate descent at a tank ship for refueling could not be stated by the Dornier officers.

"All depends on the forthcoming test flights under tropical conditions which might even indicate the year already is too far advanced for equatorial flying," it was said.

C. LAWRENCE OF RAILWAY BOARD DIES

Succumbs in Ottawa; Three Vacancies on Commission Are to Be Filled

Mr. Justice C. P. Fullerton of Manitoba Is Mentioned For Post of Chairman

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 4.—Calvin Lawrence, a member of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, died here to-day in his seventy-fifth year. He had not occupied his seat on the bench since December, and because of indifferent health had spent the winter in the south. He returned to Ottawa a short time ago.

Mr. Lawrence had been associated with railroading most of his life. Born near Woodstock, Ont., he moved to St. Thomas, Ont., early in life and became an employee of the Michigan Central Railway. For years he was actively engaged as a locomotive engineer on that road, later becoming an officer of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Giving up active railroading, Mr. Lawrence for a number of years was parliamentary representative of the brotherhood in Ottawa, and in November, 1921, was appointed to the Railway Commission by the Meighen Government. During the war he was a member of the Draft Appeal Board.

Commissioner Lawrence represented labor on the Railway Board.

THREE VACANCIES

The death creates the third vacancy, Chief Commissioner H. A. McKeown, K.C., and Deputy Chief Commissioner Thomas Vien having resigned a short time ago. Mr. Justice C. P. Fullerton of the Manitoba Appeal Court is mentioned as the probable successor to the Chief Commissioner.

Commissioner Lawrence is survived by a widow, one son, A. C. Lawrence of Sacramento, Calif., one brother in Woodstock, Ont., and one sister, Mrs. William Bean of Brantford, Ont.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

slowly so as not to unduly upset the equilibrium which is already suffering a severe strain. In Canada, and British Columbia in particular, we have not suffered to the same extent as elsewhere, partly no doubt owing to our relatively small population and our large per capita production capacity, and also to our inherent respect for a constituted government, the lack of which in some other countries of the world has accentuated conditions and led to prolonged malaise.

DISPEL FEAR AND PESSIMISM

"I trust that the next annual meeting will receive an address from the incoming president full of cheerful news and of hopes realized, but it cannot express a more unbounded faith in Canada and its future than I possess to-day. I would like to quote from a resolution of the council of the International Chamber of Commerce passed in Paris last December:

"This council, therefore, urges upon everyone in every country and in every walk of life the necessity of dispelling fear and pessimism, of promoting permanent peace and of active co-operation in courageously and persistently lending a hand in bringing about a rapid readjustment of the economic machinery to the end that normal conditions may be restored at the earliest possible moment.'

"In conclusion I would like to tender my thanks to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and to the membership at large for the assistance they have rendered me during my tenure of office, and more especially it is a pleasure to express my appreciation to Mr. Warren, the managing secretary, for his faithfulness, initiative and judgment in all matters connected with the chamber and the amount of work he performs not only for this chamber but also for the publicity bureau, very often at a great sacrifice of his personal time and outside of business hours."

as the world had never seen before," and he continued "the world is economically a single unit." He said lack of observance of the doctrine of understanding between nations "is largely responsible for our present misfortune."

Proceeding to a review of the general situation, M. Theunis expressed the conviction that causes of the depression were of universal character, namely, "relative overcapitalization, arbitrary halting, interventon on the part of the government and economic nationalism."

Touching on finance M. Theunis noted most countries faced budget difficulties. The gold solution was far from satisfactory. "The fundamental cause of the unequal distribution of gold," he said, "lies in the uncertain political situation and in the protectionist policies which prevent goods from taking the place of gold."

In the overproduction of silver lay a deep-seated cause of depression, he said.

TARIFF BARRIERS

Discussing tariff policies, he said, that "in a general way national tariff policies have followed a course far from satisfactory. On all sides were seen tariffs increasing and trade barriers being raised between states. I personally am convinced the commercial policy and the customs tariff in force in most of the countries of the world constitute one of the fundamental causes of our actual economic depression. A liberal customs policy might be expected to lead to better business conditions."

Lisbon, Portugal, May 4.—The Portuguese government, which has just put down a revolt at Madeira, now has a new rebellion on its hands in Portuguese Guinea on the coast of Africa.

On the arrival of the freighter Maria Amelia from Portuguest Guinea, Colonel Leite Magalhaes, the governor, and other principal officers of the colony who were aboard, said a rebel junta was now n control at Bolama, the capital.

The crash in stock market was followed by a tremendous decrease in values. In all, the deficits were more than $24,000,000 only two years having surpluses.

The minister said that when called to the finance portfolio last November the situation confronting him was a net debt of $102,000,000, involving huge interest and sinking funds charges. He said the annual public debt charges were as follows: 1922-23, $5,249,000; 1928-29, $7,023,000; 1929-30, $7,334,000; and 1931-32, estimated at $8,675,000.

VAST COMMITMENTS

Liabilities supposed to have been self-supporting amounted to $19,115,732, with annual charges of $1,367,356. University loans of $5,723,000 required $398,585 annually, the Land Settlement Board had $6,727,727 costing $484,427 each year, the Oliver project cost $3,401,413 and yearly charges were $237,581, irrigation loans amount to $2,263,561 with charges of $164,520 and industries received $1,000,000, now requiring $62,243 each year.

In addition there was the liability on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, amounting to $34,641,800, which last year cost the people $1,940,739.

Including accumulated deficits the improductive debt now amounted to $77,825,235, requiring $5,021,120 annually to be provided from taxation.

"You will have to continue paying that for the next fifteen or twenty years, and you will have repaid three dollars for every one borowed. Think of that when you ask for a beautiful courthouse here in Victoria. Each dollar borrowed for thirty years means you pay back three," Mr. Jones said.

TRIPLE SOCIAL SERVICES

The cost of social services now amounted to $5,063,120, while eight years ago the cost was $1,691,649. The hospitals cost $2,063,190, compared with $1,227,000 eight years ago; Mothers Pensions at $850,000 were doubled, Old Age Pensions required $650,000 and unemployment expenditures amounted to $1,350,000.

"Do you want any of these cut out? If you want such services they must be paid for," he said.

Mr. Jones said that, had it not been for increases of an unavoidable character, reductions of $2,000,000 in government expenses would have been made. He had insisted upon a balanced budget, and could have raised the required funds by adding a dozen small taxes. Such a policy was not, in his opinion, proper, when such a method as was adopted was available.

NO LOOPHOLES

Mr. Jones discussed the new one per cent levy, explaining the method of collecting. He declared that no evasion would be possible in the collection, employers being held responsible for that duty. Where man and wife both earned income the levy would be collected on the joint income.

"We have tried to make the burden as easy as possible. It must be remembered that the many paying regular income taxes pays taxes also to the federal government," the Minister said, citing comparative payments contributed by different incomes

"The man who has $20,000 annually is paying 13.56 per cent to the federal and provincial governments," he said. "To have raised the regular income tax would have meant a levy of 3½ per cent," he said, estimating that the new tax would produce $2,500,000 annually.

MUNICIPALITIES BENEFIT

Mr. Jones pointed out that, as a result of the distribution of $500,000 for schools, Victoria city taxpayers received a reduction in the city's tax rate.

He was confident he would be able to present a balance between income and expenditures at the end of the year.

IMPROVED CREDIT

The effect in eastern financial centres had been most satisfactory, an issue of bonds having brought $117,000 more than had been offered prior to the announcement of the new tax, and the pledge to balance accounts.

"Is this tax going to work a hardship on anyone?" Mr. Jones asked, remarking on the great demands being made for social expenditures and to meet the unemployment situation. "I am sure I can rely on the support of you gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce and Gyro. I have to look after the handling of between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000. I am giving my best effort to the task. I ask you not to come to us with too many demands for money," he concluded.

The vote of thanks was moved by Reeve Hayward of Oak Bay and seconded by Reeve Crouch of Saanich.

THOMAS SPEAKS OF EMPIRE TRADE

London, May 4.—"The British Government representatives will go to the Imperial Conference at Ottawa to make a bargain with a desire to co-operate with the dominions and recognize economic facts, and make a genuine gesture to help the dominions in their difficulties, to which I believe the dominions will respond," said Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, speaking at Derby.

He declared there could be no better contribution to a solution of the unemployment problem than a larger share of inter-empire trade. It would be a waste of time to talk about empire free trade, because there was not a dominion which did not laugh it to scorn, he said. Similarly, it would be a waste of time to talk about food taxes, because the people of this country would not have them. He believed, however, that within the British Commonwealth there were greater possibilities for trade than [illegible]

SWEDISH PLANE ON RESCUE HOP AT GREENLAND

Ahrenberg Within Flying Distance of Region Where A. Courtauld Awaits Help

May Be Able to Pick Scientist Up; Three Dogteam Parties in Field

Canadian Press

Angmagsalik, Greenland, May 4.—Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish aviator, was within flying distance to-day of the tiny hut on the Greenland ice cap where Augustine Courtauld, British explorer, has been marooned for months.

After one false start Capt. Ahrenberg and his radio man flew here yesterday from Reykjavik, Iceland, in five hours, completing a dangerous flight across the north Atlantic from Malmo, Sweden, in four stages. Formation of ice on the wings of their plane prevented them from continuing their journey in search of the isolated Britisher.

MAY MAKE RESCUE

Capt. Ahrenberg's immediate destination is the main camp of the British Arctic Air Route Expedition, about forty miles inland, and afterward the meteorological station, about 150 miles inland, where Courtauld volunteered to spend the winter gathering data for a proposed air line between Britain and Canada. He plans to drop food for the explorer and possibly make a landing to bring him back.

Meanwhile three dog-team expeditions are presumed to be nearing their objective. Nothing has been heard from them for some time.

CHIANG SCORES IN PARTY TILT

Shanghai, China, May 4.—Indications that the Kuomintang (People's Party) of Kwangtgung Province was continuing its movement against Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nationalist Government, appeared in dispatches from Canton to-day.

Reports from the Kwangtung capital said that province would not participate in the National People's Congress at Nanking to-morrow. They stated resolutions were adopted at a mass meeting Sunday looking toward furthering charges of abuse of power and inefficiency against President Chiang. His retirement was demanded.

A censorship was clamped on at Canton soon after Koo Ying-fan had replaced Cheng Ming-shu as Acting Governor of Kwantgung. Koo Ying-fan factions took control of all telegraph and wireless communication, but the capital was reported quiet.

Chen Ming-shu was a government supporter, while his successor is said to lean toward anti-Nanking agitators.

NOT TO BE HEARD

President Chiang, however, was acknowledged to have won a victory today when the Nationalist control committee, which hears all charges against government officials, stated it did not feel the charges by the Kwangtung organization were worthy of consideration.

The split within the country's dominating political party, coupled with a difficult position in regard to extra-territoriality rights of foreign nations, was considered the most serious threat to the government since the revolt of northern war lords last year.

NANAIMO BEATEN BY COWICHAN IN CRICKET MATCH

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, May 4.—Nanaimo cricketers were defeated in their opening game to-day by Cowichan in a short scoring game.

Cowichan batted first, sending in Green and Appleby. Green was bowled lbw by Burn after scoring four runs. Mowbray came in and, after a lively innings, was dismissed with twenty runs to his credit. Walton battled well, scoring 21 in an innings of perfect cricket. Waugh was Nanaimo's best bowler, securing four wickets for nine runs.

Cowichan's fielding was the deciding factor in winning the game. Mowbray and Ball bowled well for Cowichan, their respective averages being 5 for 20 and 4 for 16.

Nanaimo batsmen could not get going at all, the highest scorer being Frater, with ten runs, and the only player on his side to reach double figures.

BIG RANSOM PAID BANDITS FOR CHICAGOAN

John Hackett, Wealthy Slot Machine Operator, Freed By Robbers

Chicago, May 4.—Police learned yesterday evening that John Hackett, wealthy slot machine operator in suburban Blue Island, was kidnapped Friday and released Saturday on payment of $75,000 cash ransom.

Hackett was forced into an automobile at the Idaho Golf Club grounds and blindfolded, then borne into the country.

His abductors demanded $175,000 in a message sent to James E. Blouin, an associate. Blouin said he took $75,000 in an envelope and went alone to an undisclosed meeting place somewhere in South Chicago, where he turned over the money. Hackett was released and returned home.

A month ago yesterday a bomb was planted in the basement of a roadhouse owned by Hackett in Blue Island. William Maier, fifty-two, discovered it before the fuse had burned down. As he left the building, the bombers opened fire on him with a machine gun and he was killed.

A. MACMURCHY, BARRISTER OF TORONTO, DIES

Man Long Known as Solicitor of C.P.R. Succumbs Aboard Train

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 4.—Angus MacMurchy, K.C., solicitor at Toronto for Canadian Pacific Railway, died suddenly on a train between Montreal and Toronto yesterday.

Mr. MacMurchy was returning from a six weeks' trip to Britain and continental European points. Death was due to heart attack with which he had been seized during the night.

Mr. MacMurchy had been with the Canadian Pacific Railway as solicitor for four decades and was probably one of its oldest officials in point of service. He was in his seventy-first year and was a recognized authority on railway law. He was a member of the board of governors of Toronto University and connected with many other activities of public life.

Surviving are the widow and three sisters, Lady Willison of Toronto, Doctor Helen MacMurchy of the Department of Health, Ottawa, and Miss Bessie MacMurchy of Toronto.

QUEBEC SCENE OF $300,000 FIRE

Canadian Press

Quebec, May 1.—Causing damage now estimated at over $300,000, the most disastrous fire in Quebec City for some years broke out Saturday afternoon in the centre of the leather industry district. Four establishments were destroyed by the flames, together with two residences. Eight other houses were badly damaged by fire, while almost a score of neighboring houses received slight damage from smoke and water.

Fears were entertained that a widespread conflagration sections would break out in one of the most densely built industrial sections of the old city, but splendid work by a large squad of firemen brought the flames under control after a three-hour fight.

HALF DOZEN ARE KILLED IN EGYPT CLASH

Cairo, Egypt, May 4.—Eight demonstrators were reported killed and forty-six injured when police opened fire with rifles during riots at Benisuef yesterday afternoon. Seven policemen also were said to have been hurt. The number of casualties was reported from a Wafdist (Nationalist) source, but does not agree with that of the Ministry of the Interior, where it was stated six demonstrators were killed and three wounded and seven policemen injured.

The disorders followed arrival at Benisuef of the Wafdist leader, Nahas Pasha, and six members of his executive committee, who motored there and entered the house of a prominent member of the organization.

News of their visit quickly spread and a crowd gathered in front of the house.

Police who hurried to the scene were attacked by the crowd and their commander took refuge in the house, where the Wafdist leaders had assembled. Eventually the officers opened fire and drove off the attackers.

The Wafdists and several Liberals later left the town.

EARTH SHOCKS IN LANCASHIRE

Manchester, Eng., May 4.—The people of the peaceful countryside of East Lancashire were alarmed early yesterday by sharp earth tremors, which were felt over a large area. No casualties were reported, but there was some property damage.

At Eccles, buildings were slightly damaged and a number of chimneys shaken down. A telephone operator at the exchange was hurled from her seat.

People ran in alarm from their homes in Salford when the buildings were shaken and chimneys crashed down. The tremors also were felt at Old Trafford, Bolton.

The incident was an unpleasant surprise to Lancashiremen, who are not used to such manifestations of nature.

GANDHI GOES TEMPERAMENTAL

New Delhi, India, May 4.—All India is gossiping in surprise over Mahatma Gandhi's unprecedented action in laying aside his spinning wheel and his reading of sacred Hindu scriptures last week to appear as the "star" in a talking picture during an interview.

In allowing himself to be filmed, India's famous political and spiritual reformer departed from a vow of twenty-five years standing not to pose for photographers.

The operators declared the little Nationalist leader surpassed the caprices and "temperaments" of Hollywood's leading movie stars.

At one point he protested against being "tortured."

Ancient Fortress Found in Europe

Cambridge, Mass., May 4.—Discovery of a 4,000-year-old fortress at Homolka, Bohemia, was announced yesterday evening by the Peabody Museum of Harvard and the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. It was described as "the most complete settlement of the New Stone Age ever brought to light."

The fortress crowned a round hill eighty feet above a surrounding valley. Clearing top soil from this great mound disclosed it is made of soft rock, in which are holes cut for palisades 4,000 years ago. In the soil about were telltale evidences of an ancient people.

Cottage and Two Stables Burned

Winnipeg, May 4.—Extensive bush fires threatened destruction of Matlock, picturesque Lake Winnipeg summer resort, forty miles north of here, Sunday.

Swept by a high wind, the fire advanced toward the town with great rapidity and was within a quarter of a mile of the summer dwellings when brought under control. From another section came a new threat. Flames again headed for the resort and residents were preparing to leave when more than a score of fire fighters brought that fire in check.

A cottage and two stables on the edge of the town set afire by sparks from the blazing bush were destroyed.

FLIGHT ABANDONED

THIEF WOUNDED BY AGED MAN

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, May 4.—William La Ferriere, pioneer storekeeper of Silver Plains, fifty miles south of Winnipeg, demonstrated his ability to use a shotgun when two youthful bandits attempted to rob his store early Sunday morning.

The result, a Winnipeg youth of eighteen is in a hospital here with a shotgun wound in his thigh, while the other, a juvenile, is held by police on a charge of robbery. The older youth's wound is not serious, and he will face a robbery charge when released from the hospital.

Robbed two weeks ago, La Ferriere was prepared. He watched the youths cut telephone wires leading to the store, and saw them draw revolvers and start firing, with the object, apparently of frightening the aged man. The young bandits fired at a gasoline pump.

La Ferriere immediately started a return fire, the older assailant falling to the ground, while his companion fled in an automobile.

The juvenile was captured in the car near Winnipeg.

Some Rock Garden Notes

By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

Many years ago, when the writer first commenced to contribute gardening articles to this paper, he said that rock gardening was taking hold of this continent from one end to the other. To-day rock gardening has a very fine grip on Canada and the United States. In the magazine section of The New York Times will be found articles on this subject. In fact a series of five articles are running now with splendid illustrations. When one thinks that ten years ago there were probably not more than ten worthwhile rock gardens in the whole of the United States, one is led to the conclusion that there is something in rock gardening that attracts people and holds their interest.

The number of American books on the subject that have appeared within the last year goes to further prove this point. The latest book, and one of the best, is written by a Seattle lady who is a frequent visitor in Victoria, Mrs. Anderson McCully. Her book, "American Alpines in the Garden," treats of the wild things that grow in the mountains of British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and northern California, with notes on some that grow in Montana and adjoining states. All the plants dealt with, 535 subjects, have all been introduced into gardens and have proved themselves amenable to cultivation.

Limited to plants of proven trustworthiness, this new book is a key to easy success everywhere with the beautiful plants native to our Pacific Coast mountains. Long neglected by garden makers, they are now coming into their own; garden magazines feature them in articles, lectures about them are in popular demand; and nurseries are rapidly making them generally available.

The book is written in a clear manner which anyone can understand, and the directions are most carefully given as each and every plant described has been grown by Mrs. McCully in her own Seattle garden.

The book is published by the Macmillan Company of Canada, Toronto, and is available at any good book store. It should be in the library of every keen British Columbia gardener.

VICTORIA IS LEADER

Among the first places that went in for rock gardening in America was Vicoria. At first it was simply a matter of planting flowers among our native rocks, but by and by many people began to take an interest in real rock garden plants and alpines, with the result that to-day, if you talk gardening in any part of Canada, it won't be long before Victoria is mentioned. Mr. Butchart's garden has done, one believes, more to foster rock gardening in Canada than any one other garden. Another very famous rock garden is that of Mr. Cleveland Morgan, near Montreal, but, although it is well known in the east, it is so far away that we don't hear so much of it on this coast.

Anyway, rock gardening has come to stay and in both Victoria and Vancouver the rock gardens are better than ever this spring. In some of these that were started several years ago, the plants have become well-established and have grown into the masses that one sees in the Alps, and other European mountain ranges and in the Rockies. This can only be accomplished by time, though proper preparation and planting will hurry matters along a great deal. Still, the rock garden, like every other kind of garden, is not at its best until it has been growing for several years. The moral of this is, if you want a rock garden, start it at once.

CAN BE PLANT'D ANY TIME

Many people are under the impression that a rock garden can only be made in the spring or in the fall. This was true years ago when it was difficult to get plants except at these times for the reason that the plants were dug from the open ground. To-day things are different because nearly all alpines and rock garden subjects are grown in pots and may, therefore, be planted during any month of the year. Grown in this way a splendid root system is developed and the plant, when transferred to the open ground, goes right ahead, never having known that it was transplanted, except that it has so much more feed than it had in the pot that it is bound to grow quickly.

So, if you have an idea of making a rock garden, do it now, during the summer months and experience the greatest "kick" that there is in the whole of the gardening hobby.

OUR VANISHING DOUGLAS FIR

TWENTY YEARS IS THE REMAINING span of life for the mature stand of Douglas fir in British Columbia if the export of this commodity continues to expand as it has done in recent years. This startling statement was made by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Lands in the Tolmie government, before the Rotary Club at its luncheon last Thursday.

From time to time since Douglas fir established its popularity for size and strength the public has been warned that unlimited cutting would bring depletion in its wake sooner than popularly supposed. It has been explained that nothing like sufficient reforestation is going on to make up for what is being taken out. Now comes Mr. Lougheed's timely reminder of the truth of these warnings.

In the Minister's opinion, one way of delaying the evil day of the final disappearance of the mature stands of Douglas fir is to educate timber buyers in the merit of hemlock, cedar and pine—and persuade them to buy more of these woods. He admits that a good deal of persistence will be required if the more precious commodity is to be ousted, or the demand for it considerably decreased, in favor of the other varieties.

This is a matter in which every citizen of British Columbia is interested, since the lumber industry is one of the province's chief industries. Something like $225,000,000 is invested in timber and plant, with an annual payroll of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 to about 42,000 workers. It will thus be understood how necessary it is to preserve as much as practicable the stands of Douglas fir through increasing the demand for hemlock, cedar and pine.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

WHEN HE WAS ASKED IN THE House of Commons last week if it were true that he had made a promise to pay ninety-five per cent of the cost of old age pensions, Premier Bennett answered that "no such promise was made." When pressed for details, he replied—"that is all I propose to say." It is for the public to try to guess what he now has in mind about old age pensions. His key speech of last summer's campaign, however, contained the following: "We pledge ourselves to a national old age pension scheme."

While Mr. Bennett apparently does not intend to say anything more on the subject until he feels so disposed, it is interesting to refer to the records and note how he changed between the time when he attacked the measure in Parliament in 1926—followed by the defeat of the bill by the Conservative majority in the Senate—and the summer of last year.

MR. BENNETT IN THE HOUSE 1926	MR. BENNETT ON THE HUSTINGS 1930
I am convinced that it (the government's old age pensions scheme) cannot succeed without the co-operation of all the provinces unless the Dominion, in defiance of our constitutional jurisdiction, as voiced by the deputy minister of justice, sees fit to undertake the whole responsibility, which would involve us in the expenditure of $23,000,000 per annum, and in a very short time an expenditure of $40,000,000, an expenditure entirely too large for us to undertake at the present time.	If the Conservative party should succeed on July 28, and I have every reason to believe it will, I will see to it that old age pensions are paid to every province of the Dominion from the federal treasury. It is a national obligation. Premier King says it cannot be done constitutionally. If the Dominion can pay 50 per cent of the old age pensions, why can not it pay 99 per cent?

In view of this complete about-turn, it would not be at all surprising if Mr. Bennett has some new idea for old age pensions now. In any case, if he did not promise to contribute ninety-five per cent of the cost, he will be bound to admit that he promised that the federal treasury would pay the whole of the cost.

FEELING THE EFFECT

"The new tariffs put into effect by the United States and Canada during 1930 have had quite an effect on the business of your subsidiary. The loss in interchange of loaded cars between the Canadian Pacific and the Soo Line amounted to 13,918 cars for the year."—An extract from the annual report of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

WHEN TARIFFS GO UP IT MAY SEEM to the casual observer that all that happens is a slight contraction of imports and exports. That is merely the base of the trouble. A drop in imports and exports means contraction of business all along the line. The point emphasized by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company shows how the transportation business has been hit by this contraction of trade exchange.

Nor does the end appear to be in sight. No fewer than forty-five nations have retaliated against the United States with higher tariffs to meet the Hawley-Smoot tariff. Since the present Canadian government boosted its tariff six months ago, twenty-three nations have replied to Canada with similar increases. As we do business with something like seventy nations, the other forty-seven no doubt will be heard from later.

This is the vicious circle of the tariff. The majority suffer while a few wax wealthy on the proceeds of the higher duties—which the public pays in one form or another.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

ONE INDUSTRIAL CONCERN IN VANcouver announces that if the people of British Columbia would buy only its products instead of similar products brought in from other parts of Canada and the United States, it would be able to find work for 425 more people, thus increasing its working force to 550. It would hardly be possible to bring about this transformation in one establishment, as there are several other British Columbia firms engaged in the same business. But the statement which the firm makes is important at this time because it serves to draw attention to one way the public may help to revive industry and create more employment. And what applies to one industry applies with equal force to scores of others. The success which would attend the intensive application of the principle, however, would be determined largely by the ability of the local product's quality and price to score over the imported commodity.

In this regard Hon. J. H. Hinchliffe is making no mistake in having printed on the flyleaf of all new school text books the pledge by which students assert their determination to support Canadian products and institutions. This is a form of economics which, if taught in the classroom, should bear useful fruit when the young men and women of to-day become householders and home-owners. But a pledge is scarcely sufficient. Simple figures that can be easily understood should be made public from time to time by competent authorities. By this means it ought to be possible to develop a Canadian consciousness which will work in the direction desired without any special effort. It should become generally natural to demand Canadian goods, not to the exclusion of all others, for exchange is the basis of trade, but to an extent that should very largely avert periods of unemployment such as that through which the country now is passing.

BUTTER PRICES

WHEN IT DISCUSSES THE PRICE OF butter The Ottawa Citizen naturally feels like saying "we told you so." In its arguments last year in opposition to scrapping the New Zealand butter treaty it had this to say:

> If New Zealand butter is barred, butter prices in Canada will probably rise. But they will not stay that way long. Production will increase. Then butter will be on an export basis again. Then the prices will go down again. The farmers will be no better off.

The occasion of the comment at this stage is the fact that butter is selling in Ottawa at twenty-five cents a pound and is expected to go down as low as twenty cents. This will be ten cents a pound cheaper than a year ago, and ten cents a pound cheaper than when the New Zealand treaty was abrogated.

Experts explain that low prices have been brought about by an increased output of Canadian butter of no less than one-third over the same period of last year, and that "an impetus has been given the butter-making industry by the substantial tariff on New Zealand butter." The Citizen wants to know what sort of an "impetus" is it that brings prices down by thirty per cent.

The president of the Dairy Council, as mentioned in these columns recently, says that body always has been of the opinion that a four-cent tariff would be of more lasting benefit than an eight-cent tariff, since as soon as export begins, the effect of the tariff largely disappears. At that stage the domestic price is governed by the world price. "We are now face to face with this condition," says this official.

Meanwhile, the Dominion Minister of Agriculture has called a conference to deal with the problem of the surplus that is piling up—as a direct result of the eight-cent tariff. As The Ottawa Citizen observes, "once more the tariff has failed to work." Instead of higher prices, the butter men are getting much lower prices.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

KNEW THEM TOO WELL
The Woodstock Sentinel-Review

Dr. H. L. Brittain of the Bureau of Municipal Research tells a story of two municipal electors who entered adjoining polling compartments, and one was heard to say that he knew none of the candidates and did not care to vote. The other replied: "I know them all, and I don't want to vote, either." It illustrates a not uncommon predicament.

TYPEWRITER COUNTS THE WORDS
The Popular Science Monthly

Now you can tell the length of a story or letter as you type it. A little device that counts words written by typewriters is the product of a firm of instrument makers in Hartford, Conn. It is operated from the space bar. Every time you depress it after writing a words, the device tallies up a word for you. Any one of several makes of standard typewriters can be fitted with this counter, which registers words just as the odometer of a motorcar counts the miles passed on a trip.

PROMISES THAT HURT
The Regina Leader

The lot of the unemployed is something to cause the deepest concern in the community. Men must eat, and if they are unable to find the means of eating they are practically forced to do things for themselves.

This is the cause of the spasmodic rioting that has been reported from a number of Canadian cities during the last ten days. Open fighting between a mob and the police has taken place at Winnipeg and a number of injured had to be taken to the hospitals.

It is well known that a type of individual known as an "agitator" is partly responsible for the extreme demands made on the state and for the leadership that does not shrink at bloodshed. At the same time it must be realized that the extreme radical who would upset the world, flourishes in times of unusual unemployment because at such a time he finds human material for the work he has in mind.

The present situation is worse than it might have been, the minds of the unemployed are more easily inflamed than might have been the case, the disappointment of not being able to find a job is sharper because less than a year ago rosy schemes were held up to the people of Canada in which unemployment was to be taken care of over-night. Politicians appealed to the people for votes on the ground that they would take care of the problem of unemployment, and definite assurances were the unemployed that work would be found for all. The politicians have not kept their word. That is the saddest feature of a tragic situation. Too much was promised.

Loose Ends

A miracle of conversion is performed on our very doorstep — A staggering feat of logic is recorded—One man does the obvious thing—And our hope is revived.

By H. B. W.

I HAVE JUST read an astounding and delightful thing in The Vancouver Province. The Victoria correspondent of that paper reports that a large delegation of working girls attended a recent meeting of the Victoria Women's Conservative Association to hear Finance Minister Jones justify his new income tax, if he could. Behold, when the minister had finished explaining it, these working girls, who have to pay it, crowded about him to say that, having heard his explanation, they had no complaint to make. They were willing, they were eager to pay, they were insistent on paying the tax. Such a miracle of conversion has seldom been witnessed before in the long annals of British statecraft. Besides that of course the mere removal of the tax, or of all taxes, should be a trifle for Mr. Jones. But he prefers the hard, better way. I have no doubt that before he is finished the conversion of the public will be so complete, new taxation will be so popular that he will have to raise the income tax next year to make sure of getting the working girls' vote. And yet there are people who question the success of democracy!

"While others to despair incline,"
Said Mr. Jones, "I'm feeling fine,
Though the public is poor
Our election is sure,
The working girls fall for my line."

STILL MORE satisfactory to us Democrats is the further announcement in The Province that Minister of Education Hinchliffe has performed a feat which even dwarfs that of his colleague. He has gone north hard on the heels of Mr. Pattullo to educate the voters in higher mathematics. He is taking with him brand-new figures to prove that the government is spending less than the former administration. After hearing that, of course, the public of the far north will hardly require conversion by Mr. Jones. I mean to say, no man can complain about paying high taxes when it is proved to him by unanswerable logic that he is really paying less in this wise:

"Said a jolly old statesman called Hinch,
The life of the public's a cinch,
Our taxes may break 'em,
But I'll compensate 'em,
My logic removes all the pinch."

YOU MAY wonder at this springtime invasion of the country by the politicians of both parties, when there seems to be no prospect of an election until next year or the next. You may feel that an election campaign lasting for a year, or even two, is a bit long. But the people in the country, the people in the far places, like it. With us a cabinet minister is a fellow citizen. We see him on the streets. We sit beside him in the barber shop, and most likely the barber calls him by his first name. He is no thrill to us. We would sooner listen to a talkie. But up in the far places, where cabinet ministers are scarce and there are no movie shows—there a cabinet minister or a leader of an opposition assumes that place of eminence and distinction which our system of government intended, before our metropolitan civilization ruined it.

UP THERE a politician can talk all evening until midnight, and the public, assembled in some little schoolhouse, will ask for more, and crowd about him with sandwiches and coffee afterwards and with the eagerness of children. There is your true democracy, there is your solid citizenry which balances the light frivolity of us dwellers in great cities. And in those places, where they have time to read the papers and, better still, to ponder what they read, you will find the people know more about cabinet ministers and leaders of opposition and all their works than we do, who see them in the flesh every day. The far places act as the sheet anchor of our civilization. They haven't anything else to do, poor things.

COLONEL LAWRENCE, the man who made and led the Arabian armies during the War, and probably became the most interesting figure in the whole conflict, has lately revealed to the press why he turned away from glory and became a mechanic in the Royal Air Force, under another name. He says he found that fame and honors and wealth failed to make him happy, that he has attained real happiness as an obscure aircraftsman, because he always liked to tinker with engines. It is a lesson that most other successful men have learned, and it is for this reason that you find such men devoting themselves to golf, or to making their own gardens, or cutting their own firewood in their summer camp, like the distinguished jurist and K.C. up at our lake, who derives more satisfaction from building an endless stone wall than he can find in winning lawsuits. Col. Lawrence, having found where happiness lies, has gone to it. There should be nothing amazing about that. What is amazing is that so few of us have the courage to do the same thing. In this strange age it takes a man of extraordinary courage and character, a man like Lawrence of Arabia, to do the most obvious and reasonable thing in the world, the thing that he wants to do.

SINCE THE beginning I have belonged to the minority which favors daylight saving. But I had almost given up hope that this community would ever adopt the system by which eastern Canadian cities and most of the large cities of the United States increase the length of their summer evenings for recreation. Now I think I see the tide turning. No logic could alter our civic views. No public agitation could upset our determination to remain in splendid isolation on standard time. But something has happened now which, I think, will alter all this. Amos 'n' Andy have changed to daylight saving time and you have to stop in the middle of your dinner to hear them. Our Island comfort, I feel, cannot endure that inconvenience, and our superior Victorian culture would wither away without the partners of the Fresh Air Taxicab Company.

DEATH OF U.S. BANK LEADER IS MOURNED

estimated at from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000, and which was said to have ranked him third among the wealthy men of the United States, George P. Baker acquired one of the oddest reputations—that for silence—ever associated with one of the great captains of American finance and industry.

Because of his aversion of being interviewed and talking for publication, Mr. Baker became known as "the Sphinx of Wall Street." Although one of the outstanding figures in the financial and transportation development of the republic, it was not until recent years, when associates on several occasions paid him tribute, that the public generally began to learn of him. Up to that time less was known personally of the aged banker than of many men whose standing in the business world did not begin to compare in importance with that of Mr. Baker.

Natural modesty and inherent reticence kept veiled the details of Mr. Baker's early life and to all, except his immediate associates in the Wall Street district, his extensive financial operations were unknown. Biographers found it difficult to obtain information concerning him, with the result that biographical works contain only the most meagre details of his life.

EXPLAINED COURSE

Mr. Baker's attitude toward interviews always had been one of the mysteries of the great financial centre of the United States, and it was not until after he had celebrated his eighty-second birthday that he broke his silence and gave an intimation as to why he had refrained from making public statements during his long business career.

"Business men of America should reduce their talk at least two-thirds," he told the representative of a New York newspaper who had persuaded him to be interviewed. "Everyone should reduce his talk. There is rarely ever a reason good enough for anybody to talk. Silence uses up much less energy. I do not talk because silence is the secret of success.

"I did nothing unusual when I began. My first job that I chose to call a job was in a small bank in Albany. I was a very quiet worker and that served to distinguish me. It was there I made and invested my first thousand dollars. Then I simply planned my way to Wall Street. It was with that money I bought the First National Bank."

Concluding the interview, Mr. Baker fairly shouted:

"There! I've broken my record. Tell the others they need not come in. And get out," he dismissed his interviewer with a smile.

It remained for J. P. Morgan and Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, to tell at the annual banquet of the New York State Bankers' Association, January 11, 1928, more details of the life of the aged banker than had ever before been given to the public. The event was turned into a testimonial dinner with Mr. Baker as the guest of honor.

Mr. Morgan disclosed for the first time the importance of Mr. Baker's service to the country in the panic of 1907, without, however, giving the details, by relating how his father, the late J. Pierpont Morgan, had told him the story of those anxious and agitated days. Summing up what had been accomplished, the elder Morgan said to his son: "Of course, you see, it could not have been done without Mr. Baker. He is always ready to do his part—and more."

TRIBUTE FROM MELLON

A testimonial of Mr. Baker's financial assistance to the United States government was given by Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who said:

"If it were possible to express in figures Mr. Baker's contribution to his country's finance, it might convey some impression to say that since 1917 the subscriptions of his bank to government obligations reached the enormous total of over $3,364,000,000 of government securities.

"We know in Washington that on every issue on the day the books are opened we will receive a subscription for $25,000,000 from the First National Bank of the City of New York. It is comforting to feel we always have one friend who backs the Treasury, whatever its judgment of market conditions. It gives us confidence."

STARTED AT ALBANY

Mr. Baker began his banking career at Albany, N.Y., where, as he related, he had a job in a small bank. He then became a clerk in the state banking department for seven years. It was while there in the early part of 1863 that Salmon P. Chase, then Secretary of the United States Treasury, conceived the idea of selling bonds through the banks, and in addition, forming banks which could pledge bonds themselves for the circulation of currency up to ninety per cent of the value thereof. That was the start of the national banking system.

This development greatly interested Mr. Baker and he talked it over with a Mr. Thompson, then one of the financial leaders in New York. The latter decided to open one of these new national banks and invited Mr. Baker to become teller, the bank being formed with a capital of $200,000. Mr. Thompson offered Mr. Baker all the stock he wanted and agreed to carry it for him, but Mr. Baker refused to accept more than his accumulated savings would purchase. His first investment was thirty shares of the bank's stock.

Following its early struggles, Mr. Baker had become cashier and active head of the institution when only twenty-five years old, and frequently was called to Washington by the Secretary of the Treasury for advice.

MET PANIC

In 1873 Mr. Baker met his first great panic with the failure of the house of J. Cooke & Company. He stood by and declared as a principle that which he always afterward insisted on and always followed, that any panic could be averted if the banks instead of becoming afraid and hoarding their resources, would pay them out. The First National weathered that panic and it is worthy of note that it did not sell its borrowers, but assisted them by private compromise.

Mr. Baker became president of the First National in 1877, and remained in that position until 1909, when he resigned and was made chairman of the board. For a long time after he had been in control the bank remained inconspicuous. Then one day "the street" and financial circles generally were electrified by the announcement that "Baker's bank" was preparing to double its capital and declare a dividend equivalent to $10,000,000. Nothing like this had ever been heard of in United States banking history. But not a word concerning the move was uttered by the president of the bank.

WITH THE LEADERS

From that time on Mr. Baker became a prominent figure and the First National Bank a powerful factor in United States financial affairs. The late J. Pierpont Morgan began to seek his counsel and James J. Hill called on him to aid in the expansion of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific Railroads.

Mr. Baker began his railroad operations in 1882, acquiring, with a group, the Richmond & Danville Railroad, which ultimately went in as a basis of the Southern Railway. Later he made connections with the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

DID NOT COUNT THEM

At the height of his career Mr. Baker held directorates in forty-three banks and other corporations, including The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which he was said to be the largest individual stockholder; the United States Steel Corporation, the Pullman Company and numerous railroads. It was said he held the record of attending more directors' meetings than any other financier in New York. In the congressional investigation in 1913, conducted by the Pujo committee which was hunting a money trust, Mr. Baker, testifying as to his directorates, declared he had never counted them up, but he knew, he said, that he had too many.

The name of George F. Baker was one with which the word "retirement" was seldom, if ever, connected. He alone survived the captains of the march of railroad and industrial wealth in the United States in the last generation. He had witnessed the passing of J. Pierpont Morgan, James Stillman, James Hill, E. H. Harriman, Jacob Schiff, Henry C. Frick, William Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers and others, all of whose deaths preceded a period in which Mr. Baker was to perform what many have declared some of the most important financial work. He also saw John D. Rockefeller Sr. divest himself of his command for a life of complete retirement from business while Mr. Baker continued his active work. Mr. Rockefeller in age was one year the senior of Mr. Baker.

On the occasion of Mr. Baker's eighty-seventh birthday anniversary it was said of him that he was a greater active financial influence than he was at fifty or seventy-five, and that because of the passing of so many of his great contemporaries of Wall Street he had borne in the last decade and a half a greater burden of responsibility than in any other period of his life.

Mr. Baker became chairman of the New York Clearing House in 1900.

A signal honor was paid Mr. Baker July 26, 1923, on which day he completed sixty years of active business life in New York's financial centre. The flags of the New York Clearing House Association and of all tht banks in the financial district were flown in his honor.

MADE GREAT GIFTS

Mr. Baker's largest single gift, made in 1924, was $5,000,000 to the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He assumed the entire endowment of that project when an appeal was made to him to assist in the campaign to raise funds, saying he was not much interested in being one of a party to do this thing, but if permitted he would do it all himself. In May, 1922, he gave $1,000,000 in Victory Bonds to the Metroolpitan Museum of Art, the only condition imposed being that the principal was to be held intact, and the interest used for the museum. A week later he gave $500,000 in Victory Bonds to the Society of the New York Hospital, which with $250,000 given in 1912, was used for the establishment of the George F. Baker Endowment Fund. On June 21, 1922, he contributed $250,000 to the endowment of the American Museum of Natural History.

Other large gifts included $2,000,000 to the American Red Cross in 1917 and 1918; $1,850,000 to Cornell University; $700,000 to Columbia University for the purchase of a tract of land for an athletic field, known as Baker Field, and $100,000 to Dartmouth College to establish an endowment in memeory of his uncle, Fisher Ames Baker, a graduate in the class of 1859.

It was said the United States fortunes which exceeded that of Mr. Baker were those of John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford.

BORN AT TROY, N.Y.

George F. Baker was born March 27, 1840, at Troy, N.Y., the son of George E. and Florence Tucker Baker. When he was eight years old his family moved to Brooklyn, his father engaging in the shoe business in New York. Later the family moved to Williamsburg, where the son went to school. He finished his education at Seward University, a boarding school at Florida, N.Y.

While still a young man Mr. Baker married Miss Florence Tucker Baker, who died several years ago. There is one son, George F. Baker Jr., now vice-president of the First National Bank.

In addition to membership in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Musical Arts Society and the National Academy of Design, Mr. Baker belonged to many clubs. He had a town house in New York City and country estates at Tuxedo Park and Long Island.

Mrs. Cameron was assisted in entertaining her guests, who numbered over seventy, by Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, Miss Hamilton and members of the committee. The reception rooms were attractive with tulips and other spring flowers, a place of honor being occupied by the beautiful basket of yellow tulips and swansonia presented to Mrs. Cameron by the caste in grateful recognition of her splendid work as convener of publicity for the production. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, the table being artistically arranged with pale pink tulips and blue scyllas, and tall pink tapers in silver holders. Dancing and singing were enjoyed by the guests until an early hour.

Mrs. Edward Stewart, St. Lulie Street, Oak Bay, entertained with four tables of bridge on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Winnie Dodd and Mr. William Blair, a popular young couple who are to be married shortly. The reception rooms looked particularly lovely with masses of spring flowers, pale pink tulips, gerberas and greenery. In the dining-room a miniature wedding cake held the place of honor, flanked on either side with pale pink tapers in silver sconces. During the evening Mr. Douglas Fletcher, on behalf of the assembled party presented the young couple with a beautiful gift with best wishes. At midnight an appetizing supper was served by the hostess. The winners at bridge were Mr. and Mrs. Lane, Miss W. Dodd and Mr. William Blair. The invited guests were: Miss Winnie Dodd, Messrs. William Blair, Jerry Meyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Profit, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hockley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stewart, Mrs. Arthur Dodd, and Mrs. Warren Smith.

Yukon "Sourdoughs" Honor Speaker Of Ottawa House

Ottawa, May 4.—Two score "old campaigners" who have in other years braved the rigors of the northland, gathered around the festive board Saturday night to pay tribute to one of their number, Hon. George Black, member of Parliament for the Yukon and Speaker of the Commons.

The dinner was attended by all the ex-Yukoners resident in the Ottawa district, and was presided over by that veritable "sourdough," Col. Cortlandt Starnes, commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

FORMER PUPILS IN DELIGHTFUL REUNION HERE

"Old Girls" of St. Margaret's School Met Saturday; Busy Programme Enjoyed

Reminiscences of happy days at school were indulged in by the many former pupils of St. Margaret's School who assembled here on Saturday afternoon and evening for the annual reunion of "Old Girls," a delightful custom established some years ago and carried on annually with conspicuous success.

ISLAND TEAM WINS

The day's programme commenced with a basketball game at the school grounds between old girls of the mainland and old girls of the Island, the Island team proving the victors after a hard-fought game. In the afternoon the old girls, several of whom were accompanied by their children, met at the school for a tea party, the pleasure of which was enhanced by the presence of Miss Barton, former principal of the school, who is visiting here from England, and who assisted Mrs. K. C. Spurgin, the present principal, in welcoming the former pupils.

On Saturday evening the day's celebrations concluded with a dinner party in the Duke of Kent private dining-room at the Empress Hotel, the members of the matriculation class of this year being the guests of the "old girls" for the occasion. Later the whole party adjourned to the school, where a delightful entertainment was staged by the present pupils as a fitting close to a most enjoyable day.

THE KING'S FIDDLERS

Old King Cole was a merry old soul,
And a merry old soul was he,
He called for his pipe and he called for his bowl,
And he called for his fiddlers three.

MY, my, what a rumpus when the robot appeared! It seems that the Prime Minister, in a fit of economy, had installed canned music and fired the King's rollicking fiddlers. The jolly old monarch was wroth.

But King Cole could remedy the trouble. He had only to order the robot to the attic, send for his beloved fiddlers, and have the Prime Minister publicly spanked.

ARTIST SCATHING ON U.S. BELLES

German Says Girls Have "Rolls-Royce Bodies But Ford Minds"

New York, May 4.—American girls have been a great disappointment to George Schreiber, the young German artist who has painted many international notabilities. He is in New York gathering impressions of Americans for his canvases, and doesn't know what to make of social customs here.

"You enter a home," he says, "a complete stranger, and shake hands with someone. Thereupon everybody sits on couches or pillows and begins to drink like a fish.

"And such kissing! Such embraces! In two hours all the guests have become very intimate and everybody knows how many times each has been divorced, married, and the identity of their current loves. Over here, too, I have noticed that all one needs to learn of the English language is the laconic 'O.K.'

"As for the New York girls . . . just absinthe without a thrill . . . automobiles with Rolls Royce bodies and Ford minds.

"You have the most beautiful girls in the world," continued Herr Schreiber, "but their brains are sawdust. They think a man should be satisfied to merely gaze at them. They can't talk and they seem so stupid.

"You have a happy phrase over here, I think. It is 'beautiful but dumb'."

League of Nations Tea Is Success; Many Attend

The "League of Nations tea" held on Friday afternoon under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Institute, was an unqualified success. The affair was held in the New Thought Hall, the very attractive decorations being carried out in the national colors. Mrs. J. L. White, president of the institute, was in the chair, and D. A. O. MacRae gave a comprehensive and most inspiring talk on the League of Nations and what it has accomplished to date, appealing to the women to talk and think peace. He was accorded a hearty vote of thinks.

The singing of "O Canada," followed by Kipling's "Recessional," beautifully sung by Mrs. A. W. Stokes opened the programme. A vocal trio was given by Meadames T. Hammond, G. A. A. Hebden and J. O. Welsh, and a musical monologue by Mrs. E. Valiant, these numbers being greatly enjoyed. An instrumental quartette during the tea hour given by Miss M. Strathern; Mesdames W. H. Thornborrow, M. Roberts, and J. L. White added much to the pleasure of the afternoon. Mrs. E. Holt accompanied the singers very artistically. Tea was served from a table attractively decorated with white narcissus, red tulips and blue scillas.

Many of the local women's organizations were represented at the tea, and the convener, Mrs. K. Palmer, thanked those who attended, and urged them to carry the message that had been given them back to their respective organizations. The afternoon was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

D'OYLY CARTE STARS INJURED

Miss Bertha Lewis and Sir Henry Lytton Seriously Hurt in Auto Crash

Cambridge, Eng., May 4.—Two of the best known players in Gilbert and Sullivan operas, Miss Bertha Lewis and Sir Henry Lytton, who are as well-known in Canada as in Britain, received injuries in a motor car accident here yesterday.

Miss Lewis, it is understood, suffered injuries to her spine and is in a serious condition. Sir Henry Lytton, however, was not seriously hurt and was taken to his hotel. Miss Lewis is now in a nursing home here.

Miss Bertha Lewis in private life is the wife of Captain Herbert Heyner and she will be forty-four years of age next week. In earlier years she appeared in grand opera but for a long time now has been one of the most appreciated of the Gilbert and Sullivan company, sustaining the parts of "Little Buttercup" in Pinafore, "Katisha" in the Mikado, and "Lady Jane" in Patience.

Sir Henry Lytton was knighted last year for his long and brilliant career in Gilbert and Sullivan opera. He has customarily traveled in his own motor car when on tour, and had been taking Miss Lewis to Cambridge when the accident occurred yesterday. The car turned a complete somersault.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

One of the effective spurs to a waning appetite is to diminish the number of feedings. This works well whether the child is suffering from overfeeding, or from some temporary ailment. When the baby habitually leaves part of each feeding, he does not need more food or some "forcing method," but less food, fewer feedings, perhaps a weaker formula.

WON'T FINISH BOTTLE FEEDINGS

Mrs. O. H., feeding her seven months old girl six times daily, is pondering how to increase the baby's appetite. She writes, "My seven months old baby is fed in the following manner. Please criticize her feedings and tell me how I can get her to finish her bottle feedings. The only one she drains are the 10 p.m. and 4 a.m. bottles. Should she get cereal twice daily? How is her weight, sixteen pounds? Here is her daily schedule; 8 a.m., four ounces of milk, two of water, two teaspoons corn syrup; 11.30 a.m., orange juice; 1 p.m. vegetables and bottle as above; 4 p.m., cereal and bottle; 7 p.m., 10 p.m., 4 a.m., bottle formula as above."

TRY FIVE FEEDINGS

You may have our leaflet called "Reasons for Appetitelessness," if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Your schedule could be improved if you fed the baby only five times daily, beginning at 6 or 7 a.m. The formula could be improved and somewhat increased in each bottle to allow for the fewer feedings per day. For the time being try this method: Prepare a formula of thirty ounces of boiled milk, eight and one-half ounces of water and one and one-half ounces of corn syrup. Put this into five bottles, three bottles containing eight ounces and two containing four ounces each. Then offer them in this way: 7 a.m., one tablespoon of cereal and eight ounces formula; 10 a.m., one to two ounces of orange juice; 11 a.m., eight ounces of formula; 3 p.m., one to two tablespoons of sieved vegetable and four ounces of formula; 7 p.m., one tablespoon of cereal and eight ounces of formula.

Only one feeding in the night, using the other four ounces of milk.

This allows the child to have ample nutrition. Do not worry too much about her inability to finish each bottle. There are often temporary disturbances which occasion a loss of appetite, and they are ended much more quickly if the child follows her own inclination to eat less. The fewer meals, however, may stimulate the appetite. At any rate, this is the better way to feed a baby seven months old. When the appetite is improved, add the four-ounce night bottle to the 3 p.m. feeding and do not feed at night.

RECEPTION FOR MRS. HERRIDGE

High Commissioner to Entertain For Bride and Groom in London

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 4.—Afternoon reception for Major W. D. Herridge, K.C., new Canadian Minister to the United States, and Mrs. Herridge, the former Miss Mildred Bennett, will be held at Canada House on Wednesday by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, and Mrs. Ferguson.

The judicial committee of the Privy Council to-day commenced the hearing of an appeal from the Supreme Court of Canada in which Major Herridge is to appear. One London newspaper expressed sympathy with the Herridges for having to "forsake the usual happy travels of a honeymoon couple." The allusion, however, was mistaken, because it assumed Major Herridge was engaged to-day with the petition of the Quebec Attorney-General vs. the Dominion Government, with which Major Herridge is not professionally associated. Proceedings were merely an application for leave to intervene and were conducted by English counsel.

PIONEER DIES IN VANCOUVER

Mrs. Eliza Jane Carson, Mother of M.P.P., Came to Province 71 Years Ago

Vancouver, May 4—Mrs. Eliza Jane Carson, widow of Robert Carson, of Pavilion Mountain, and mother of Ernest C. Carson, M.P.P. for Lillooet, died Saturday evening at her home, 1665 West Twelfth. She was aged seventy-nine. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Magee, pioneer residents of Point Grey, Hrs. Carson was bron near Hamilton, Ont., and came to British Columbia seventy-one years ago.

Seventeen years after her arrival here, in what was then known as Gastown, Miss Magee married Robert Carson. Shortly after the wedding they went to the Cariboo to reside at Pavilion Mountain. Forty-four years ago Mrs. Carson and her husband established the well - known Carson ranch at Pavilion, which is still in operation. Nineteen years ago she came to Vancouver to live.

Mr. Magee brought his family to Point Grey in 1860. The future Mrs. Carson was then aged eight. The journey across the United States to San Francisco and thence by steamer to Victoria was long and tedious. Soon after settling in Point Grey the little girl was taken to New Westminster to go to school.

Often when speaking of her school days Mrs. Carson would say, "On Saturdays my father would come fourteen miles for me in a canoe and would paddle me back again on Monday. There were times when the north arm of the Fraser River was impassable and then I had to walk the whole distance over a rough forest trail."

Mrs. Carson was one of the first British Columbia women to advocate old-age pensions. A diligent worker in the W.C.T.U., the deceased held life memberships in the Local Council of Women and the Child Welfare Association. She was also a member of Canadian Memorial Church. She is survived by five daughters, and three sons.

On Friday the remains will be forwarded to Pavilion, where interment will take place in the family plot

"Red Acre Farm" Is Staged By Electra Dramatic Society

St. Aidans Hall was packed on Friday night when the Electra Dramatic Society presented the play "Red Acre Farm." That it was one of the society's most successful productions was shown by its enthusiastic reception. Throughout the play the members of the cast without exception played their respective roles with ease and confidence and ably interpreted the various characters. During the intervals Miss D. Francis, accompanied by Miss R. Whittaker, rendered several much appreciated violin solos.

A. W. Semple ably acted the part of Josiah Armstrong, a puritanically minded farmer, while Jenny Boyd Hudson, as Amanda, was a perfect obedient wife. Winnie White, as their daughter Nellie, played her part with real feeling, and Mary Simmons as their other daughter Laura, capably portrayed a very difficult role.

MUCH LAUGHTER AROUSED

Junior and Jonah, played by Lily Rendle and Don Galey, gave the audience many a laugh. Chris Hollier, as Colonel Barnaby Strutt, was delightful as a blustering retired colonel, and Mrs. William Mortimer played the part of his talkative wife well. The roles of Squire Harcourt and his son Harry were well taken by F. Jennings and Lance Clark. William Hill, as Tom Busby, a salesman, and F. Rendle as Dick Randall, were good. The villagers consisted of Mrs. Stofer, Mrs. Grant, Milton Grant, Betty Hunter, Helen Hudson, and Reggie Stofer.

The play was directed by A. W. Semple and Mrs. F. White, E. Woodward and W. Mortimer were responsible for the excellent scenery and properties.

The society has been asked to present "Red Acre Farm" at Marigold Hall on Friday, May 15.

"THESE HARD TIMES"

"The hard times and scarcity of money makes it more important than ever to economize. One way I save on clothes is by renewing the color of faded or out-of-style dresses, coats, stockings, and underwear. For dyeing, or tinting, I always use Diamond Dyes. They are the most economical ones by far because they never fail to produce results that make you proud. Why, things look better than new when redyed with Diamond Dyes. They never spot, streak, or run. They go on smoothly and evenly, when in the hands of even a few your old stuff. Another thing, Diamond Dyes never take the life out of cloth or leave it limp as some dyes do. They deserve to be called "the world's finest dyes!"

WANTS TO PAY WIFE'S COURT FINE IN EGGS

Saskatoon, May 4.—"I haven't got much money just now, so I wonder if I could pay my wife's fine with eggs," asked Joseph Dolevitch, Bangor merchant, in Bangor police court, when the woman was assessed $10 and costs for trading in furs without a license. Magistrate A. MacDonald of Yorkton replied he could not accept eggs, but gave Mrs. Dolevitch two weeks to raise the money.

The woman, on February 26, traded two weasel skins for a package of tobacco and a pound of tea.

Regulars Are Now Willing to Lend Rookies Helping Hand

A PROLONGED study of the composition of the team which the English Football Association is sending to Canada, and which plays in Victoria on June 24, must convince any critical football fan, with a knowledge of the game, that the side is most capable and attractive. The players are of a high calibre and fans should not be overcome by name-worship. Players with established reputations are not, by any means, always the best men for a tour of this description. They are apt to regard a trip of this kind as a holiday jaunt. It is quite sufficient for them to walk onto the field and show themselves. Their fame is world-wide and they are prepared to exhibit themselves. It is not necessary that they should prove what artists they are.

Again, a few "stars" do not make invariably for the creation of that team spirit which is essential to success. When men are eager to make a name or to enhance the position they have attained, then they give of their best. In football, the player who has talent, but has not yet arrived, as the French say, is, nine times out of ten, more interesting to the spectators than those who have climbed to the top of the ladder.

It is not to be assumed from this discussion that there are no men of mark, no players of great prominence, among the invaders. There are splendid players included on the line-up. There are so many footballers in England on a level of equality, a high level at that, that there is little difference between them. The team will prove very capable. It will develop into a first-class side.

This team will carry the confidence of its sponsors but whether it will win all its matches by a good margin remains to be seen. If Canadian teams can win a match or two, so much the better for this Dominion. The object of these tours is to help the game in Canada, and if the home teams can take a match from the visitors it will clearly demonstrate the brand of football played in this country is improving.

The major baseball leagues have changed from what they were ten years ago. In the days when Ring Lardner was writing baseball for The Chicago Tribune, regulars used to razz rookies unmercifully. A rookie had to have a pretty thick skin (or skull) to take it. Lardner wrote books based on actual happenings of this sort.

But now, it is not uncommon to see regulars instructing youngsters and helping them to make the grade. Detroit this year furnishes a specific instance.

Marvin Owen, youthful shortstop, came to the Tigers this spring from Seattle. He is a Santa Clara college boy, with four months of professional baseball experience. But since his first appearance with Detroit, he has improved remarkably. He knows where to play, it appears, for every batter in the league, and comes up with ground balls near third base or back of second regularly. How come?

* * *

Well, if Marty McManus, the veteran third baseman, who is Marv's roommate, and Charley Gehringer, the peerless second sacker of the Tigers, were watched, the reason would soon be seen. Owen watches them. They wave him this way or that for certain batters. Sometimes he plays close, sometimes far to the left, at other times to the right. Just a couple of regulars trying to help a kid make good.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Leo Diegel says the new larger-lighter golf ball is "like a poached egg on toast" . . . it stops on the first bounce . . . Diegel had considerable trouble becoming accustomed to the pill . . . his game fell apart . . . but gradually he got used to it . . . he had most trouble with short mashie-niblick pitches, eighty to 100 yards . . . they always were short . . . but he found the cause for that, too . . . he was hitting the new ball just as he had been lobbing the old one up there . . . with backspin and enough punch to carry to the cup on two bounces . . . he discovered after a time that he couldn't allow for two bounces . . . the new ball doesn't bounce . . . now Leo says he likes the new ball . . . so that's settled.

Par Round Gives Morrison Lead In Play At Uplands

Runner-up in B.C. Amateur Gives Brilliant Performance to Win Medal in Club Championship by Five Strokes Over Harold Brynjolfson, B.C. Titleholder and Defending Club Champion; Shoots Par 70 in Afternoon After a 75 in Morning; Scores of 169 Qualify

Overcoming a two-stroke deficit from the morning round by shooting a brilliant par 70 in the afternoon, Bob Morrison once again removed Harold Brynjolfson's Indian sign in the medal round of The Uplands Golf Club tournament yesterday. Morrison was medalist in the B.C. amateur tournament recently but lost to Brynjolfson in the final.

Playing solid golf in the morning Brynjolfson toured the eighteen-hole course in 73, but in the afternoon slipped back to 77. Meanwhile Morrison, who turned in a 75 in the morning, worked his clubs to marvelous advantage in the afternoon and stayed with Old Man Par for the distance. His thirty-six-hole total was 145, better by five strokes than Brynjolfson's two rounds.

BRYNJOLFSON DEFENDING

These two youngsters have been the sensation of golf at Uplands for quite a time. Brynjolfson is the present holder of the championship as well as the city and B.C. titles. Recently the pair were awarded five-year honorary memberships in the club for their efficient work on the links in tournaments.

On his par afternoon round Morrison gathered in three birdies, but was over par on three holes. He shot even par figures steadily on his first nine, but on the homeward trip he mixed them up, getting better than perfect figures on the tenth, sixteenth and seventeenth, while slipping one stroke on the twelfth, fourteenth and eighteenth.

TROUBLE AT ONE HOLE

He found trouble on the long fourteenth both in the morning and afternoon. It is a par five hole, but he took six each time.

Following is Morrison's complete card for the thirty-six holes:

MORNING

Out ..... 445 445 543—38
In ..... 445 462 345—37—75

AFTERNOON

Out ..... 444 344 543—35

Par for the course is as follows:

In ..... 434 454 344—35—70

FAVOR TOLLEY AND VOIGHT IN BRITISH OPEN

Title Won Last Year By Bobby Jones Sought By 171 U.S. Players, List Shows

Roger Wethered Also Entered; One Canadian Will Seek High Laurels

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 4.—Fourteen United States players are among the 171 entries announced to-day for the British amateur golf championship beginning at Westward Ho May 18, but only one of them is given much chance by the experts of retaining for the United States the title Bobby Jones won last year.

The outstanding American entry is George Voight, New York golfing master who, when he is good, is very, very good and entirely capable of walking off with the honor.

Voight's first round opponent is T. H. E. Bowman of Seacroft, who should afford little difficulty if the New Yorker plays at Westward Ho like he played at St. Andrews last year when he gave Bobby Jones a great battle in the semi-finals.

If Voight should fall by the wayside there still is a good chance that the cup would go back to America, but it would be in British hands. Cyril James Hastings Tolley, who now lives in the United States, has entered the tournament but he plays under the colors of the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews and his victory would cause no glee in the United States.

SMART FIELD

The Westward Ho championship list is the smallest since the title was decided there in 1925. Two hundred and seventy-two were entered last year. Nevertheless, the 1931 representation contains many fine golfers, and is widely scattered, entries coming from Canada, France, Argentine, Chile, the Malay States, Germany and Africa, besides the United States.

The Canadian entry is T. G. Roberts of Pine Ridge.

The United States entry list ranges through the usual tourist delegation, a college entry from Oxford, the Fairbanks.

Roger Wethered, former champion, is in the first quarter of the draw, Voight in the second with a group of British veterans, including Sir Ernest Holderness, while Tolley is in the third quarter.

BURNSIDE CLUB FIXTURE DATES ARE ARRANGED

Goodwin Cup Doubles Challenge Series Start May 12

The games committee of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club has arranged for the various club competitions as follows: Saturday afternoon rink games commence on May 9; Thursday evening rink games, for men and women bowlers of any club in Victoria, will commence on May 15; the first round of the "Big Four" rink competition must be played on or before next Monday; and the Goodwin Cup doubles challenge series will commence on May 12.

During the week the ladder's singles resulted as follows: Mercer 21, Hawkins 13, Harman 21, Deveson 13, Washington 21, Hancock 10, Holmes 21, Childs 8, Holmes 21, Ramsay 17, Bryant 21, Pass 9, Gibson 21, Bryant 15, Tupman 21, Eastham 19, Vallance 21, Eastham 14, Stewart 21, Gibson 15, Vallance 21, Tupman 19. The game between Vallance and Tupman indicated the value of experience in a tight corner. At the eleventh end of this game it looked as if Tupman had the game pinched with a score of 15 to 4 in his favor, but Vallance, a bowler of many years, showed his fighting quality by gradually pulling up on Tupman until by getting two shots on the twenty-sixth end he won the game, 21-19.

The results of this singles competition will determine who shall represent the Burnside Club in the interclub rink competition for the Whitaley Cup.

SEMI-FINALS ARE REACHED AT OAK BAY

Jack Matson, Medalist, and A. S. G. Musgrave, Defending Champion, Still In

Matson Will Play Harold Wilson and Musgrave Will Meet Alex. Watson

Jack Matson, medalist, will play Harold Wilson and A. S. G. Musgrave, defending champion, will play Alex Watson as a result of week-end play in the Victoria Golf Club championship at Oak Bay. The first round was played Saturday and the second round Sunday. Shooting great golf, Matson was hardly extended in either of his matches. He disposed of W. L. McIntosh, Empress midwinter champion, by 4 and 3 and then took H. G. Garrett down the line yesterday by 8 and 6.

WILSON DEFEATS BEASLEY

Wilson, his opponent in next Saturday's semi-finals, is expected to provide opposition of the stiffest kind. He defeated H. W. R. Moore 8 and 7 and yesterday nosed out Art Beasley, a former champion, one up. This last match was the tournament feature to date.

Musgrave has been showing signs of his desire to retain his title, for he defeated Dr. Barrett by 5 and 4 and in the second round accounted for H. P. Hepburn 6 and 5. Hepburn put Des Barrett, one of the city's most promising juniors, out of the running on Saturday in a nineteen-hole match, in what was the only upset of the first round.

Watson, a former city champion and the fourth semi-finalist, has found his path rather a thorny one. He was taken to the home hole on Saturday by H. P. Johnson before he won out, two up. Yesterday he defeated Harold Haynes at the seventeenth, two and one.

FIRST FLIGHT SEMI-FINALISTS

The semi-finals have also been reached in the first flight. R. Peachey, Ken Raymur, T. O. Mackay and W. H. M. Haldane will fight it out for the honors. Finalists in both championship and first flights will be determined next Saturday.

Second-round results follow:

QUAKE HELPS GOLFER SCORE HOLE IN ONE

Manchester, Eng., May 4.—It's an ill earthquake for golfers that doesn't make a hole in one.

As a sharp earth tremor shook the East Lancaster countryside yesterday, a golfer on the Chorlton links drove to within a few inches of the hole. The earth rolled gently and the ball dropped in.

The temblor alarmed thousands in this vicinity. Minor damage was done to smaller buildings but no one was injured.

WINNIPEG AND MONTREAL WIN RING HONORS

Athletes From East and Middle West Take Majority of Canadian Titles

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, May 4.—Most of the dominion's newly-won amateur boxing and wrestling championships to-day were concentrated in three widely separated cities. Mitmen of Winnipeg and matmen from Montreal combined with Regina athletes at the closing session of the two-day ring meet here Saturday night to annex twelve of the available fifteen titles.

All Winnipeg's winnings were in boxing classes, all Montreal's in wrestling, while Regina won a boxing and two wrestling crowns. Toronto, Port Arthur and Hamilton each won a title. The meet, sponsored by Winnipeg Police Athletic Association, ended a few minutes before midnight Saturday.

Howie Thomas, lightweight wrestling champion of the dominion and the empire, was the only defender who competed in the ring tournament. The fiery little Montreal matman easily swept through the opposition in his class, taking two quick falls in the final from Bjorn Johnson, Winnipeg veteran. Rolly Thomas, his brother, captured the bantam title and two other Montreal lads, Don Stockton, middleweight, and Harry Madison, light heavyweight, were class champions.

NEVER BEEN BEATEN

Former flyweight boxing champ, Ross Galloway of St. Thomas, Ont., failed to make the grade in the bantam class. He was beaten in the final by Tommy Neilson, long-armed Winnipegger. Another former champion, Dan Matheson, heavyweight wrestler from Regina, recaptured the championship he vacated in 1925. The giant Saskatchewan police sergeant has never been beaten in either provincial or dominion competition.

Pete Lightheart, Hamilton's walloping heavy, knocked E. Garrow, Kenora, Ontario, out of the ring for the count, to capture the dominion's heavyweight title. The Kenora fighter was badly hurt and a physician's attention was needed before he was back to normal.

Champions at the close of the meet were:

BOXING

Flyweight—Sammy McCart, Winnipeg.

Bantamweight — Tommy Neilson, Winnipeg.

Featherweight — Arni Johannesson, Winnipeg.

Lightweight — Paul Frederickson, Winnipeg.

Welterweight — Freddy Blocksidge, Winnipeg.

Middleweight — Joe Bihlsick, Port Arthur.

Light heavyweight—R. F. Hayes, Regina.

WRESTLING

Bantamweight—Rolly Thomas, Montreal.

Featherweight—Johnny Rahe, Regina.

Lightweight—Howie Thomas, Montreal.

Welterweight—Jack Allen, Toronto.

Middleweight—Don Stockton, Montreal.

Light heavyweight—Harry Madison, Montreal.

Heavyweight—Don Matheson, Regina.

Cards Retain Lead In National With Close Victory Over Chicago

Gellert's Bunt in Eleventh Gives St. Louis 5 to 4 Win; Giants Lose Costly Game to Brooklyn 4 to 3; Yanks Celebrate Ruth's Return With 8 to 3 Win Over Boston Red Sox; Ferrell Wins Fifth Game

By GAYLE TALBOT Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn Robins yesterday beat New York Giants 4 to 3 with as pretty a piece of base running as you would want to see. Fresco Thompson was perched on second base in the seventh inning when Lefty O'Doul smashed a roller down to Bill Terry at first. Thompson lit out and, seeing Terry fumble momentarily, didn't even slow up rounding third. He beat a perfect throw to the plate by an eyelash, winning for the Robins their third straight victory.

The defeat was costly to the Giants, who lost ground in their fight for the National League top as St. Louis made it three straight over Chicago, 5 to 4. The Cardinals went a game and a half ahead when Charlie Gelbert's squeeze bunt scored the winning run in the eleventh inning.

The Boston Braves missed an opportunity to move into third place when they dropped their fourth straight to the Phillies, 4 to 1. Ray Benge held the Braves to six hits. Whitney nicked Seibold for a homer with one on.

FIRST WIN

Cincinnati finally registered victory No. 1, defeating Pittsburgh, 10 to 5, in the second game of a doubleheader after the Pirates had won the first, 6 to 3.

Al Simmons went on a hitting spree to give the Athletics a 3 to 1 victory over Washington. His triple drove a run across in the first innings, and he added a home run for good measure in the ninth. Cronin's homer in the ninth deprived Walberg of a shutout.

The Yankees celebrated Babe Ruth's return to the line-up with an 8 to 3 triumph over Boston Red Sox. Ruth played six innings and hit a pair of singles.

A big sixth inning, in which they scored seven runs and drove Thomas from the hill, enabled St. Louis Browns to down Chicago, 9 to 5, and break a nine-game losing streak.

Wes Ferrell, the no-hit, no-run hero of a few days back, had a stormy first inning against Detroit, but stuck it out to register his fifth win, 7 to 4. The Tigers jumped on the Cleveland ace for three runs in the first.

JOKERS WIN MILTON CUP SOCCER FINAL

Defeat Saanich Thistles 5 to 2 at Beacon Hill Saturday; Led 2 to 0 Half Way

The coveted Milton Cup will be held by the Jokers' football team as a result of their 5 to 2 victory over the Saanich Thistles at Beacon Hill Saturday afternoon. The final game was a slow but clean one, and saw a Saanich team without the services of the redoubtable Crowe brothers on the half back line. The score was 2 to 0 for the winners at half-time.

Saanich started off under a handicap, for not only were they two men short but were shooting against the sun and wind. The Jokers bore in and before long had their opponents on the defensive. A minute after Centre-half Campbell's free kick just outside the Thistles' penalty area had been tipped over the bar by Goalie Bridges, Minnis came on and the suburbanites were at full strength. The Jokers dominated in spite of these reinforcements and Anderson, their centre, rushed the ball into the net for the first goal of the game. Shortly after, Armitage, Saanich fullback, handled within the goal area, but Campbell's slow penalty kick to the corner just dribbled outside the post.

Jokers went two in the lead when Inside left Watson netted from close in on a pass from Bunyan.

NO ROUGH PLAY

Nice, gentlemanly football was the order in the second half, with both teams trying to play as politely as possible. The game slowed up painfully, though Stofer and Watson both scored pretty goals for the Jokers without reply. The game was all for the jesters and some pretty shots were saved by Bridges in the Saanich net. The Jokers' sharpshooters had their eyes in and sent in some surprising shots from all angles.

In the closing moments of the game the Thistles started pressing and in quick order brought the score from 4 to 0 to 4 to 2, Burns and Essler scoring. The rally was short-lived. The Jokers came back and Centre-forward Anderson scored his second goal just before the whistle blew.

Jokers—Chalmers, Carmichael, Leggatt, Heal, Campbell, Stofer, Rogers, Bunyan, Anderson, Watson and McBay.

Thistles—Bridges, Armitage, Price H. Williams, Viggers, White, R. Williams, Essler, Burns, Minnis and McMillan.

BEALES SCORES TECHNICAL K.O. AGAINST KROGG

Prince George Boy Unable to Leave Corner For Third Round

When Krogg failed to return to the fight in the third round, after going down for counts of nine and eight in the second, Teddy Beales, local fighting fireman, was given a technical knockout over the Prince George boy in the main event on the boxing card at the Tillicum Athletic Club Saturday evening. The programme marked the return of the fisticuff game here and was well received by the faithful.

Showing his superiority from the first gong, Beales was the more aggressive and slipped plenty of stiff rights and lefts to his opponent's body and head. Krogg seemed to have great difficulty in landing his punches on Beales who was much more experienced and neater in footwork. Shortly after the start Krogg was fighting at a great disadvantage, bleeding from a cut over his left eye opened by Beales. When the gong ending the first round sounded the Prince George boy was in a dazed condition.

As the fighters came together at the beginning of the second round, the local boy landed a stiff right to the body which made the Prince George boy upset and groggy. Beales, still forcing the fight, landed several hard lefts to the body, which just about finished the boy from the north before he shot over a straight left to Krogg's head, which made him take the count of nine. When Krogg got up Beales landed several fast rights to the head, which sent him down for a count of eight, and the bell sounded, ending the second round. Krogg's eye was bleeding badly at this stage of the fight and he was pretty groggy, while Beales just seemed to hitting his stride.

Krogg's seemed to lack experience, and Beales appeared to be able to get past his opponent's guard whenever he wished. The boys entered the ring at 165 pounds.

HAY AND MARSHALL DRAW

In the semi-windup, Wing Hay, the local fighting Chinaman, and Harry Marshall of Vancouver put on a fast six-round bout, which ended in a popular draw.

At the opening of the bout Hay forced the fighting and landed some stiff lefts to his opponent's body. As the fight went on Marshall hit his pace and drew a great deal of blood from the Chinaman's face. In the sixth and final round the fighters came out of their corners fighting hard, and they mixed things merrily.

Clarence Leaske of Victoria lost the decision to Phil Trudeau of Vancouver, in a preliminary mix. The Vancouver lad was the more aggressive and forced the fight all the way. The local lad was fighting to a great disadvantage when his face was covered with blood. They weighed in at 130 pounds.

Fighting four rounds to a draw, Frankie Neal of Victoria, and "Spiker" Kelly, of Vancouver, entered the ring at 116 pounds and went four fast rounds to a draw. Neal was the more aggressive of the two and had a slight edge over his opponent in experience.

Danny Pastroe, Victoria, lost the decision to Billy Gerard of Vancouver, in a four-round mix. Pastroe, much shorter than his opponent, had great difficulty in reaching his opponent's face. The bout opened with Pastroe hitting his opponent on the chin, knocking him back into his corner. After that the bout was entirely in the hands of the Vancouver lad with Pastroe making his arms go like a windmill.

Roy Baker refereed all bouts.

SONS PLAY GOOD BALL TO BEAT EAGLES WITH EASE IN FIRST GAME

Humble Feathered Tribe 14 to 3 in Fixture at Royal Athletic Park; Holness, Relief Pitcher for Losers, Scores First Homer; Strong Support Given Lloyd Cann on Mound for Sons; Errors Spoil Eagles Play

Wearing the same dirty old uniforms they used when they won the city championship last year, and displaying some of the old form that carried them to keystone honors in the local loop, Sons of Canada ball players opened the 1931 Senior Amateur League here with a 14 to 3 victory over the Eagles at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, and Alderman James Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, and Alderman James Adam formed the opening battery for Mayor Anscomb and whiffed the chief magistrate with four pitched balls to officially start the season.

Splendid support in both the infield and the outer lot gave Lloyd Cann the first pitching laurels of the season. Cornwall, starting on the mound for the Eagles, pitched fair ball for the first four or five innings, but went to pieces in the sixth and was replaced by Bill Holness.

Cann and Cornwall each fanned eight batters, with Holness striking out three in two innings.

The Sons turned in a good performance for their first appearance, but the feathered tribe failed to show up and allowed several errors to creep into their play in crucial moments.

FIRST HOMER

On his initial trip to the plate, Bill Holness scored the first honor of the season, lifting one of Cann's offerings over the centre field fence.

In one of the prettiest flashes of the day, the Sons worked a perfect squeeze play in the fifth, bringing in two runners with the bases full.

In the first inning Cann walked Love, who took second when Passmore reached first via the same route. Nex grounded out and Brousseau sacrificed to bring Love home. Dunc popped out.

Campbell and Craig were retired before Down made second and rounded to third on Holman's single. Holman went to second on an error. Both came home on Bacon's grounder.

Cann whiffed Gandy and Easler and Brown filed out to retire the Eagles in the second.

Gandy pulled down Haines's fly to left field after Hilton had been put out. Collins failed to reach first and the Sons ended one of their two scoreless innings. Cornwall smashed out a long drive to hit the centre field fence for a two bagger. Passmore beat Craig's throw to first but was put out trying to steal second and was packed from the field with an injured ankle from his slide. Nex fanned.

BRINGS IN TWO

Campbell filed out to Gandy in left field in the Sons' third. Craig reached first on an error by Brousseau. Down went to first when Dunc failed to get in his throw and rounded second as Craig ran home on another bobble. Bacon brought in Down with a liner to centre field after Holman had filed out. Dunc caught Hilton's hit to left field.

In the Eagles' fourth, Dunc went to second on a hard drive which hit the fence after Brousseau had been struck out. He stole third but died there when Gandy and Easler were fanned.

Haines, leading off for the Sons, gained first when Love missed his bunt. Collins sent him to third with a drive to left field. Gandy threw to third to prevent Haines from coming in.

Haines and Collins reached home when Bridgewood, substituting for Passmore at second, threw wild, after taking Campbell's bunt. Campbell went to second as Craig took first when hit by the pitcher. Brousseau caught out Down. Errors let two more runners come in. Bridgewood dropped

THE REVERENT WRESTLER

A most bizarre career is that of the Rev. Charles Urban who, one evening, feeling the desire for a little healthy exercise and also the need for a little financial assistance, stepped from his pulpit into the wrestling ring and scored a quick victory at the Philadelphia arena, over Frank La Ditzi of New York in five minutes and two seconds with a crotch hold and a body slam. The explanation of this most unusual action is that the Rev. Charles Urban was a former member of the Pennsylvania football team and also a star of that university's red and blue mat team. The idea is a good one for increasing one's income as long as it does not lead to a too enthusiastic sermon on how to get your man.

REPORT GIVES DAIRY FIGURES

Information on Industry Compiled For Use of B.C. Agent-General

The growth of the dairy industry in British Columbia between the years 1913 and 1930 is shown in a report presented by Henry Rivé, dairy commissioner, to be forwarded to F. P. Burden B.C. Agent-General in London.

The value of dairy products produced in the province last year is given as $13,307,309, compared with $2,593,404 in 1913, an increase in annual turnover of $10,893,905. The number of dairy cows increased from 24,000 estimated in 1913, to 118,649 in 1930. Imports of dairy products dropped from $5,085,151 in 1913 to $4,390,917 in 1929, when $2,200,117 worth of foreign dairy products was imported and $2,190,800 worth of additional products brought in from Canadian provinces. Exports, between 1923 and 1929, receded fractionally from $244,669 to $236,872, a drop of $7,797.

An extensive tabulation of figures is given in the report, showing what took place in every year in respect to the value of the products produced by British Columbia dairies, imports, exports and other data.

RETURNS DECREASED

The tabulation in respect to the value of dairy production is illuminating, and may be summarized as follows: Value of production, 1913, $2,593,404; 1928, $5,516,042; 1923, $9,234,575; 1928, $12,934,156; 1930, $13,307,309. The number of dairy cows in the same years were 24,000, 36,490, 61,670, 102,963 and 118,649 cows, respectively. Return per cow, however, followed a reverse chart, rising and falling in years as follows: $120.98, $151.2,2 $149.74, $125.61, and $112.15, the figure recorded in 1930.

VANCOUVER'S MAYOR TO-DAY IN OTTAWA

Taylor Asks Conference Be Called to Deal With Unemployment

Canadian Press

Montreal, May 2.—With the cost of caring for the unemployed in the city of Vancouver at $5,000 a day, that city's municipal government was growing anxious and taking steps to alleviate its burden, L. D. Taylor, mayor of Vancouver, said in an interview here before he left for Ottawa to discuss with the government the possibility of holding a conference of mayors of Western cities with a view to developing some co-operative programme for supplying employment.

Last year Vancouver spent $750,000 caring for its unemployed, the mayor said. This year it had already spent $250,000. Although a law had been passed providing that after the first of April the city would only take care of men who had been residing in it for a year or more, the daily cost was still growing. Men from the prairie provinces, from the lumber camps in the mountains and from small towns in the west rode to Vancouver on freight trains and settled there, confident the city would not let them want for food or shelter.

Mr. Taylor outlined a situation much like that which exists in Montreal. With a population of 300,000, Vancouver was struggling with the burden of supporting 15,000 unemployed, many of whom had families, he said. Efforts had been made to anticipate the future and carry on such public work as would be required in the next few years. Streets had been cut through and sewers had been laid. The comparatively warm winter had permitted laborers to work outside the year round, but these tasks had served only to permit the city to keep its entire staff of 1,800 laborers steadily employed and had done nothing to relieve want among the 15,000.

These the city had cared for by providing shelters, in the case of single men, any by paying rents where families were involved. To some, money had been given by the city, and to others meal tickets, that were good in any of the fifteen or twenty restaurants. None had been allowed to go uncared for.

STAMPDOM

There will be a Graf Zeppelin trip to the North Polar regions in June. The first leg will be from Berlin to Moscow, and the second from Moscow to the Polar region. Mail will be carried and there will probably be a special stamp, special cachets.

The new postage and postage due stamps of French Sudan, twenty-two values, have three different designs; are all bi-colored, with the postage series perforated 13½ by 14½, and the due series of ten stamps, perforated 14½ by 13½. Native woman, native gateway and canoeman comprise the three designs.

Because of a currency change in the Iraq (Mesopotamia) new postage, or overprints on current postage, may be forthcoming shortly.

Peru has added two additional postage stamps to its new series, small format by Harrison & Sons, England. Hungary has added two additional values to its postage due series.

A new and extraordinary series of postage stamps is due to appear and it is up to every philatelist to watch for them. The series is an innovation in that they will be issued by the Balkan Postal Union. The countries in which they will be postally used are Turkey, Greece, Roumania, Albania, Jugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Austria, it is said, is contemplating a commemorative series of postage for the 175th anniversary of the birth of Mozart.

Word comes that Bolivia will shortly have a series of three commemorative postage stamps for the recent (June, 1930) revolution in that country, thus following the late example of the Argentine.

The stamp album is one of the most curious portrait galleries in existence! Here one may discover the likenesses of many heroes, heroines and villains! On a Russian postage stamp of 1913 one sees the likeness of the last Romanoff Czar of Russia, Nicholas II. Here, too, one looks upon that German war leader of the Great War, President of the German Republic, Von Hindenburg. Or one may find Joanna of Gouveia, that famous Portuguese woman, fighting the Moors in 1385.

Precancel and bureau print collectors are quite numerous, and their numbers are growing.

ticular issue, in the top line covering the "eve" of Cleveland.

And now with the Spanish Republic established, we may look for an end of the kingdom postage and expect new stamps!

The Bahamas centenary issues of postage became obsolete April 30. Germany now has a new 4-pfennig postage issue in use. Most of the 1905 anniversary issue of Russia were issued imperforate, but a limited number were perforate. The new Southwest African stamps are rather attractive. Four printings. Two of them airmail issues.

Ultra-violet ray lamps have been invented by a German physician to treat the interior of the human body, an attendant being able to watch the effect of the light on various organs.

A meeting to reorganize the St. Columba's junior branch of the women's auxiliary was held in the Institute Hall, Wilkinson Road, on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Brooks, diocesan junior secretary-treasurer, ten girls and five members from the senior branch were present.

Mrs. Watling conducted the devotional exercises, after which Mrs. Brooks gave a helpful and interesting address on the object and work of the auxiliary, and wished them success in their work.

The following officers were elected: Secretary, Sybil Rodman; treasurer, Muriel Rodman; united thankoffering secretary, Patsy Gilham.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Watling, Mrs. Comley and Mrs. Stapleton served refreshments.

Steward: "We've struck an unchartered rock, and the captain wants you on deck at once."

Fair passenger: "What does he want me for?"

THREE VESSELS MAKE ESQUIMALT DOCK BUSY

Prince Rupert Has Interior Repairs Completed and Looks Almost Like New Ship; Salvage King and Princess Elizabeth Also in Drydock for Overhaul

Three ships were to-day in the Government drydock at Esquimalt making a busy scene as painters welded brushes and paint tins and hammers and mechanical devices performed their labors on the ships' hulls to make them spick and span for their season's work. The three vessels which are to-day high and dry in the huge basin are the Prince Rupert, the Salvage King and the Princess Elizabeth.

After being entirely rebuilt, as far as interior accommodation goes, the Prince Rupert of the Canadian National coast fleet will be released this week from Yarrow's Limited and will go to Vancouver to re-enter service to northern British Columbia after being in Esquimalt Harbor for the last three months. The Rupert, it will be remembered, sank mysteriously in Esquimalt Harbor alongside the Yarrow wharf about eight week ago and her interior was entirely ruined. The ship presented a sad and sorry mess when she was raised to the surface by the Salvage King. But her ruined interior was all torn out and everything new has been installed during the last six weeks. New furniture and new hangings give the ship a brand new appearance and when she is floated out of drydock this week her exterior will be shining in a fresh coat of black and white paint, and her three funnels of distinctive red, white and blue will be more colorful than ever. The repairs to the Prince Rupert have cost slightly in excess of $100,000 and is one of the largest ship repair jobs ever to be carried out by Yarrow's Limited.

The Salvage King of the Pacific Salvage Company went out to Esquimalt Harbor this morning from her berth in the inner harbor. She is in the centre of the drydock and will be cleaned and painted before coming back to Victoria.

In the outer section of the drydock is the C.P.R. steamer Princess Elizabeth which was taken off the night run between Victoria and Vancouver yesterday. She will be given annual spring overhaul before being returned to service. It is just about a year ago that the Princess Elizabeth arrived in Victoria from her builders in Scotland. Since that time she has given excellent service and has stood up well during her many trips between this port and Vancouver. The Victoria Machinery Depot is doing the work on the Salvage King and the Princess Elizabeth.

WILL ATTEMPT TO MAKE NEW COAST RECORD

Princess Kathleen to Speed Up on Special Excursion Trip to Seattle May 16

The C.P.R. coast steamer Princess Kathleen will attempt to set a record of three hours between Victoria and Seattle on Saturday, May 16, when she takes a special excursion voyage that day, it was learned here this morning. The ship will leave the Belleville Street docks here at 9 o'clock in the morning and if wind and tide and other weather conditions are favorable her skipper hopes to have her tied up in Seattle by noon.

Since the Princess Kathleen arrived on the coast five years ago from Scotland she has been making many speedy voyages and has often made the trip from Victoria to Seattle in three and a half hours. So far she has never made it in three hours, although it is quite confidently felt that she will break the record on May 16.

This excursion is drawing much attention from Victorians and when the palatial steamer sets out on her voyage it is expected she will have her capacity of 1,500 passengers aboard. With the early arrival in Seattle the passengers will have more time to go sightseeing and shopping in the Sound city. The steamer will leave Seattle at 6 o'clock in the evening and will probably be back in Victoria at 9 o'clock.

The Princess Kathleen has now completed her annual spring overhaul and yesterday was placed on the night run between Victoria and Seattle, relieving the Princess Elizabeth for her spring overhaul. This week the Kathleen will go into service on the triangle run in place of the Princess Charlotte, which has been on this run for several months.

Liquor Boat Escapes But Leaves Cargo

Galveston, Texas, May 4.—A liquor running boat escaped from coastguardsmen here yesterday in a hail of bullets, but left behind $43 cases of assorted liquors and three men, who assertedly had been helping to land the liquor.

Twelve guardsmen took part in the seizure. The liquor was being landed by means of skiffs, the cargoes being transferred to trucks.

When guardsmen reached the scene the big craft raced away, leaving the skiffs, men, two trucks and a sedan.

The three men said they were fishermen hauling seines. They claimed they had waded behind the liquor laden dories when the flirng began and asserted ignorance of liquor operations. They were placed in jail. The liquor was brought here from the scene, ten miles west of here, and was valued at about $25,000.

SS. OTTER HAS BEEN SOLD TO W. COAST FIRM

Well-known Old Steamer Has Served C.P.R. Faithfully For Thirty-one Years

The well-known steamer Otter, which has been in C.P.R. service on this Coast since she was built in 1900 in Victoria, will be seen no more flying the scheduled house flag of her company, for this week she is being taken over by Gibson Brothers, who have a fish reduction plant and sawmill at Matilda Creek on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The Otter will be used as a fish tender to go out into the ocean and bring the catches in from the smaller boats.

The Otter is perhaps best known on this Coast to residents of the Gulf Islands, through which she has plied every winter for many years. In the summer months the Otter has been tied up in the inner harbor. That she will be sorely missed at the numerous ports in the islands is seen in the following story by a resident of one of the islands:

"Friday, May 1, marked the last scheduled journey of the Otter through the Gulf Islands. What resident of these beautiful islands is not familiar with this famous old vessel of early Victorian type? Famed for her spacious dining-room in which they have enjoyed many a sumptuous C.P.R. meal in the company of the genial skipper, Capt. Harrison, who, though out of health sometime ago, is to-day looking as jovial and hearty as ever; famed for her attractive saloon on the foredeck, which although marked for the use of "ladies only," has, through the characteristic kindliness of the fair sex throughout the Gulf Islands, given admittance and provided comfortable accommodation to the gentlemen aboard who have preferred the saloon to a restful deck chair 'aft' round the heat derived from the smokestack, watching the escort of grey-winged gulls who have, year after year, paid the same attention to the Otter as to the Princess Kathleen and other ships of modern type. The Otter is famed also for her cabin accommodation for those who have preferred to sleep on board rather than occupy any room on shore when this ship has been in port; and last of all, and by no means least, famed for the good natured crew always carried by this vessel from the skipper down to every deckhand.

"There was a touch of pathos in the scene at Galiano wharf, the last point of call last Friday, as this good old ship made her starboard landing in her wonted excellent style, no matter the wind or the currents to be encountered. Representatives of public bodies and public officials had, gathered at the wharf head, and after the island freight had been discharged and taken aboard, a rousing cheer arose for the old ship and her gallant crew, not forgetting the great company she represented, which has given such excellent service these many years to the Gulf Islands. Among those present were: The president of the Galiano Island Development Association; the president of the Galiano Club; the secretary of the G.I.D.A., the secretary of the Galiano Club, the Galiano postmaster, the chairman of the Galiano Agricultural and Industrial Show with the honorary secretary, and the Gulf Islands Branch of the Canadian Legion was represented by a vice-president and several comrades. Among the assemblage were also noticed the president of the B.C. Fox and Fur Farmers' Association Inc., as well as the honorary secretary of the United Fur Farmers' Council of B.C. Gossip Island Hotel and Resort was also represented by the owner.

"Although 'adieu' has been taken to the good old Otter the desire of all is that her genial crew may long continue in the service, and serve the traveling public to and from the Gulf Islands in a manner which does much to make such traveling memorable and enjoyable. It is also hoped that ere long those of the islands adjacent to Vancouver may enjoy a daily service to and from the terminal city of the mainland as is now appreciated by the residents of Salt Spring Island and such islands as are adjacent to Victoria.

"When this service is given and maintained the development of the Gulf Islands as a whole will prove phenomenal and warrant the service provided, for the beauty of these islands and their remarkable climatic conditions cannot be surpassed the world over, and British Columbia has in these lovely resorts an asset for development as such which would become world renowned and be the means of bringing millions of dollars to this province."

Capt. Waard And Coquet Leave Port

Captain Robert Waard's schooner Coquet which has been at the Causeway for the last three weeks, merely slipped out of the harbor quietly over the week-end for a little visit to Vancouver. She will probably return here before long.

Capt. Waard hopes to sell his schooner. She is a beautifully finished boat, done in teak wood and Borneo jagger. She is admirably fitted up for fishing purposes and was built for this use, the captain explained when he was here.

Capt. Waard and his son were the only two aboard for the trip to Vancouver.

Fishing Restrictions Now Will Help Future

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 4.—Restriction of fishing in British Columbia coast waters this season owing to depressed state of the market for canned, smoked and fresh fish, declared Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor for the Department of Fisheries, in an interview to-day, will not be an unmitigated evil.

"One season of light fishing," he said, "will do a great deal toward helping conservation of our fisheries resources. When less fish are taken from the waters it means there is a maximum escapement to the spawning grounds and as a result, in three or four years, when in all probability world trade is on the boom again, there will be a tremendous catch of mature fish available."

Major Motherwell is making plans for comprehensive inspection activities during the coming season. Tenders are being called for twenty-five gasboats for patrol work in No. 2 district, northern Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlottes. Offers will close May 20.

FEWER PATROL BOATS

Last year, in all districts, the department utilized ninety-five patrol boats. It is likely, said Major Motherwell, owing to cutting of the department estimates at Ottawa that this number will be reduced but by how many he will not know until advices come from the minister.

The department had forty-four of its own vessels on patrol work last year. This year four new departmental boats are being built at Walkem's shipyards. One of these was launched last Monday. Each is fifty-two feet long and powered with full Diesel engines.

Aerial patrol work will be conducted by Western Canada Airways, which company last year obtained a two-year contract. The planes will undertake 400 hours of patrol, starting July 1.

CABLE EARNINGS SHOW DECREASE

The estimated traffic receipts for March of this year of the Imperial and International Communications Limited were $2,238,340, compared with $2,461,580 for March of 1930, according to word received in Victoria this morning from H. C. Cox, manager at the Banfield station of the company. The aggregate earnings from January 1 to March 31 this year were $6,255,185, compared with $7,359,265 for the same period in 1930.

The message receipts for March of this year are not strictly comparable with those for March of 1930, Mr. Cox states in his letter. In March 1930, are included receipts at certain stations in Portuguese, East Africa, which by arrangement with the company are now collected with a subsidiary company. In March, 1931, the company includes in full traffic which prior to February 28 was shared with the Indo European Telegraph Company and the Indo European Telegraph Department. The effect of these operations is that the total traffic receipts in March include a sum of approximately $125,000, not included in previous years. Against this sum, however, have to be set off various amounts which hitherto have been received as dividends.

Drink Charge Held Insult To Cricketers

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Lord Hawke, opening the new gymnasium at Leeds University, made a spirited rejoinder to Lady Astor's recent statement that England lost the "Ashes" last year because the Australians were teetotalers. He said:

"I am cometimes asked my opinion as to whether drink—by which is always meant alcoholic drink—is harmful to athletes. As to this I am an absolutely firm believer in that grand old rule—moderation in all things. I would no sooner advise any of you who do not drink to being to drink than I would interfere by advising any who do drink to give it up. I have never known any player of any game who drinks in moderation who was or is the least bit the worse for the habit."

A MISTAKEN VIEW

"I regretted it very much when a short time ago Lady Astor said in effect that England lost the 'Ashes' last year because the Australians were teetotalers (continued Lord Hawke). I wish to state here publicly that her ladyship was very badly informed; indeed, nothing given as a reason for Australia's much-deserved victory could be further from the truth. Of the Australian eleven six or seven are not teetotalers. Of the last England eleven the captain is a teetotaler; Hobbs practically if not absolutely so; and White, Duleepsinhji, Peebles, Sutcliffe and Leyland are notably abstemious men. Lady Astor's remark, for which I have heard no apology, was an insult our cricketers might well have been spared."

LADY ASTOR'S REJOINDER

Speaking at Northampton, Lady Astor said that she had been charged with insulting our cricket players because she said in a recent speech in the House of Commons that beer never made good athletes. "As though I would insult them," she continued, "when three of my own boys are doing nothing but bowling all day." Lady Astor read a telegram she had received from her husband, who wired: "Urging you strongly to refuse to say anything about the drink." Lady Astor added: "Even die-hard Tories, who with the Left Wing Socialists are the biggest enemies of this country, tell me they had never heard a more reasonable, moderate speech, and I am glad to come to Northampton to show you that I am a perfectly respectable, law-abiding young woman."

ENGLISH FOOTBALL CLUBS' DECISIONS

At a meeting of representatives of First and Second Division clubs of the Association Football League, held at Manchester, the following decisions were reached:

1. That except as regards the international match between England and Scotland, all international matches in which the services of a player registered with the Football League are intended to be utilized must be played on a date prior to December 14 in each year.

2. No player playing under the jurisdiction of the Football Association and registered with the Football League shall be eligible to play for any national association other than the Football Association, unless the national association so desiring his services shall at least twenty-one days before the date of such international match have made application to the management committee of the Football League for permission to play, and such consent be duly obtained.

3. Nothing herein contained shall affect the right of any club in membership with the Football League to refuse permission to any of its registered players assisting any national association other than the national association exercising jurisdiction over such clubs in an international match.

4. A national association requesting the services of any player for a Saturday who is registered with the Football League shall pay to the club whose player is so utilized the amount of wages which such club would pay to such player for each week in which such service is given.

In regard to the insurance of players taking part in representative matches, it was finally agreed that the management committee of the Football League take steps to provide reasonable insurance on behalf of players for injuries to cover a stated period.

The matter of the broadcasting of matches was discussed, and a unanimous vote was given against the proposal to broadcast.

LEAGUE PRESIDENT TO RETIRE

Surprise was expressed when John McKenna, president of the league, announced that he did not intend to offer himself again as a candidate for the office. Mr. McKenna, who is also a vice-president of the Football Association, said that as he would complete twenty-one years' service in June as president of the league he felt that a younger man ought to be elected. The decision of Mr. McKenna will be received with general regret if adhered to. Although he has been identified with association football for so many years, Mr. McKenna was originally a follower of rugby when he came from Ireland to Liverpool in 1872, and for a long time was a member of the Lancashire Rugby Union. Turning his interest to soccer he became closely associated with the Everton club, and was one of those who founded the Liverpool club in 1892. After holding the position of honorary secretary he became chairman of the club on the resignation of Mr. Edward Berry. He succeeded Mr. J. J. Bentley as president of the Football League in 1910, and although his election was not unanimous there was an overwhelming majority in his favor. Such has been the confidence reposed in him that his re-election by the clubs year after year has been enthusiastic and almost automatic.

As the cup was handed over into the youth's hands, there went up cries of "Speech! Speech!" Meanwhile the lad was able to collect his thoughts and, of course, to catch his breath. Then, he stepped up on a bench—there came an abrupt and eager hush. "Gentlemen," he said, "I have won this cup by the use of my legs. I trust I may never lost the use of my legs by the use of this cup."

Your FLOWER GARDEN

Many Varieties of Roses Lend Color and Fragrance to the Home Garden

By D. VICTOR LUMSDEN

For almost every part of our country there are types of roses that can be grown successfully and the beauty of the rose blossoms can be used for many diverse purposes of ornamentation.

The rugosa type roses, which are the most hardy and will grow in our coldest states, are of a shrubby habit of growth. This makes them satisfactory for use with other shrubs in a landscape planting as well as for their blossoms.

There are now in the trade many hybrids of the rugosa rose which are well worthy of trial. The single flowered kinds are recommended for naturalistic plantings and the double flowering sorts can be utilized in more formal designs and in rose gardens.

This type of rose not only is very hardy but is resistant to adverse growing conditions and to plant pests.

The hybrid perpetual type comprises large and vigorous growing plants. They are long lived roses and are suitable for planting in nearly all parts of the United States with the exception of the extreme south.

NOT LONG IN BLOOM

Do not make the error, however, of assuming that because these plants are called perpetual they will blossom throughout the summer. Generally their blossoming period is confined to a glorious display of bloom in late spring.

In most cases the flowers are larger and more completely doubled than in any other type of rose. In northern gardens they are the only ones which can be made to produce long stemmed flowers of good form without great care and protection during the winter.

Because the hybrid perpetuals bloom only during one part of the year they should be so planted as to be inconspicuous when not in bloom. It takes this type of rose longer to establish itself than some of the other types, but by the second year after planting it comes into its own. The size and fragrance of the flower are particularly noteworthy.

SPREAD OVER SEASON

Hybrid tea roses, which are frequently called monthly or ever-blooming, are our most popular type. It is erroneous to think of them as blooming at full capacity throughout the summer, but they can be chosen and planted so that the days are few when blossoms can not be found in the garden.

The hybrid tea roses are adaptable roughly to the southern half of the United States except where altitude results in severe winter weather. They will thrive north of this area where the ocean makes the climate milder and also where the plants are protected in winter.

It is from this type of rose that we obtain the greater number of fragrant long-stemmed roses which are beautiful in both form and color.

To select rose varieties which will prove suitable for your climate, and also in colors that will appeal, obtain rose catalogues from dealers and study the characteristics of each kind.

HANSEN TO MEET WILKINS IN MAIN WRESTLING BOUT

Charlie Hansen, Seattle grappler, will clash with Paul Wilkins in the main event on the Tillicum wrestling card on Saturday evening and Rocky Brooks will probably meet the "Black Panther" in the semi-windup.

Wrestling classes will be held at the gymnasium on Wednesday evening as usual with the under sixteen year old class taking the mat from 7.30 to 8.30 o'clock and the over sixteen group from 8.30 o'clock on..

A full attendance is requested.

Holman's hit. Camubell scored and Holman stole second as Craig went to third. Tarowing to catch Holman, the Eagles let Craig come in and Holman went to third, where he died.

DOWN ONE, TWO, THREE

The Eagles went down one, two, three in the fifth, Brown flying out to Campbell, Cornwal flying out to Down and Love grounding out at first.

In the Sons' session at bat, Hilton went to first on a drive to left field, and reached second on a pretty bunt which took Haines to first. Collins bunted perfectly to load the bases. Hilton was put out at home, but Cann filled the gap when he was hit by the pitcher and went to first. Campbell sacrificed to bring in Haines in the trickiest play of the day. Haines was stealing home, Cornwall attempted to throw to Nex to catch him and Campbell stepped in and walloped the ball for a sacrifice. In the mix-up Collins came in before Craig struck out.

Bridgewood led off for the Eagles in the sixth with a Texas Leaguer, but Holman ran in to catch him out. Nex grounded out to Craig and Collins tagged first to retire Brousseau.

Down got a base on balls for the Sons and went to second on Holman's safety to left field. Bacon bunted and Down came in while he reached first. Hilton stuck out and Holman came home on Haines's hit. Collins and Cann both struck out, but Bacon stole home before the latter went to the dugout.

Dunc and Gandy got on bases on a hit to centre field and bunt respectively. Essler struck out Brown filed out and Dunc was put out on third.

Holness replaced Cornwall on the mound for the Eagles as the Sons went into the seventh. Campbell was caught out by Gandy in left field, Craig was struck out and Down was put out at first in the other scoreless session of the Sons.

GETS HOMER

Going up to the bat for the first time, Bill Holness picked out one of Cann's offerings and clouted it over centre field fence for the only homer of the day. Love struck out, Bridges was put out by Campbell and Nex's fly was caught.

Holman slugged a two-bagger to centre field to lead off the Sons last inning. Bacon was put out at first, Hilton went to first on a walk and Holman came in on Haines's single. Collins and Cann struck out.

In the final Eagles' frame, Brousseau singled and went to second on Collins's error. Dunc was put out by Craig. Gandy sacrificed to bring in Brousseau and Esler went to first before Cann struck out Brown.

Seattle, May 4.—Seattle and Hollywood divided a double-header here yesterday, the Indians capturing the first tilt, 2 to 0, while the Stars scored two runs in the tenth inning to win the second, 5 to 3. The second game was scheduled to go only seven innings to allow the Hollywood team to catch their train south, but it was not until the tenth that they could put over the two running runs.

PUTS PLANE BASE DECISION UP TO RAIL OFFICIALS

Ottawa Department Says Case Now Rests in Hands of Steamer Interests

Establishment of a seaplane base in Victoria Harbor now rests with the steamship companies which have voiced objections to the plan, according to a communication received today by Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman of the city industrial committee, from G. J. Desbarats, deputy Minister of National Defence, who says the department cannot grant a license for the base until the steamship interests "withdraw their active opposition."

The department states that the selection of a site for the base rests with the civic authorities, but must have approval of the Ottawa officials. Alderman Straith pointed out that departmental authorities have already given their opinion that the harbor is the only logical site for a base.

The letter from Ottawa also indicates that railway heads are now reconsidering Victoria's case, as a result of recommendations made by the local committee to E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of C.P.R., during his visit here.

Since Mr. Beatty's visit, a large number of prominent public organizations here have gone on record favoring the establishment of the base and have forwarded their opinions to the officials interested. Civic authorities are confident that those opposing the base will be willing to consider the best interests of the cit yand withdraw their opposition.

Boy Newsies Seek Honors As Bandsmen

Organization of Juvenile Musicians Promises to Flood the World With Entertainers; The Booming Horns and the Big Bass Drums Most Popular.

It is a direct contradiction of the oft-repeated argument that the radio, gramophone and pianola are driving youngsters away from the task of learning music, but in Victoria and elsewhere there are more young students of music to-day than at any time in history, according to reliable information.

They are all turning to bands. Evidently the martial music of the drums, the cornet and the big trombone has a greater appeal to-day than at any other time.

Public schools, newspapers, colleges and high schools are turning to band music. When present day bandsmen entered the game there were one or two bands to a city. School bands and juvenile bands were unknown.

Victoria broke the ice with the Naval Brigade Boys' Band. Then it had a band of young pipers. Then came the girls' band. Now Major Harry Watts is organizing the Y.M.C.A. boys' band. In Vancouver newsies are letting off steam in The Vancouver Sun Carriers' Band and the Newspaper Carriers' Band. In North Vancouver the Kiwanis Club has organized a juvenile band. At Natal there is a schoolgirls' band. The Board of Trade of North Burnaby has sponsored a band of boys and girls.

"The idea has spread over the world in the last five years," Bandmaster James M. Miller of the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish said. "Bandsmen used only to be recruited from the sons of bandsmen. Now times have changed."

Leaders of juvenile bands have little trouble getting members. Most of the lads want to play the big drum or a cornet. Major Watts is in need of players for the alto horn, euphonium and trombone, but expects little difficulty in securing them.

Easy music now turned out for young bandsmen by publishers enables them to make a good showing in a short space of time.

The young lads of the "Y" were so advanced in a few weeks they had to move their practice quarters from a room adjoining the gymnasium. The strains of march music reached the gymnasts, who were exercising to piano music and between the two the athletes were all at sixes and sevens.

R. W. Mayhew Takes Office as President of Chamber of Commerce

Mayhew, president, and James Parfitt, vice-president, congratulating the chamber upon its new officers. Both officers were accorded rounds of applause. Mr. Mayhew, when taking over the chair from P. B. Fowler, retiring president, accorded high praise to his predecessor for his conduct of the chamber's affairs for two years. He also appealed for consistent support by the citizens for the efforts of the chamber.

Messrs. Greenidge and Hill were reappointed as auditors for the year.

This Fisherman Must Have Been Real Enthusiast

While it is well-known that fishermen will go to any lengths to obtain their ends; that they will sit all day in miserable rain on a precarious perch to catch a six-inch trout, or will row all day in blazing sun when most people are fighting for shade, and will exaggerate without compunction to impress you with the size of their "big one," the man who broke into a boat at Armstrong Brothers' wharf in the harbor Saturday night has got them all beaten. He took fifty pounds of lead sinkers and a bunch of spoons, according to a police report. The bulletin does not add whether or not he caught anything yesterday.

BIG DROP IN BUTTER PRICES THIS MORNING

Four Cents Decrease Wholesale Following Two-cent Decrease Last Week

All Retail Prices Down This Morning; One Store Quotes Alberta Creamery at 34

Butter is selling lower now than at any other time in the last twenty years, a wholesaler said this morning. Added to the two-cents a pound drop of last week on all except New Zealand wholesale prices, comes a further drop this morning of four cents a pound. Best Alberta butter—"full grass butter"—is now selling on wholesale row at 30 cents a pound. Wholesale prices this morning range all the way from 36 cents on New Zealand, which has remained stationary, to 25½ on No. 3 Alberta.

This 6-cent drop in wholesale prices, which wholesalers say is not merely temporary, will tend to drive all except Canadian butter off the market. The full reaction has not yet been felt in retail quotations, but at an early hour this morning substantial price reductions were to be noted.

Best Alberta creamery was quoted in one prominent store at 34 cents, three pounds for a dollar, and another store was selling it at 35 cents, with the price not yet definitely fixed.

The new retail prices on prints, compared with those of a week ago, as quoted by one store, are:

	To-day	Last week
Salt Spring	40	45
Cowichan cream. (same)	45	45
Our Own Brand	36	40
Brookfield	36	40
Fraser Valley	36	39
Handipats	36	40
Alta. Cream. (same)	34 to 35	38
New Zealand (same)	43	43

Egg prices have also taken a drop. Two prominent retail stores quote B.C. fresh extras at 22 cents a dozen and firsts at 20 cents. One of them is selling pullet extras at 18 cents.

Nanaimo, May 4.—Southend United defeated Park Rangers 3 to 2 in the replay of the Baggatin Cup final. Dean scored for Southend and Watchorn equalized shortly after. Bevis gave Southend the lead five minutes later from a free kick, the half time score being 2 to 1. There was no further scoring until five minutes from time, when the Rangers equalized. Both teams batted hard and two minutes from time Booth presented the Baggatin Cup, emblematic of the mid-Island championship, to Capt. Bevis of Southend.

Newspaper Plan Failed, He Says

How an attempt to start a political newspaper came to grief was revealed in City Police Court this morning when Frank Harrison Ogden pleaded guilty to two charges of using forged documents as if they were genuine.

The informations against Ogden were laid by A. G. Hilden, who, Ogden claimed, was his employer in the project. While admitting that he had signed bogus advertising orders, he said he did so on Hilden's instructions to impress people with the proposed newspaper.

Ogden said he was to have approached members of Parliament to secure funds for the paper but he did not do so.

"Hilden was broke and told me to get the money," he said.

The paper, it was stated, was to be known as The B.C. Transcript.

Ogden was remanded till to-morrow for sentence.

Hilden did not appear.

Mayor Anscomb To Open Festival To-morrow

Civic Head Pays Tribute To Worth Of Event To City

Will Give Address of Welcome to Contestants, Visitors and Judges at 7.30 o'Clock in First United Church; Voices Appreciation of Value of Festival and Warmly Commends Executives and Former Officers for Establishing and Maintaining It

The city's appreciation of the Victoria Musical Festival Association for its contribution to the development of the cultural life of Victoria was expressed by Mayor Anscomb to-day. His Worship will extend an official welcome to competitors, visitors and adjudicators at to-morrow evening's session, at 7.30 o'clock, in First United Church. The festival will open in the morning in the same church, but the civic greeting will not be given until the evening.

"It is a fine thing for the city, for the children and for adults. It creates a sentiment and idea for music and song which, to a great extent, keeps the world in harmony," he said.

The growth of the festival in the comparatively short period of five years was singularly gratifying and showed the energy of those in charge of the event, he said.

The mayor voiced his appreciation for the assistance given by the churches, commenting on the accommodation they furnished.

With great favor he noted the success the festival executive had attained in securing such renowned adjudicators whom, the thought, would not only be of immense value in criticising the work of the contestants, but would also tend to enlist the support of the general public.

MATERIAL VALUE

From a material point of view, the mayor saw the festival as a decided asset to the city from the standpoint of bringing in more tourists, whom he thought, could not help being impressed with the high standard of excellence of the competitors.

The festival, unlike many other celebrations held in the city, lasted for several days, giving lovers of music, dramatic art and folk dancing an opportunity to attend many presentations.

Glowing tribute was paid by him to the officers, particularly the late George F. Watson and H. A. Beckwith, and members of the executive who had fostered the festival idea and brought it to its present strength. The mayor noted the arduous work that had to be put into the event before it became an established feature in B.C. musical circles.

MERITS PUBLIC SUPPORT

As long as the festival committee continued to select people of such capabilities to conduct its affairs it would always gain public support.

During the morning and afternoon sessions children's vocal, pianoforte and choral classes will be judged, with some of the finals scheduled for the evening, following the mayor's welcome at 7.30 o'clock.

Everything has been completed for the event and with recorders and other officials ready the festival should get away to a flying start and continue without interruption until Saturday evening.

A novelty introduced last year that is a great test for accompanying artists, will again be one of this year's features. An official soloist selected by the committee will sing a song in the way decreed by the adjudicator. This often means taking certain liberties with the composer's music. The competing accompanists will be required to play the accompaniment at sight. Since the song will be unknown to the contestants, it will be a supreme test of an accompanist's talent to adapt themselves to the singer's rendition of the song. There are five entries for this event.

TREND NOW TO DEVELOP VOICE FOR SPEAKING

Radio and Talking Pictures Bringing Importance of Cultivated Voice to Front

Festival Aiding Movement By Including Contests For Elocution

By MRS. WILFRID ORD

In modern days the value of expression through the speaking voice has been undervalued in comparison with every other mode of artistic expression. The radio and talking pictures are, however, drawing such world-wide attention to speech that there is no doubt that the art of expression through the spoken word will soon be given its right place in all modern schemes of education—as well as in festivals—as the most living and direct of arts. The radio and talkies are both revealing a lack of speech-training in education; in no branch of work are men so blinded by a preconceived certainty of their ability to do well, as in speaking and reading in public. The highest qualities of speech are so rarely heard that a sermon is spoken of as a treat if the preacher possesses a little grace of delivery besides that of complete audibility.

To-day it is forgotten, that the great classics of the world owe their existence to the importance attached to speech training in bygone times, for the greatest literature of the world was handed down by word of mouth.

DRAMA'S DEBT TO SPEECH

All the greatest dramatists of the world, from Aeschylus to Shakespeare, have appealed to the interpretative power of the voice. No more valuable advice on the art of expression has been given that that bequeathed to us by Shakespeare himself in the advice of "Hamlet" to the "Players," and one of the greatest playwrights of to-day, Sir Jackson Barry, reiterates this advice, even emphasizing the fact that the life and expression given to the words is the most important part of a play, and not the staging. Barry says, "The best type of play can be given with four chairs, and a table, if it is spoken well." There never was a time in the history of the world, thanks to the radio and talkies, when the power of a sweet resonant persuasive, intelligent voice was more appreciated. Yet the number of people who study their voices as a means of communicating thought is comparatively small.

It is extraordinary that the power to speak the English tongue well and convincingly should be regarded as an accomplishment secondary to playing an instrument or speaking a foreign language; yet that it has been so regarded, not only by ordinary individuals, but even by educationalists, is strikingly revealed by the radio and "talkies." How far these will affect speech within the next few years cannot be foretold, but the influence will be a very marked one. Probably the speech of cultivated English-speaking people in all parts of the world will more closely approximate, while even the dialetic differences heard in the speech of the illiterate will be greatly lessened, owing to the attention which will undoubtedly be given to this matter of preserving the beauty of the English language.

MOVE TO PURIFICATION

Already a broadcasting committee has been formed to give advice and instruction to announcers over the radio, and the Society of Pure English is represented right here in Victoria, and in many great cities of the English-speaking world. The first president of the society was the late Sir Robert Bridges, who said:

"The English language has the finest living literature of the world and there is danger lest English speech grow out of touch with that literature because of the widespread and haphazard distribution of speakers all over the world. No other language has had its central force so dissipated. Other races learn enough English to imitate it and through habitual intercourse infect the English-speaking people near to them."

GOOD SPEECH

Good speech depends on pure vowel sounds, careful articulation and musical tone, also freedom from affectation or exaggeration or obvious searching after effect. Bad speech has either impure vowel sounds or sloppy consonants, and is therefore indistinct—or on the other hand it is exaggerately refined with high-pitched or strident tone. No doubt in the near future all teachers and university students at least, will be expected to speak the English tongue well. Most people have two voices, the natural one, musical and beautiful—this is often lost after early youth or, at best, never developed—and the unnatural voice, harsh and commonplace, learnt often from imitation and mistaken for the genuine voice.

RECEIVES ATTENTION

Having regard to the greatest importance that speech-training is beginning to assume in public opinion, the musical festivals of this province are to be warmly congratulated on their fine progressive spirit in including elocution in their competitions.

Most people are sufficiently well informed to recognize the connection that exists between speech and song. Every teacher of song should understand something of elocution and expression; every teacher of elocution should understand voice production. All arts of expression are, of course, connected, but these two, particularly so.

The festival movement deserves the support of all thinking people, for it solves the problem of providing healthy occupation for the leisure of the young people growing up. This problem is one of the most serious that confronts the world to-day. These competitions, of course, have their objections. No judge is infallible and disappointments must be many, the prizes being few compared with the number of competitors, also many persons are never able to give of their best in competitions. Great sacrifices of time and labor have to be made by competitors, parents and teachers, not to mention the heavy labor done by members of the committees.

Year by year the sporting spirit in both competitors and public is more and more apparent as the ideals animating this great movement sink into the consciousness of the people. This province is indebted to the Knights of Pythias for initiating the festival competitions in British Columbia. Perhaps as the little theatre movement grows in Canada, children may be brought into it, and who knows but that in the future we may have here in Victoria a great dramatic festival of the very significant type inaugurated by Sir Barry Jackson in Malvern. In many respects Victoria is well fitted to be the great artistic centre of the west, not only for the arts of music, speech and drama, but for all other arts as well.

OBJECT OF FESTIVAL

"In musical festivals the object is not to gain a prize, or defeat a rival, but to pace one another on the road to excellence." These words of Sir H. Walford Davies, one of the foremost adjudicators in Great Britain, are the motto of the Victoria Musical Festival, which gets under way Tuesday.

FESTIVE TICKETS

This year membership tickets are being sold, which will admit their owners to all the day sessions, and entitle them to a half-price ticket in the evening.

FULL CONTROL OF BREATH IS SINGER'S NEED

Tones Distorted By Incorrect Breathing, Producing Gasps and Whines

Breath Control Is Largely Governed By Fine Diction

By MARY McCOY JAMESON

Many years ago a great teacher said, "He who knows how to breathe knows how to sing." If he was right, then comparatively few singers to-day know anything about singing, for it is quite evident that they know little or nothing about breathing. Listen to almost any group of singers, and you hear them gasping for breath before each new phrase, and very often even in the middle of the phrase, if it happens to be a little longer than usual.

This is equally true of solo singers. It is really quite distressing at times to see them laboring so strenuously to express themselves vocally. One singer puffs up his chest with each new intake of breath and feels very conscious of his breath supply but, unfortunately, he tires of holding the chest so distended. He sings in a constrained sort of way—afraid to let his tone escape freely, lest this pent-up breath escape also. Finally he gasps and starts over again. He is not out of breath, but rather out of control of breath. Perhaps, instead of distending the upper chest, he takes a deep breath, as he calls it, and tries to control it by keeping the ribs or abdomen distendec. The result is the same; the tone is either pinched and thin, or hard and unpleasant. The real trouble is that the actual strain of controlling this abnormal amount of breath is thrown on the muscles of the throat, and on the root of the tongue and jaw become rigid and stiff. There can be no warmth in the tone when this condition obtains. This singer is like the man who has a large fortune in the bank, but is in actual want of the necessities of life because he fears to spend anything for fear of losing all.

PRODUCES "WOBBLE"

If this sort of singing be continued for any length of time it will produce that most disagreeable of all things in singing—a "vibrato" or "wobble." We have all heard cases where it was practically impossible to tell whether the singer were singing the actual note of the song, the one above it, or the one below. What a tragedy for singers who have spent years of time and effort learning to sing, only to find their voices gone while they themselves are still in their prime.

The next singer comes along—usually this type aspires to be either a contralto or a dramatic soprano—she is quite pleasing to the eye until she begins to sing. Then up go the shoulders, the back bends, and the chest caves in. This singer probably has a very lovely voice if only we might hear it in its purity. But there is so much unvocalized breath escaping with it that the tone is wheezy and hollow. There is no variety of tone, color or expression of any kind in her singing nor, indeed, can there be, for all the fine points are smothered. We might liken this singer to the person with a very large income yet who is always in debt and having nothing to purchase the real necessities because he lets all his money simply slip through his fingers.

CONSPICUOUS BY ABSENCE

Breath control is almost conspicuous by its absence, and yet all are striving to acquire it. The trouble is the singer exhausts himself in the struggle and has no energy left for use in singing. If a swimmer were to follow the same course he would quickly sink to the bottom, or a runner would drop exhausted on the track before he could reach the goal.

UNDERSTAND SONG

A singer may give less attention to breath control for its own sake, and concentrate more on the beauty contained in the text and music of our song. The more we become obsessed with it the more beautifully will we express it verbally, and when a word is beautifully spoken the correct beautiful tone will come into it, becoming the very centre and core of the word itself. Mere loudness will give way to intensity of thought and emotion and that really constitutes "bigness of tone." The thought beautifully expressed will always be "just right," and the finer the diction the less demand there will be made on the breath.

So, after all, breath control is really governed, to a large extent, by fine diction.

FESTIVAL OFFICE

The affairs of the festival are in the hands of a committee operating from the festival office at the First United Church. Each member of the committee is in charge of a separate department. The executive consists of fourteen members, but the actual management is in charge of a committee of five. In addition, there are four hall managers, four platform stewards and four adjudicator's assistants, who will work full time. At each one of the doors there is a staff of doorkeepers, ticket-sellers and programme vendors. Ushers will be on the job in the evening. In all, exclusive of the committee, there are about sixty people seeing to the smooth running of the festival.

SPECIAL PRIZES DRAW WIDE INTEREST IN ALL SECTIONS

Keenest interest in the Victoria Musical Festival will centre around contests for special prizes donated for outstanding entries in different classes. While some of these are to a certain extent restricted, a large number of them take on the significance of championship awards.

Every Child Deserves the Gift of Music

It is impossible to enumerate the advantages of early musical training in the first few years of a child's life. Denial of this educational influence is robbing your son or daughter of a definite gift, the thrill of created music, if not a career then hours of real enjoyment.

The piano is the basic element of good music. A child cannot learn the true principles of harmony from an inferior instrument. The purchase of a WILLIS PIANO is an investment in happiness for your child, together with years of satisfaction in the actual piano you buy.

WILLIS PIANOS are unrivaled in tone, touch, workmanship and durability, leaders in the field for fifty years. Come in and talk over the matter with us. We will allow you a generous sum on your old piano, dividing the balance into easy payments.

Nearly 750 Entrants Will Seek Festival Laurels

Keen Interest Shown In Competitions For Highly-prized Awards

Contestants From All Over Province and Outside Points Will Seek Honors in Fifth Annual Event Here; Former Adjudicators Show Interest By Donating Special Prizes.

Outstanding artists of Victoria, Vancouver, the Island and other parts of British Columbia, as well as Washington and Oregon, will open their contests for coveted laurels in the Victoria Musical Festival at the First United Church to-morrow morning. Among them will be men and women, boys and girls, who have achieved triumphs in former competitions as well as those who are striving for the first time to gain recognition for their talents. In innumerable classes they will be gathered during the week to show their talents in the realms of music, elocution and dancing. Lovers of these muses will throng to the different buildings to watch the performances.

New classes introduced this year will add still further to the attractiveness of the programme in which approximately 750 persons are expected to take part. Costly prizes, tangible emblems of the honors they seek, will be held forth as rewards for contestants of outstanding merit.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Although the actual festival will start on Tuesday morning the contestants, visitors and members of the audience will be officially welcomed by Mayor Anscomb in the evening at eight o'clock in the First United Church, where all evening contests and recitals will be held.

Men who previously adjudicated in festivals here have demonstrated their interest in the function in a material manner through donation of many awards.

Professor Warren Allen, 1929 piano adjudicator, has given a medal for senior piano. Peter Meremblum, very well known in Seattle as a violinist and a frequent performer over radio station KOMO, has given a medal for intermediate violin. From Rex Underwood, 1929 adjudicator of strings, has come a medal for senior violin. A former Victorian, Francis Armstrong, now a noted concert violinist and teacher of Seattle, has donated a medal for the open violin class. Kola Levienne, Seattle 'cellist and radio artist, has presented a cup for instrumental trio. Carl Denton, Portland, who was an adjudicator in the first two festivals of 1927 and 1928, has put up a cup for string quartette—a newly developed class. One of the most prominent adjudicators last year, David Campbell, also of Portland, has sent a medal for original compositions and has helped a great deal in getting entries for this event.

ROSE BOWL COMPETITION

The palm of the musical festival for vocalists is the handsome B.C. Electric Company's rose bowl, which goes to the best among the six winners of the senior vocal classes and the winners of senior classes in previous festivals. This year, in addition to the six yet to be chosen as the best in the senior tenor, baritone, bass, soprano, contralto and mezzo-soprano classes, there are four entries from previous winners. The event will be the feature of the Saturday night programme. At present the rose bowl is held by Miss Dorothy Hartree.

An innovation this year is a class for original compositions. Entries for this can be mailed, and already a Montreal composer has submitted his work.

A novelty introduced last year that is a great test for accompanying artists, will again be one of this year's features. An official soloist selected by the committee will sing a song in the way decreed by the adjudicator. This often means taking certain liberties with the composer's music. The competing accompanists will be required to play the accompaniment at sight. Since the song will be unknown to the contestants, it will be a supreme test of an accompanist's talent to adapt themselves to the singer's rendition of the song. There are five entries for this event.

MORE GIRLS THAN BOYS

In the senior vocal solo classes, more than twice as many girls as boys have entered. The girls' sections are evenly divided, there being ten sopranos, twelve mezzo-sopranos and twelve contraltos. The dearth of basses in Victoria is shown in the two lone entries of singers in that class. But there are nine baritones and five tenor entries.

PIANO POPULAR

Judging from the entry list the greatest competition will be seen in the pianoforte section. As in previous years this division has attracted wide attention. String sections of the instrumental group, particularly violins, also show great strength in the entry list, while in the rest of the programme, vocal solo, junior vocal and elocution classes vie for popularity.

The complete programme is as follows:

SINGING

The inability to merge the inward thoughts with the outward expression—instinctively—is a disease which compels one who attempts to sing to make a fool of himself. The critic calls it "lack of imagination." The unscrupulous teacher either does not realize such a deficiency in his victim, or looks after the income's end. In both cases the victim is to be blamed because he should be able to discern it—instinctively, if he is not altogether a brute.

Cav. Di Castri's pupils who have attained a place among real singers—through their sincere spirit, are: John Moss—the talk of California, with KFRC; Merle North, who rose to professional standing; Muriel Pottinger, for whom Francesco Longo stated: "A singer with one of the most beautiful voices I have heard; James J. Mattheson, the well-known Victoria baritone; Dorothy Bishop, a contralto of exceptional vocal and artistic ability; W. Lucking and Mrs. James McBeane.

Leading Authorities Will Adjudicate At Festival

Outstanding Judges From Great Britain, Canada and U.S. Here

Men and Women of International Repute, Including Titled Critic, to Act as Adjudicators; British Experts Secured Through Affiliation With Western Canada Festival Associations

Adjudicators of international repute will preside at the Victoria Musical Festival this week. For the first time in the history of the movement in this city, a titled Britisher, Sir Hugh Roberton of Glasgow, Scotland, one of the leading Anglo-Saxon choral and vocal authorities, will officiate. Along with him will be the distinguished crities, H. Plunket Greene, London, expert in vocal music, and Harold Samuel, London, one of the world's greatest exponents of Bach and pianoforte judge of international note.

A figure of exceptional standing in Canada, Miss Jean Campbell of Winnipeg, whose training in the leading elocution centres of Great Britain and practical experience both there and in this Dominion have gained for her particular prominence, will be in charge of the elocution classes.

United States cultural circles will be represented by Prof. Franck Eichenlaub, Portland, Ore., violinist and instrumentalist extraordinary, and Miss Genieve Taylor, Seattle, folk dancing specialist, whose judging at the festival last year gained such high commendation.

POSSIBLE THROUGH AFFILIATION

Recently the Victoria Musical Festival Association affiliated with similar bodies in Western Canada, and by pooling expenses, was able to secure the services of these experts. It will be the first time such a renowned group of critics has been obtained for the event.

The adjudicators are among the foremost leaders in their respective fields and will be able to lend highly-trained ears and eyes to the performances of those taking part. Their adjudications will be very valuable.

SIR HUGH ROBERTON

Sir Hugh S. Roberton, who, with Mr. Green, will be in charge of vocal classes, is the well-known conductor of the Glasgow Orpheus Choir, probably the best known of the mixed choirs in the British Isles. He is a leading official in the British Federation of Musical Competition Festivals and represents the Canadian festivals on the council. This will be his third visit to Canada as an adjudicator. He originally conducted a small orchestra when he was asked to take over the conductorship of a workingmen's choir in Glasgow, called the Toynbee House Choir, which later became the Orpheus Choir. Sir Hugh's qualifications lie mainly along choral lines, although he has taken the vocal classes with considerable success.

H. PLUNKET GREENE

Mr. Greene is known as one of the finest, if not the finest, interpreter of vocal singing in the British Isles, and is the author of standard works on the subject. His metier is along the line of the vocal classes at all festivals, and he is a top-notcher among British adjudicators. He is an Irishman with all the fluency and brilliancy which is so characteristic of his race.

HAROLD SAMUEL

Mr. Samuel is one of the best known of the British pianists, is probably the leading exponent of Bach in England, and is recognized as one of the leading British adjudicators in his own class. He gained his musical education at Royal College of Music with Dannreuther and Stanford, and also had lessons from Albaniz, the famous Spanish composer. Mr. Samuel is principally known from his playing of Bach. His feat, which no other pianist has ever attempted, of giving six Bach recitals on six consecutive days, made a big stir in the musical world. He did this on three occasions to crowded halls. He has performed with most of the principal orchestras in England and has published many songs and a comic opera.

PROF. FRANCK EICHENLAUB

Prof. Eichenlaub began studying the violin at the age of nine. A few years later he went to Berlin as a pupil of Karl Markees, then to Prague, where he studied three years with Sevick, who taught such world renowned celebrities as Kubelik, Marie Hall and Kocian. Then followed a year in Brussels with Ovide Musin of the Royal Conservatory of Liege, at whose home he lived for many months, and so came directly under the influence of that wonderful master and exponent of the Belgian school traditions. Returning to the country of his birth Prof. Eichenlaub settled in Portland, where he has been identified with many musical activities, including the Portland Symphony Orchestra, of which he was one of the founders, and has been with them for over sixteen years. At present Prof. Eichenlaub is president of the Portland Music Teachers' Association.

JEAN CAMPBELL

Miss Campbell is director of speech and dramatic arts in St. Mary's Academy, Winnipeg, and has for ten years conducted one of the largest and most up-to-date studios in western Canada. She is a graduate of Glasgow University and studied under the late Thomas Harrower, F.E.I.S., authorized teacher of elocution in the Glasgow University. At a later date Miss Campbell assisted Mr. Harrower in his work in the art of speech and in higher English. She was the first elocution teacher in Canada to prepare pupils for the Trinity College of Music, London, examinations in elocution. Many of whom have passed with high honors. She is one of Canada's foremost producers of children's plays, and is prominent in the community theatre movement. She produces a number of children's plays in Winnipeg each winter, some with over sixty pupils in the casts. Jean Campbell is a noted concert artist, and has given recitals in many of the important cities of Canada, the United States and Europe.

MISS GENIEVE TAYLOR

Miss Taylor is probably one of the foremost exponents of folk dancing in the Pacific northwest. She has had much experience in this work, which she studied in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, France and England. She is a graduate of the Hinman School of Folk and Gymnastic Dancing, and was adjudicator in the 1929 Victoria festival.

SCHOOLS GIVE WARM SUPPORT TO FESTIVAL

Children Show Increasing Interest in Competitions, Local Authority Says

Foretells Time When Music Will Play Far Greater Part in Curricula

Encouraging signs of growing interest taken by school children in the Victoria Musical Festival have been noted with warm commendation by patrons of this study in local educational circles. One of these, who has a splendid opportunity to watch the development of the festival idea at first hand, has written as follows of the coming competitions:

"In five years one might almost expect the novelty to have faded somewhat, with a possible decline of interest and of entries.

"But so far as entries of school groups is concerned, a gradual but steady increase is still going on, and this in spite of competition with counter attractions for leisure, such as sport, moving pictures and 'canned music' generally.

"Though the number of group entries and the total number of individual children taking part shows an increase over previous years, there is still much more room for further increase in school classes. Indeed there is great promise of such an increase, as, each year the committee is succeeding in making festival preparation less and less a special task for teachers and pupils, and more and more an integral part of the general musical work of the class room.

VALUE TO CHILDREN

"Critics of musical study in general and of the festival movement in particular often ask the question: 'What is the use of it all?' Promotion and retention of interest in music is of immense value in later life—particularly in the profitable employment of leisure.

Ten or twenty years from now a fair working knowledge and appreciation of some branch of music will be of much greater value in daily life to the young people than the power to extract cube-root

"The competition element makes a particular appeal to the sporting instincts of young people. The burning ambition to show up well has its parallel in the competitive musical festival.

"Some would eliminate competition entirely from music. In many festivals in Great Britain it has been reduced somewhat and possibly future festivals here may consist of competitions and massed performances.

"At the coming festival, in any case, the stimulus of competition will certainly not be lacking and the committee hopes that the public will contribute generously by their attendance, to the encouragement of the young people taking part."

Wide Support Is Expected For Cultural Event

Organizers Hope For Big Crowds At Music Festival

Festival Week Marks Climax of Activities of Busy Groups Who Have Accomplished Great Task in Spite of Obstacles; Appreciation of Citizens Gratifying to Leaders in Movement; Started Ambitious Programme Week After 1930 Event.

With the opening of the Fifth Annual Musical Festival tomorrow, members of the different committees in charge of the event will witness the climax of a year's work, entailing the unstinted expenditure of energy and time. As a community project, they look for wide support from the city, not only because of the splendid talent assembled to take part in the event, not only from the wide variety of the programme nor the exceptionally outstanding adjudicators who have been secured to judge the different departments, but also on the grounds that the festival, tending as it does toward the cultural development of the city, is worthy of the approval of all its citizens.

From the week following the last festival to the present, the committees have been working constantly, encountering many hardships, including the reduction in the grants from the municipalities, and have finally completed their activities in a highly commendable manner.

Some idea of the work entailed in the organization of the festival may be obtained from the following statement from Harold A. Beckwith, president of the Musical Festival Association.

APPRECIATE COMMUNITY'S SUPPORT

"As we approach the time for the opening of Victoria's Fifth Musical Festival I welcome the opportunity of expressing in a few words my thoughts with regard to the position which the festival has come to occupy in this community.

"It has been very gratifying indeed to those of us who have been actively concerned in the festival movement here for the last six years, to receive, as we have, such a clear demonstration of the whole-hearted way in which our efforts are supported by the community.

"The carrying on of such a festival as ours calls for a very great deal of hard work, and the devotion of a large amount of time in order that all the details may be carefully attended to. To illustrate this I may point out that our first organization meeting for the 1931 festival was held immediately after the annual meeting in May of last year, and that before the end of June the committees entrusted with the selection of the test pieces, and obtaining of trophies and many other important committees had not only been appointed, but had made a good start towards the carrying out of their duties. By the end of July arrangements had been made for almost all of the medals and other trophies, and much other preliminary work had been done.

INNUMERABLE MEETINGS

"Meetings were resumed at the beginning of September and members of the various sub-committees spent hours each week in attending to the various matters which had to be dealt with before the syllabus was handed to the printer in the early part of October. From that time until a few weeks ago the whole executive committee met every two weeks, and most of the members have had many additional meetings of the sub-committees to which they were appointed. I need hardly say that the last two or three weeks have kept all of us extremely busy, not only in meetings, but in carrying out the various duties assigned to the individual members. Upon the commencement of the festival the active direction will be centred in a small sub-committee whose offices will be in the First United Church, and whose time will be almost entirely taken up during the whole week directing the operation of the festival.

VOLUNTEERS READY

"In addition to the work required of the members of the executive committee, it is necessary to have the assistance of some sixty or seventy volunteer workers, who are on duty, many of them fourteen and a half hours a day.

"All of these services are very gladly rendered, because those who are concerned are enthusiasts and consider it a privilege to be able to take a part during what is, to them, one of the biggest weeks in the year. I need hardly say, however, that the workers including ourselves, are all very human, and although there is a great measure of satisfaction in the knowledge that one has done a worth while piece of work, and done it successfully, there is a considerable measure of additional satisfaction if the effort is received with an expression of thanks. In our case, the expression of thanks during the last four years has been very emphatic and in the most acceptable form possible—in the support accorded to us in every way by the people of Victoria and district.

AMBITIOUS UNDERTAKING

"We are very firm believers in the value of such a movement to a community, and we have watched the movement grow year by year with very great pride and satisfaction. This year we have made ambitious plans. We have added many new classes, and we have, for the first time, joined the other large western festivals in engaging outstanding adjudicators from Great Britain, to officiate.

"Although the number of entries has been somewhat less than the record of last year, we are very well satisfied indeed, particularly as many of the most important and most interesting classes have shown a distinct improvement in the matter of entries. We feel, therefore, that under the circumstances, there is no reason to complain on this score. But, we are very anxious that the public should realize the necessity for giving us the greatest possible support through festival week.

NEED BIG ATTENDANCE

"Our necessary expenditures in putting on such a festival are so large that it is not possible for us to hope to do much more than escape a deficit. This is particularly true because the small grants which we have hitherto received from the various municipal councils, and which have enabled us to show a slight surplus each year, have this year been very considerably reduced because of the necessity for curtailment of municipal expenditures. It becomes necessary, therefore, for the music lovers of Greater Victoria who have so often demonstrated their interest in worth while musical efforts, to give a further demonstration this week by giving us the biggest possible attendances at all sessions."

Snow On Prairies Fails To Ease Drought Much

Continued dry weather in the spring wheat belt, with the exception of a little snow in Western Canada that didn't count, along with further evidence of small supplies in Europe and steady export buying, gave the Chicago wheat market a firmer tone to-day, with Chicago closed.

"There were rumors of some unsatisfactory conditions in the Kansas winter wheat," The Journal of Commerce to-day says. "Traders will be slow in becoming convinced as all reports to date have indicated almost ideal prospects in Kansas. Should there be substantial basis for these complaints, the market will, of course, respond readily, inasmuch as the information will be of surprising character and such information always has emphatic force.

"If the bearishness of the writer wheat crop news is modified, it will have the tendency to make traders pay more attention to the bullish possibilities in the situation."

Washington, May 4.—Farm Board export wheat sales probably have totaled at least 20,000,000 bushels, it is believed here.

George S. Milner, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, said the hard winter wheat at Atlantic and Gulf ports has been sold and all that remains at these points was some durum.

To-day's weather report shows:

Edmonton, snow Saturday night; Calgary, snow since midnight; Regina, cloudy with two showers yesterday; Saskatchewan, clear to cloudy; about two hours of light snow at Hardisty and light scattered showers Hardisty east to Sheho, from there to Bredenbury light rain started at 9 p.m. Light local showers in Regina division. Heavy dust storm in Moose Jaw division.

WINNIPEG HOLIDAY

Winnipeg, May 4.—Trading was suspended on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day, due to the Arbor Day holiday.

CHICAGO

By Logan and Bryan

Chicago, May 4.—Wheat: Ruled firm during most of the session with final figures close to best of the day. With a holiday at Winnipeg trade was inclined to be moderate, but there was noticeable lack of pressure. The rainfall in Canada except in a few localities was not sufficient to alter prospects much and the forecast was for cooler conditions, while there were also reports of high winds again. Much will depend on whether more rain comes soon. If it clears up again without general heavy precipitation, the situation will be more critical.

Seeding in our northwest is nearly finished. World shipments were 16,337,000 bushels, of which 7,519,000 from North American, the largest shipments from this continent in some time, indicating that predictions of heavy clearances during May were correct. Visible stocks decreased 807,000 bushels. Buffalo stocks shows good increase.

Corn: Was heavy part of day with fair rally in the late trade. Local demand not so active but offers from country were practically nil. Murray estimated crop acreage at 105,842,000, an increase of 4.9%. This is about the same as the government's report on intentions to plant shown. Receipts here were 127 cars estimated with primary arrivals 648,000 bushels vs. 748,000 bushels year ago. Visible decreased 508,000 bushels. Weather conditions were mainly satisfactory. Market is two-sided and a better shipping demand is needed. Deliveries to-day 189,000 bushels.

Oats: Trade narrow with price changes small. Some buying on the dips by commission houses. Visible decreased 685,000 bushels. Deliveries, 116,000.

Rye: Better demand developed for rye on less favorable reports from North Dakota which is the big rye state. Reports from the northwest said that North Dakota conditions were from poor to fair and that many farmers planned to pasture the crop and turn it under later. Visible decreased 898,000 bushels. Deliveries, 704,000 bushels.

CON. SMELTERS BREAKS UNDER 100 LEVEL

Montreal Market Gives Indications To-day of Reaching Sold-out Condition

By Logan and Bryan

Montreal, May 4—The general improvement in the market price level in the later hours of trading to-day did not reveal a broad indication of advancing trend. Rather the tone was firm to slightly stronger, with price rallies of a most conservative general character.

The declaration of the regular quarterly dividend payable June 30 of 15 cents on International Nickel occasioned no surprise, but the stock strengthened from the day's low of 14¾ here.

Brazilian was an easier feature throughout the session, getting down to 17¼ and closing at 17½. This was concurrent with the fresh marking in the quotation for the milreis at 7¼ cents, closely approaching the previous record low.

Smelters broke through the 100 level and touched a new low in year's range at 96 and then rallied at 99.

Apart from that market features were few and far between. Undoubtedly a number of stocks at present levels are dragging on the bottom, but this situation may not receive alteration until such time as more incentive is given to the buying elements who continue to figuratively sit on the side lines, being content to await some new undertone which they might discern as having significance. The market is assuming a characteristic appearance and is showing every earmark of being in a sold-out condition. How long this will prevail, however, is another matter and few at the moment are sufficiently courageous to even hazard a guess.

Royal Bank dipped one point to 209, a new low mark for the year.

NICKEL PAYING REGULAR DIVIDEND

New York, May 4.—Directors of International Nickel Company of Canada to-day declared the regular quarterly dividend of fifteen cents a share on common stock. The dividend is payable June 30, to stock of record June 1.

Toronto, May 4.—(C.P.)—A strong close, marked by some brisk individual action and improved tone throughout the balance of the list, was enjoyed on the mining market to-day.

Mining Corporation, on reports from Bannockburn, advanced rapidly to close twenty-five cents higher. Dome, Teck Hughes and Granada registered small gains, while Lake Shore was easier in odd-lot trade. Howey was in better demand, but Macassa, Sylvanite and Big Missouri dropped a few cents apiece. Eldorado displayed a twelve-cent advance on end.

Nickel and Noranda, after showing early losses, rallied to finish unchanged, and Sherritt-Gordon gained a couple.

Chemical Research featured the oils, moving up under brisk accumulation to register a net gain of 65. Homestead added 15 to recent advances and Sarnia was three higher. Ajax Oil softened five to 1.30.

COPPER DROPS TO 9 1-4, LOWEST IN 25 YEARS

New York, May 4.—Unsettlement in the domestic copper market became more pronounced to-day, with the metal offered by custom smelters at 9¼ cents a pound, and some copper reported available from speculative sources at 9 cents a pound or lower.

The offering price of 9¼ cents by custom smelters represents a drop of an eighth of a cent from the quotation at the close of last week, and the lowest price for the metal in more than thirty-five years.

MASSEY-HARRIS OFF TO OLD LOW

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 4.—The market was listless from beginning to end and prices sank slowly from the opening until well on in the afternoon when there was a small upswing from the extreme lows.

Brazilian, Steel of Canada, most of the foods, closed with fractional losses. Massey-Harris equalled its old low and Tip Top Tailors lost a point to set a high low at 7.

Cockshutt Plow recorded a small gain as did Ford. Durant Motors closed unchanged at 7½. Oils were dull in the extreme.

NEW YORK SUGAR

New York, May 4.—Raw sugar was easier early to-day, due mainly to more liberal offerings of duty frees, with only a limited demand. Local refiners seemed to show no interest and the only sale confirmed was 2,000 bags of Philippines at 3.22 duty paid, which was three points below the asked price of late last week.

Refined was unchanged at 4.40 for fine granulated, with second-hands available at 4.30. Withdrawals against old contracts were of moderate proportions, but new business was light and supplied through second-hands.

REGULAR NICKEL DIVIDEND

New York, May 4.—International Nickel to-day declared its regular dividend at the rate of 60 cents a share per year.

COPPER PRICE CUT RESULT

New York, May 4.—Fall in the price of refined copper metal to a new low at 9¼ cents a pound, resulted to-day in prices of Anaconda and American Smelting and Refining stocks slumping to new record lows.

Auburn Motor ran up from 199 to 218½.

ANACONDA INCOME SLASHED

New York, May 5.—The Anaconda Copper Mining Company reports net income for 1930 of $18,782,978, a drastic reduction from the $73,197,000 reported for 1929.

After payment of dividends, and the setting aside from surplus of $6,699,133 to provide for inventory adjustments and a contingent reserve "to provide for any obligation that might result from the liquidation of the company's position in export sales of copper," the annual report showed a reduction of surplus, or deficit for the year of $4,590,652.

NOT DISTURBED

The Wall Street Journal to-day says:

"Leading shares displayed firmer tone in a quiet market to-day. Wall Street was too profoundly respectful of Geo. F. Baker's financial acumen and foresight to give even momentarily consideration to the thought that his death might have a disturbing influence on the market.

"As a result, speculative attention converged at the start of the new week on the conflict in progress between opposing professional groups. Saturday's session witn

N. Y. Market Analysis

By LOGAN & BRYAN

New York, May 4.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says:

BEAR DRIVES THINNING OUT

"The market problem which had been created by Friday's decline was the the possibility that with only two points to spare between Friday's average closing level and the extreme low in the market, whether the preservation of anything like Friday's momentum would be able to drive the market through what little remaining ground it could afford to lose. What has happened is that the low point made in the first hour Saturday stopped at approximately a point and a half above the Thursday low, after which effective resistance to the bear drive succeeded in closing the market well above the level at which it closed Friday night. The question created by the drive from Friday noon to half way through Saturday's session, is, of course, whether or not it represents another prolonged phase of liquidation.

"With Saturday's session showing the second strong advance in the last half of the week, following the type of bear drive that has previously been able to put the market down and keep it down, there is no doubt that the bears are being presented with increasing difficulty and that their going is becoming harder in the face of increasingly effective resistance. In fact, the market would not look half as bad if it were not for the pronounced weakness in the market leaders, but it might well be borne in mind that previous periods in which the leaders have been allowed to shift for themselves, have always preceded by a short interval, a reversal of trend, as it is the weakness in them which finally brings about the complete abandonment of the market by the public.

"A performance such as we are seeing, in fact, has marked the previous corresponding stages of the market as those of accumulation in which case the near future would call for a gradual dwindling of volume, highly irregular and more narrow movement and then a slow forward creep up. Taking the entire performance for the last days of the week as a whole, there is nothing, therefore, in it to be particularly indicative of a new phase of decline.

"What I think we must do is to allow a few more bear drives which you will certainly get to pass in the belief that resistance to them will become increasingly successful and, as a result, show that the use of the leaders has marked the culminating phase of a long campaign on the down side. The bears have, of course, arrived at their most desperate stage and will make some vigourous attacks, but the manner in which they are resisted from now on will permit us, within the next few days, to definitely conclude whether the ineffectiveness of the drives is marking a bottom which, I believe, will be the case."

All of the issue is at present outstanding. Payment of regular dividends on the stock was initiated February 1, 1931 at the rate of forty cents annually, payable quarterly beginning February 1. Alaska Juneau will be removed from the San Francisco Curb Exchange where it has been traded previously.

STAMP INQUIRY REPORT IS NOW BEFORE CABINET

Ottawa, May 4.—The marketing of Canada's wheat surplus will loom large in the political discussions this week. The consideration both here and on the prairies of a wheat board proposal and the Dominion Government's study of the Stamp Commission's report are expected to focus public opinion on the problems of the grain farmers.

The report of Sir Josiah Stamp arrived in Ottawa Saturday, brought here by Sanford Evans, who was associated with Sir Josiah in the inquiry, and L. B. Pearson, secretary. They arrived from New York. Chief Justice Brown, the other commissioner, is visiting friends in the east. The report passes judgment on the oft-disputed question of whether trading in wheat futures in the grain pits is detrimental to the interests of the wheat growers. The report probably will not be made public for some days.

In Ottawa a conference is being held to-day between Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and transportation representatives from Montreal in regard to the shipments of live cattle to the United Kingdom.

On Tuesday in the Commons the debate will be resumed on the want of confidence motion launched by John L. Brown, Liberal member for Lisgar, Man., which condemns the attitude of the Bennett government toward agriculture.

To-day is private members' day.

VIEWS DIFFER

Among the prairie members of the Commons there is a difference of opinion as to whether a marketing board along the lines of the one which controlled the wheat crop during the war would be desirable or not. Some of the Liberal members are strongly for it, and it is expected Thomas Donnelly, Liberal member for Willow Bunch, Sask., will lead a demand in the Commons for such a board. On the other hand, the United Farmers of Alberta do not show the same enthusiasm. They point to the fact that in 1922 the House made provision for such a board, but it came to nothing because the provincial legislatures did not pass the necessary legislation to bring the board within the British North America Act.

"It all depends on whether we get a rain before May 15, said one Alberta member. "If we do, then the indications are we will have another fair sized crop, with the consequent low prices. Then the prairie provinces will be inclined to a marketing board to protect the farmers and ensure that they get a price that will provide them some margin over the cost of production. On the other hand, if the dry weather and the drifting continues, the crop will be short and the prices will be high enough for the pools to handle the situation themselves. Certainly a marketing board would be of little use unless it guaranteed prices."

Premier R. B. Bennett last week declared the government would never agree to pegging the price of wheat. Some of the prairie members think, however, that the government might go as far as to fix an initial payment.

CHORAL MUSIC IN CITY GIVEN FINE BACKING

Fascinating Study Followed in Victoria Supported By Festival Association

Many Excellent Examples in Particular Field Presented By Local Bodies

BY EDWARD PARSONS

The subject of choral music is one of the most fascinating and fruitful of all musical topics to write about. It embraces all music written to be sung by a body of singers whether large or small, male or female or both. Its ranges extends from the greatest oratorio and grand opera to the simplest part-song. In the broadest sense of the word, grand opera is choral music, though it is generally treated as a department of music separated and distinct from the generally accepted meaning of the term choral music, and as such will not be considered in this article.

There is something very satisfying and appealing in the rendering by a large body of singers of a Bach mass, a Handel or Mendelssohn oratorio, and music-lovers the world over can be relied on to attend in large numbers when such an oratorio or mass is to be sung by a well-trained choir.

SPLENDID LOCAL PRESENTATIONS

Though Victoria is situated so far from the great centres of music, and consequently has little or no opportunity of hearing the world-renowned choirs, yet the musical people of this city have, during the last twenty-five years, done good work in producing such masterpieces as "Creation," "Messiah," "Elijah," "St. Paul," "Samson," "The Hymn of Praise," and among the smaller and lesser known works "The Swan and the Skylark," "The Banner of St. George," "The Rosemaiden" and others, whilst quite recently good renditions of Brahm's "Song of Destiny" and Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" (Part I) have been given.

Then apart from these big works there are cantatas, part-songs, madrigals and glees, which afford endless scope for the smaller choral societies or glee clubs, and these have not been neglected in Victoria, for the splendid work done by such organizations as the Schubert Club and the Arion Club, to mention only two, has introduced to the music-lovers of Victoria many a delightful example of this class of choral music.

RAISE CULTURAL STANDARD

Choral societies, church choirs, glee clubs and such like musical aggregations are not only of great benefit to the citizens as a whole, because the efficient rendering of such works as have already been mentioned must tend to raise the artistic standard of the community, but they are of great benefit to the members themselves. Combined singing by massed voices in their proper parts is an education in itself, and, under a competent leader, an enjoyable and attractive study.

In helping on this work the Musical Festival movement is one of the most important agencies. The Victoria Musical Festival always devotes a strong section of its programme to choral music, and this has always proved a very popular feature of the festival week. It is a good thing for people to get together and study the art of choral singing, and it is a splendid thing when they have the backing and help of such an organization as the Victoria Musical Festival.

THIEF ESCAPED

Calgary, May 4. — A slow thief gathered speed and escaped from Rev. W. T. Young here yesterday evening.

While Mr. Young was preaching in his church, a youth broke into his home, ransacked all rooms and gathered up $28 from the family purse. Returning, Mr. Young discovered the robbery, inspected the downstair rooms and then went upstairs. As he entered a bed room, the thief slipped from behind the door, ran downstairs and out to freedom with the minister quitting the race after a few hundred yards.

Soviet Gains World Lead In Lumber Trade

Moscow, May 4.—Timber exports from the Soviet Union are increasing on a large scale, with contracts for 1931 totaling some 185,000,000 rubles (about $92,500,000), according to an official statement.

V. Danieschvsky, an official connected with lumber exporting, declared the government shipped about 1,000,000 cubic meters of timber in 1922, while the exports for 1930 totaled 12,000,000. This increase, he said, brought the Soviet Union to first place in the world lumber market.

Coast Mills Now At 45% of Capacity

Seattle, May 4—A total of 240 mills reporting to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending April 25 operated at 45.06 per cent of capacity, as compared to 45.57 per cent of capacity for the preceding week and 69.44 per cent of capacity during the same week last year.

Current new business reported by 221 identical mills was 8.86 per cent over production and shipments were 1.84 per cent over. New business received during the week showed slight increases in all markets when compared with the previous week; increases of about 3,000,000 feet in the export trade and 3,200,000 feet in the local trade were reported; while domestic cargo gained about 1,800,000 feet and rail about 1,000,000 feet; making the total new business approximately 9,000,000 feet more than during the previous week and 6,000,000 feet less than during the second week previous.

During the past twenty-one weeks orders for 221 mills have averaged 12.64 per cent over production, due to the low levels of cutting and fairly regular although low-volume buying. Inventories are now lower than at this time last year, the association stated, and unfilled orders are holding at about the equivalent of four weeks' production at current levels.

Production, orders and shipments at 221 mills for the week ending April 25 were reported in board feet as follows: Mills, 221; production, 117,173,143; orders, 127,559,292; shipments, 119,098,647.

History records that the ancient Pharoahs used 100,000 slaves for twenty years to build the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

New South Wales Would Get Hands On Insurance Funds

Sydney, New South Wales, May 4 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)—A scheme to provide about $20,000,000 by requiring insurance companies registered in the state to make deposits with the government "to protect the interests of the insured persons," was announced by Premier J. T. Lang.

With the approval of the Labor caucus, a bill providing for this step will be introduced in the Legislature early next week.

Insurance companies will be required to deposit with the state, cash guarantees based on their premium income, if the scheme comes into operation. The ordinary rates of interest will be paid in the amounts deposited, Premier Lang said. The main object of the scheme was to protect the insurers, he explained, and estimated that between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 was exported to be deposited.

Farm Board Unable To Cope With Overproduction

Atlantic City, May 4.—James C. Stone, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, told the United States Chamber of Commerce Saturday that emergency stabilization activities of the board cannot cope successfully with continuous overproduction and can be resorted to only as temporary remedies.

The board, Stone asserted, believes its stabilization operations in cotton and wheat "have been fully justified by the serious emergency that faced agriculture" as a result of the stock market crash in 1929. Losses that may be sustained by the revolving fund, he said, "will be inconsequential compared to the benefits'."

He told more than 2,500 delegates to the nineteenth annual meeting of the Chamber that the "gradually growing" antagonism between farmers and industry was largely due "to a lack of understanding." The Farm Board, he said, was attempting to lessen this breach.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Gigi gasped, shrank away from Dundee, her topaz eyes widening to enormous size. Then suddenly she got control of herself; terror changed to blank innocence on her childish face.

"A what?" she asked.

"Don't pretend innocence, Gigi!" Dundee commanded sternly, but his eyes were filled with pity for her. "I have more than enough evidence that your mother is addicted to drinking perfume for the alcohol it contains. Now will you please tell me how long she has had the habit?"

She crumpled suddenly and sank upon the beautiful old four-poster bed.

"I—I don't know, exactly," she shivered. "Oh, why can't you let us all alone? We haven't done anything to you——"

"Doris Matthews has been murdered, Gigi," Dundee reminded her.

"But Abbie's drinking perfume hasn't got anything to do with that!" Gigi protested, with too passionate vehemence.

"I'm—afraid—it has, Gigi," the detective retorted slowly. "Doris knew, didn't she?"

"I don't know," Gigi sobbed. "Oh, yes, I suppose she did, but if you're thinking Abbie would kill Doris, just because she knew—Doris wasn't the only one who knew—"

"Who else, Gigi?"

"Oh, shut up!" Gigi cried wildly.

"The whole family, and the other servants?" Dundee persisted.

"I—I suppose so," she sobbed. "We—we didn't talk about it—"

"Doris did," Dundee corrected her. "For your sake, Doris begged your mother only last night not to drink the stuff any more; refused, in fact, to open a new bottle for her. And your mother slapped her for her impertinence!"

"Was that why Abbie slapped her?" Gigi stopped crying and stared fearfully at the detective. "How do you know it was for my sake that Doris—?"

"Because Doris said so, in a letter she was writing last night to her sister," he explained gently. "Has it been very bad, honey?"

* * *

"Awful!" Gigi began to sob again. "Abbie and I had got along together pretty well—before she went abroad for that year with Clorinda, but as soon as she got back I could tell something was wrong. She acted so peculiar! She was either awfully sentimental about me, or—or horribly cruel. Then—I found out. I—found her that way one morning when I went in to kiss her before she'd got up, and I—I smelled perfume on her breath and I—I knew what was wrong with her. I—well, I guess I wasn't very tactful. I'm—terribly frank, and I—I told her she was making a fool of herself. She—she's had it in for me ever since and I guess I can't keep it out of my eyes when I look at her—what I think of her for—for—"

"I understand, Gigi. Have you talked with anyone about this?"

"Only Mrs. Lambert," Gigi confessed miserably. "I can tell her anything, because—because she loves me and I simply adore her. She said Abbie must have got the habit in Paris. It seems that a lot of people do it, and—and maybe Abbie thought it was the smart thing to do. You see, Abbie's father drank—a regular old town's drunkard, and—and I guess Abbie and—and Dick both inherited the craving from him. When Abbie quit high school she went to work in Dad's office, and he felt sorry for her because she'd had such a hard life, and—well, he married her."

"Did your father suspect—?" Dundee hesitated.

"I guess he was always afraid of her, and for Dick, too," Gigi admitted tragically. "Not until I was a great big girl would Dad allow any wines or liquors to be served at dinner, unless it was a terribly formal one, and then he'd try to keep Abbie from having more than just a taste. Of course when he went abroad, there wasn't anyone to watch her and—"

"I see," he said gently. He could imagine with what avidity Abbie Berkeley had adopted the perfume habit, knowing that a supply would always be at hand; that neither prohibition nor her watchful husband could prevent her getting all she wanted.

"So that is why you wasted as much of Crosby's gift as possible?" he went on.

"Ye-es," she answered, dropping her eyes.

She was too transparent for Dundee to be deceived. "There's something else, Gigi! . . . Did Seymour Crosby know that his gift would be particularly pleasing to your mother?"

"Yes!" she cried passionately. "Yes, he did! He wanted her to—to drink herself to death! That's why I hate him—"

"Gigi, my dear!" he checked her. He drew his chair close to the bed and took both her icy little hands. "Tell me quietly what you mean, what basis you have for such a charge."

A shamed red dyed her cheeks, but her eyes met his bravely. "I—you'll think I'm a nasty little sneak, but I didn't mean to pry—I was in Tish's room about a week ago, while she was taking a bath to dress for dinner. I was already dressed, and lots of times I go into talk to her while she dresses. Well, I just happened to pick up a book on her bedside table and a—a letter fell out."

"Addressed to Mrs. Lambert?" Dundee cut in sternly.

"There wasn't any envelope, and when I was picking it up I saw a few words that—that made me perfectly furious! So I read it all. It was from Mr. Crosby!"

"What made you furious, Gigi?" Dundee asked softly, scarcely daring to breathe.

"Well, the letter was all about the visit he was going to make to Hillcrest, and—and about Clorinda. Oh, what he said about Clo was perfectly lovely; that wasn't what made me sore. The words that first caught my eye were: '—her perfectly impossible mother, but perhaps she will not long be a handicap.'"

"What!" Dundee ejaculated.

"Uh huh!" Gigi sniffed, dabbing at her eyes. "So I read the whole letter, but first I read the rest of that paragraph. It said something like this: 'One can but hope that her vice contracted so enthusiastically at so advanced an age, will not be slow in taking its toll. Otherwise a future which I had hoped would be a happy and peaceful one will present rather peculiar mother-in-law problems.' . . . Do you blame me for reading it?" she demanded piteously.

"No, Gigi," he answered, squeezing her hands tightly. But to himself he had to admit, in all fairness, that there was some excuse for Seymour Crosby. He tried to picture himself saddled with a mother-in-law like Abbie Berkeley and involuntarily his hands loosened slightly their grip upon Gigi's. . . . After all, though it was a caddish thing to do, Crosby had written the words in strictest confidence to an old and trusted friend.

"So I simply couldn't bear it when I saw him giving her perfume!" Gigi told him vehemently. "I wanted to throw it all into his face and tell him if he didn't like Abbie he could go straight to—"

"Did you tell Mrs. Lambert you had seen the letter?" Dundee asked.

"No," she admitted, flushing. "Tish would have been shocked at me. And it wasn't her fault! She did not feel that way at all. She did everything she could to make Abbie stop. I heard Abbie simply tearing into her just the other day for begging her to promise not to drink any more of the stuff."

So another mystery was cleared up. It was quite clear now what promise Mrs. Lambert had exacted from Abbie Berkeley the night before, so soon after Seymour Crosby had presented his shameful gift!

Suddenly a monstrous suspicion crashed through Dundee's mind, a suspicion which, if founded upon fact, would explain a great deal, probably everything.

"Gigi, tell me the truth: was that the only reason you tried to spill all that perfume last night?"

"What—do you mean?" she gasped, her eyes popping.

"You were afraid that Seymour Crosby had grown impatient!" he answered with slow emphasis. "You suspected there was poison in that bottle, intended for your mother!"

"No, no!" Gigi cried, shuddering. "I just thought he was helping her into a drunkard's grave." Suddenly she laughed shakily. "Don't I sound like a temperance pamphlet? . . . You don't really think—?"

"I'm going to find out!" Dundee said grimly, as he rose.

"But—the perfume has all been spilled!" she reminded him.

"For a very good reason, probably: to destroy the evidence . . . . But it is not so easy to be rid of traces of poison. The stuff is on our clothes and they can be analyzed—"

"You shan't spoil my new dress!" she interrupted vigorously. "If a sample is all you need, I can give you the handkerchief with which I wiped off my hands after I sprinkled you all. . . . Wait!"

She dashed into her bathroom and was back in a moment. "Got it out of my clothes hamper," she announced triumphantly. "It still smells," and she thrust the little square of linen and lace against his nose. "Can they really tell from this whether the perfume was poisoned or not?"

"That will be no trick at all for the city chemist," Dundee assured her.

"But—where does Doris come in?" she objected, frowning.

"I don't know yet, but I can make a fair guess," Dundee retorted. "You saw that letter of Crosby's. Doris may have seen it, too."

"I know Doris wouldn't have read it," Gigi defended the dead girl loyally. "Besides, Della cleans Mrs. Lambert's room.

"But what if Della read it and told Doris, knowing that Doris was acquainted with Crosby?"

"But Doris didn't know that Mr. Crosby had given Abbie the perfume," she protested.

"Who can say now what Doris knew or did not know?"

He refused to say more to the child, for he knew how fatally loose her tongue was, but on his way to his room he reasoned to himself:

"Wickett could have mentioned the gift to Doris. Doris could have known about Crosby's letter. If our first suspicions of Crosby are correct, Doris could have known, from the past, that Seymour Crosby would not hesitate at murder. All that being so, Doris Matthews may have lost her life to save the life of the mistress who had slapped her! . . . But why speculate until I know what the city chemist has to say?"

Horoscope

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1931

Although astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary government there is indication of many cross purposes in activities under this planetary government.

While this configuration prevails unusual care should be taken in signing papers of any sort. It is not a lucky day for leases or contracts.

Editors and publishers are subject to a rule of the stars that encourages changes in policies and contributors.

Newspapers in many parts of the country will acquire common interests, it is foretold, and will gain added influence over the public mind.

Not a good day for seeking promotions or positions. The sway tends to make employers exacting and difficult to please.

This should be a fairly fortunate day for agriculture. Weather conditions may be beneficial and the outlook encouraging.

Again the seers prophesy for farming the methods of big business, which assure large amounts of capital and wide co-operation.

The evening of this day is subject to favorable influances and should be lucky for banquets.

For ocean voyages there is a sign of promise that should be most fortunate for travelers. Increased numbers of tourists are foretold.

Demand for machinery, tools and the implements for work will increase all through the summer, if the signs are rightly read.

Wholesale manufacture of armament is forecast for a country of Europe which may menace world peace without accomplishing war.

Activity in the stock markets is indicated with an upward tendency for motion theatre, radio and similar securities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of some difficulties arising from enmities and jealousies, but there is promise of fair prosperity.

Children born on this day probably will be endowed with intense social consciousness and unusual talents.

Karl Marx, famous Socialist, was born on this day 1818. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include F. A. P. Barnard, 1809, educator; John William Draper, 1811, scientist.

PARACHUTIST LOSES LIFE

The Dalles, Ore., May 4.—His parachute ripped from side to side, Verlin Darniele, twenty-two, plunged 2,000 feet to a ploughed field yesterday near Grand Dalles, across the Columbia River, from here. He died an hour later of his injuries. Several hundred spectators at an air circus saw the parachute open and then tear as the full force of the air struck it. The leap was made from a plane piloted by Ernest Christianson, Portland. It was Darniele's first jump.

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

Toronto, May 4.—When a motor car left the road on King Street here yesterday evening Mrs. Annie Ashman, sixty, was almost instantly killed, and the driver of the car was arrested on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs. Ashman was dragged by the car for several feet and crushed between it and the side of a house. The car mounted the curb, struck a tree and a hydro pole, knocked down Mrs. Ashman, and ended against a house.

Benvenuto Gardens Gay With Springtime Color

Thousands Yesterday Viewed Mr. and Mrs. Butchart's Famed Gardens at Tod Inlet

Added Attractions Include Beautiful Cascade; Tulips in Gorgeous Profusion

Thousands of delighted visitors yesterday enjoyed the brilliance of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart's lovely gardens at Benvenuto, Tod Inlet. Throughout the afternoon the spacious parking accommodation for automobiles was filled to capacity, and scores of cars were parked along the border of the highway. The display of spring blossoms, now at its height, featured tulips in endless variety, the stately blooms being in strong contrast with the blues and pinks of masses of forget-me-nots.

One of the major points of interest with yesterday's crowds was the newly constructed cascade waterfall, located to the left of the main entrance. The new addition aggregates about fifty feet in height, and makes tinkling music as the water ripples from ledge to ledge. The borders of the fall are occupied by amusing clusters of carved frogs, manikins fishing and similar ornaments.

LOVELY SETTING

The sunken gardens were crowded with visitors, the changing vista of color and contrast being occasion for a chorus of delighted exclamations. A number of foreign ladies became so excited with the constant revelation of new beauties as to attract attention.

The Japanese and Italian gardens were beautiful in their springtide color, shown to advantage against masses of greenery. On the spacious lawn hundreds of children romped, the swings, see-saws and sand boxes being highly popular.

Hanging baskets of extraordinary beauty transformed the conservatory of the residence into a floral bower. The fascinating effect attracted much attention and was a revelation of the decorative possibilities of the flower basket. The colorful greenhouse was also of great interest, the masses of gorgeous blooms being of commanding beauty.

The remarkable aviary which has been developed at Benvenuto yesterday held much attention, peacocks, pigeons and other beautiful birds being much admired as they strutted and preened themselves.

Scattered Showers In Saskatchewan

Regina, May 4. — Saskatchewan's capital city and southern prairies, parched and scorched for weeks from lack of moisture, received slight relief Sunday in scattered showers, only sufficient to settle the dust at widely separated points.

Regina and points as far north as Govan and Yorkton and as far east as the Saskatchewan - Manitoba boundary were included in the rainfall, which brought some relief from the heat, dust and wind of the last weeks.

The more southerly and southwestern portion of the province however, received little rainfall except at points far apart.

HONOR FOR LORD IRWIN

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's May Bouquet

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning as she saw the rabbit gentleman hopping away from his hollow stump bungalow.

"I am going to see of it is true," answered Mr. Longears.

"To see if what is true," the muskrat lady housekeeper wanted to know.

"If it is true what the little verse says—'April showers bring May flowers.' We have had some fine April showers, Nurse Jane, and now I am going to hop over the fields and through the woods to see of there are any May flowers."

"I am quite sure you will find some," squeaked Nurse Jane. "I wish you would bring me a bouquet."

"I shall," promised Mr. Longears. "I'll bring you a May bouquet and also one for my wife. Tra, lalala—la-la!" The rabbit twinkled his pink nose and sang, for he was very happy because summer was coming.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped the rabbit gentleman. He had bright, sharp eyes with which he looked here, there and everywhere for May blossoms after the April rains.

All of a sudden, as Mr. Longears hopped out from behind a big stone, he heard a voice asking:

"What are you looking for, the Fox or the Wolf?"

"Oh, dear me!" thought the rabbit gentleman. "This must be the Bob Cat and he won't like it if he thinks I am looking for the Wolf or Fox and not for him. But I am not looking for any of the Bad Chaps. I wonder what I had best do?"

One thing Uncle Wiggily knew he must do and that was to get behind the stone as quickly as he could. He did this and asked:

"Who are you, if you please?"

"Why, I'm Baby Bunty!" was the answer and then Uncle Wiggily laughed because he was happy again.

"Oh, Baby Bunty!" he exclaimed, hopping from behind the stone. "I thought you were the Bob Cat!"

"And I thought," said the little orphan rabbit, "that when you were looking all around, as I saw you, that you were looking for the Fox or Wolf!"

"Never!" cried the rabbit gentleman dancing around as he saw Bunty coming toward him. "I never look for them, though they often look for me."

"But you are looking for something, aren't you?" asked Bunty.

"I am looking for some flowers after April showers to pick two bouquets," said Mr. Longears. "One for Nurse Jane and one for my wife."

"Oh, please let me help you!" begged Bunty, and Uncle Wiggily said the little orphan rabbit might hop along with him.

The two had gone far before, all of a quickness, Uncle Wiggily asked Bunty why she wasn't in school.

"Oh," answered the little orphan, "I knew all my lessons so the Lady Mouse Teacher said I might run out and play. So I did and found you and I'm so glad."

"So am I," said Mr. Longears. "Now we must find some flowers."

"Oh, here they are!" suddenly called Bunty. Hopping across a little dingy dell of green grass, Bunty began to pick some red, blue and yellow blossoms. She was gathering a bouquet for Nurse Jane. "And here are flowers for you to pick a bouquet for Mrs. Longears," said Bunty.

Uncle Wiggily had one paw filled with gay flowers when Bunty screamed: "What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"There's a big bug on one of my red flowers!" said Bunty.

"Silly little rabbit, a bug won't hurt you!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "There is a bug on one of my blue flowers but it is a bee bug and is gathering sweet juice to make into honey."

"Maybe this is a bee bug on my flowers," said Bunty.

"Yes, it is," Uncle Wiggily said when he had looked. "We each have a honey bee bug on our May bouquets, Bunty. Let the bees stay on the flowers until they want to fly to their hives. They will do no harm."

The bee stung the Bob Cat.

"That is true, Uncle Wiggily," buzzed one of the bees. "We will not sting you or Baby Bunty. All we want is sweet flower juice to make honey."

With their May bouquets in their paws Uncle Wiggily and Bunty started to hop home. But, all of a sudden, out from behind a stump popped the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"Ha! Two rabbits!" mewed the Bob Cat. "I am in luck to-day! Ha! Ha! And you have flowers, too! Give me those flowers!"

"I'll give you a smell of mine!" said Baby Bunty. "Here!" She put her bouquet to the Bob Cat's nose and the silly chap banged his nose against the bee on the red flower.

"Ha! Just for that I'll sting you!" buzzed the bee and he stung the Bob Cat so hard on his nose that the Bad Chap ran howling away.

So neither Baby Bunty nor Mr. Longears was harmed by the Bob Cat. And if the kitchen sink will pour some water in the umbrella to make a swimming pool for the rain coat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's guessing game.

Why Don't Parents Revolt?

Dorothy Dix

Would Read Riot Act to Children

THERE is one revolution that I hope to live long enough to see. That is the revolt of parents against their overbearing and tyrannical children.

Of course, I have no real hope that I shall ever be privileged to behold this glorious and impressive spectacle, even though I should attain the age of a Lady Methuselah, for the poor, down trodden, oppressed fathers and mothers in this country have been enslaved so long to their offspring that their spirits are crushed and broken, and they have no longer the courage even to put up a fight for their rights.

They are worms of the dust that do not even turn when they are trampled upon. They just humbly and meekly submit to any kind of treatment their children accord them, and turn the other cheek when Mary hands them one on the chin or Johnny clouts them in the eye. Apparently it doesn't even occur to them that they hold the whiphand, both literally and figuratively, and that they could do a little autocrating themselves if they had the spunk to do it.

No sight is commoner than to see a household ruled over by a despot not three years old, and an otherwise intelligent man and woman conforming their whole line of conduct to the whims of an infant in the cradle. Probably nowhere else in the world is obedience in the home so thoroughly enforced as it is with us, but it is the parents who obey the children, not the children who obey the parents.

By the time boys and girls reach the adolescent stage they have father and mother so thoroughly disciplined that they simply don't have any further trouble with them. They jump when they are spoken to and do as they are told to do without making any fuss about it. You often hear parents say that they can do nothing with their thirteen and fourteen-year-old boys and girls, but you never hear thirteen and fourteen-year-old girls and boys complaining that they cannot manage their parents.

As an example of what parents will submit to without a protest, take this incident, which has its replica in tens of thousands of other homes, and represents a situation so common that we have ceased to notice it. A mother said to me: "I just don't know what to do about Lula. She is so unhappy and so dissatisfied. Nothing that her father and I can do for her pleases her.

"We are not rich, but we are able to have all of the comforts and most of the luxuries, and we have never denied Lula anything since she was born. We have a very pretty home, well furnished, but she thinks it isn't fine enough, and that we should have a more pretentious house on a more fashionable street. She has her own car, but it is a moderate-priced one and she is always finding fault with it because it isn't a Rolls-Royce. She has lovely clothes, but she thinks she ought to dress like a movie queen. She goes to college, but hates it because it isn't as swanky as some place in the East she has heard of.

"And it is that way about everything. Her father and I make every sacrifice to give her everything she wants, but she is never satisfied. Always finding fault with whatever we do, and the poor child is so unhappy and we are so discouraged that we just don't know what to do about it."

"For Heaven's sake, woman," I cried, "why don't you get your back up and read the riot act to her? Why don't you assert yourself for once and put her in her right place? Why don't you jerk her out of college so quick it would make her head swim and put her to earning her own living? Why don't you tell her that since she doesn't like the good home you give her she can live in a third-rate boarding house or sleep on a lumpy bed in a hall bedroom and eat around in quick-lunch joints where she can find out the kind of food you can get for a quarter, when you have one? Why don't you take her car away from her, since she doesn't like the make, and let her try walking and riding the street cars for a while?"

Believe me, you could bring any one of these arrogant, insolent, insulating children, who despise their parents and what they give them, to a proper sense of their own value and a just appreciation of father and mother and a good home by throwing them out on their own for a little while and letting them rough it. Let Mary get her feet on the ground once and not have a second pair of stockings to her name, and she won't feel she is so hardly used because she can't have twenty pairs of snakeskin pumps. Let John find out that he can't make enough money to feed himself and he won't be so contemptuous of father's abilities when he reflects that father has fed and clothed and educated a family and provided it with automobiles, to boot.

Not long ago a young girl said to me that she was going to marry a good-for-nothing wastrel against the wishes of her family. "Of course, I know Tom drinks and he hasn't got a job, and he never has worked and he has no way to support me," she blandily admitted, "but father will never let me suffer. If it comes to the worst, he will always take care of me and my children, if I have any."

Deliberately leaving father to hold the bag, you see. Selfishly counting on his paying the price of her folly. And I thought how many foolish marriages could be stopped if only the children knew that father and mother would shut their door on them when they defied them, and leave them to lie on the beds they had made.

Of course, all slaves are slaves because they haven't the grit and the insides to rebel against tyranny, but it is a pity parents haven't, because it would save so much unnecessary misery. And it would save the souls of their children.

Life of Jenny Lind Showing at Capitol With Ex-opera Star

Grace Moore Will Be Seen Playing Part of Famous European Queen of Song

Grace Moore, Metropolitan opera celebrity and screen star, whose first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hit, "A Lady's Morals," based on the life of Jenny Lind, opening to-day at the Capitol Theatre, not only brought a new personality and gorgeous voice to the screen, but established a record as a feminine linguist in the picture.

As Jenny Lind she sings songs in English, Italian and French, and in the scenes where she is greeted by foreign diplomats after her opera triumph, she answers them in Spanish, Russian, French and German as well.

In the new picture she sings two operatic numbers in scenes showing Jenny Lind's opera triumphs, the "Casta Diva" from "Norma" and an aria from "Daughter of the Regiment." In other scenes she sings "Lovely Hour," especially composed for her by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and the first song written for the screen by the composer of "End of a Perfect Day."

"Misbehaving Ladies" With Louise Fazenda At Columbia Theatre

Screen's Most Pessimistic Comedian Also Has One of Leading Roles in Film

Lucien Littlefield is perhaps the screen's most pessimistic comedian, and one of the best. Even Chaplin does not excel him in lugubriousness, and like Chaplin, he wants to play Hamlet. He says that few will believe comedians to be serious fellows at heart.

Littlefield and Louise Fazenda give the fans 1001 hearty laughs in "Misbehaving Ladies," now at the Columbia Theatre.

Lila Lee and Ben Lyon are featured in the romantic leads of this entertaining First National comedy-drama, which William Beaudine directed.

"The Big House" Is Realistic Story Of Penitentiary Life

Playhouse Showing Entertaining Film With Chester Morris and Leila Hyams

"The Big House," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's much-heralded drama of penitentiary life and prison riots, is the attraction which is showing at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

The picture is a sensational expose of the cause leading to recent prison riots, climaxed with an actual riot in which a hundred men battle. Prisoners in revolt are beseiged in a cell house, where they kill guards and drop them out one by one until quelled with army tanks. As a contrast a romantic love story is woven into the grim tale.

ENGLISH FILM WITH NORAH BARING WILL SHOW AT COLISEUM

Alfred Hitchcock is certainly a genius in the art of direction. He knows and achieves what he wants. He has not only complete mastery over himself, but also over his human puppets, the stars and the lesser lights, who make a perfect whole for every perfect picture.

His intensely human mind and his sympathy obtain for him the best material that can be possibly got out of his artists.

Herbert Marshall, who made a great hit in the silent version of Herbert Wilcox's play, "Mumsee," takes the role of Sir John in the English version.

Also included in the English cast are Marie Wright, Phyllis Konstam and Esme Percy, also Edward Chapman, who gave such a remarkably fine performance in "Juno and the Paycock." Norah Baring is the heroine in the English version of "Murder!" which will show next week at the Coliseum.

PRICES SET FOR IMPORTED BEER

Plans Also Being Considered For Deliveries to Homes in British Columbia

Beer imported from outside points will cost consumers in British Columbia more than the home product under an order-in-council establishing the price which was passed Saturday.

White Seal beer, made by the Kiewell Brewing Company, and Black Label beer, made by the Carling Breweries Ltd., both of eastern Canada, will sell for $4.50 per carton of twenty-four pints, or $1.15 per carton of six pints. Dutch light lager beer, from the South Holland Brewing Company of The Hague, Holland, will sell at the rate of $2.40 per dozen pints. The price of British Columbia brands of beer is $2 per dozen pints, or $3.50 for a dozen quarts.

The prices fixed by the order will apply to vendors' stores only at Vancouver, Victoria New Westminster, North Vancouver and Esquimalt, and may be slightly higher at outside points, due to the cost of transportation.

Consideration is being given by the board to a plan of delivery so that customers may telephone orders and have them sent to their homes instead of carrying parcels through the streets.

Big Prices Bid For Air Mail Early Stamps

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London.—A unique time-table which deserves bibliographical immortality has just been completed by a conference of experts from twenty European air organizations.

The volume shows the times of departure of machines on every air line and the methods by which one can alternate between airplanes, boats and trains to reach the farthest parts of the earth.

In the truest sense of the word flying has, with the preparation of this remarkable time-table, become international. It talks glibly of London, Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam in the same sequence. Flights from Berlin to Malmo are mentioned with the same casualness as Bradshaw mentions the next train, and the vast operation of 13,000 miles of all-British air lines is reduced to times of a.m. and p.m.

The popularization of air travel and the increase of the air mails has led to a keen demand for air mail stamps, especially those on the early mails carried by pioneer Atlantic fliers like Alcock and Brown, Hawker, Boyd and de Pinedo. Hawker envelopes with stamps now bring over £150, and letters without stamps up to £10 each. When the R-34 returned from America her letters were stamped in London with a special postmark bearing the inscription "R-34." These stamped letters with the postmark now bring over £25 each.

Harry Hawker carried a mail of about 200 letters. The Newfoundland Government over-printed the stamps, and when the letters were later rescued from Hawker's wrecked airplane they became of the greatest value to collectors. Alcock and Brown stamps bring up to £40 with the envelope, and the De Pinedo over-printed air mail stamps about the same. Several countries have made special issues of air mail stamps, and there is a demand that Great Britain should follow suit.

Strong Cast Plays In "East Lynne" Now On Dominion Screen

Ann Harding and Conrad Nagel Will Be Seen in Superb Human Drama

If the Dominion Theatre to-day and Tuesday establishes a new record for attendance it will be because Frank Lloyd's Fox Movietone production of "East Lynne" not only represents the fulfilment of the management's promise, but because the lovely Ann Harding, assisted by Clive Brook, Conrad Nagel, Beryl Mercer, Cecilia Loftus and other notable players, gives the finest portrayal of her meteoric career.

There is absolutely no doubting the fact that Ann Harding in "East Lynne" attains the highest mark reached by any emotional actress, by her characterization of Isabel.

Certainly "East Lynne" of the Movietone era is one of the most gripping entertainments the cinema has presented, primarily because it furnishes entertainment that, while making its strongest appeal to feminine theatregoers, can not help hold, undivided, the attention of every type of movie fan.

Brilliant Comedy Is Showing at Coliseum With Excellent Cast

Leon Errol and Stuart Erwin Play Principal Roles in "Only Saps Work"

No one should miss seeing "Only Saps Work," the show which Manager McGrath has scheduled for the next six days at the Coliseum Theatre.

For this merry mix-up of comical crooks and demon detectives is one of the breeziest, thrillingest comedy-romances since Hector was a kitten.

Imported For Fur, Muskrats Prove Pest in England

London.—The Ministry of Agriculture thinks it wise to direct attention to what is a most undesirable alien, the muskrat.

This animal is all very well in its proper place; that is when it under careful and efficient observation. Unfortunately it resents confinement, and nothing will prevent its roaming. It is a native of North America, where it has assumed real commercial value by reason of its pelt, which eventually comes to adorn our women folk under the more attractive name of musquash fur. An extensive business has been built up in this kind of skin, and specimens of the rats were introduced here a few years ago in the hope of adding a new branch to the British fur-producing industry. This has so far been conducted on modest lines, but some of the animals have made good their escape, and have been found wandering abroad in places as far apart as Lincolnshire, the Solway, and the highlands of Scotland.

Like all others of the rat family, the musk variety is highly adaptable to environment. Naturally aquatic in habit, it does not despise the pleasures of town life. Though large in comparison with its cousins, the brown and black rats, it maintains a certain security on account of its nocturnal life. The presence of even a few of the breed is not to be lightly regarded, as history testifies.

A quarter of a century ago a little band of seven muskrats was liberated in Bohemia; to-day their descendants are spread all over Europe until they are said to number about 100,000,000. To feed such hosts of aliens entails a heavy drain, and when we remember that the depredations of the rat family in this country alone amount to £60,000,000 annually, it is advisable that we should look with caution to an augmentation of this bill by the spread of the musk family. Foxes reared for fur, we can keep in subjection in their breeding quarters, but the rat presents another and more difficult proposition.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that McFarlane & Vancouver Drug Stores says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.
